That Beats Raising Cotton. Why not do it?

J. M. Black, a farmer and nurseryman who lives in Harrison county five miles northeast of Hallville, was in town this week, and was interviewed by a MESSENGER reporter.

The opening shot fired at Mr.
Black was of a political nature, but he showed clearly that he was more interested in what Harrison county would grow than in politics.

"No, my fruit trees are not hurt in the least, and I will have my usual amount of fruit for sale this year."

"How about hogs and corn, Mr.
Black?"

"I raise plenty of both for home consumption."

"And cotton—do you make much cotton?"

"Well, not very much. I did run a gin until it burned, but can't see any money in raising cotton—there are too many things that can be raised in Harrison county that there is more money in."

"What are some of them, Mr.
Black?"

"Nearly any thing you can name.
A man can take a few acres of average Harrison county land, and make more raising onions, peas, potatoes, hay, wheat, oats, rye, barley, millet or sorghum."

"How about ribbon cane syrup?"

"I supposed everybody knew about that."

"No, Mr. Black, there is where so many people make a mistake, in presuming that every body knows about the virtues of Harrison county.
Not over one out of a hundred of our home people know, to say nothing of the rest of the world."

"Well, my business in town to-day is to sell a few barrels of ribbon cane syrup. I planted four acres of ribbon cane, from which I made 968 gallons.
The cost of production is about the same, per acre as cotton, but the returns are four or five times as great.
I have sold all but a few barrels, at 40 cts. a gallon, making $396.80 returns per acre planted. The syrup is first class, and I guarantee it to keep through summer."

"What do you think of this county as a place for poor people?"

"I think if a man will work, he need not be poor many years. Of course he can't get rich, as the term is now used, but he can be free and independent in a very short time, if he will work."

"How can a poor man get a start here?"

"Simply by bringing an honest-looking face with him. He can buy land on a credit, long term payments, and any merchant will advance him.
He can more than make a living and pay for his home in a few years, if he is half a man."

"Mr. Black, I have often asserted that East Texas was 'the garden spot of the earth, and the poor man's paradise'—what do you think of it?"

"I never would have thought of putting it that way, but that is just the size of it."

Our Public Schools.

Editor Messenger:

As you have just been elected Mayor and Ex-officio chairman of our school board, please permit me to call the attention of yourself and board of aldermen to the subject of Public Free Schools, and to throw out a suggestion or two that you may consider them until you take your seat in office.

Our schools have been abused by some in the past, through different motives. Some abused them and refused to patronize them because their favorites as teachers were not elected to positions as principals or teachers, and have tried to throw obstacles in the way to prevent the progress and growth of the public schools. Some others because the methods taught didn't suit them. Some others because the teachers, in trying to benefit the pupils, were a little too strict to suit the ideas of indulgent parents of rebellious children, and so on. I do not deny anyone the right to do as he pleases in this. However, the schools are public free schools, and we are a free people, so long as we don't violate the law. The pupil should stand in the same position, free in thought and act, so long as he doesn't violate the law (school rules.)

But the principal drawback to our schools is the want of patronage by those who above all others, should patronize them—the members of the school board. This has been the case in Marshall for years. The council has had the misfortune to select someone to manage the public schools, who didn't see fit to patronize them.
Now imagine, if you can, the size of a man's "gall" (excess of pride) that will sit on a school board and dictate to me and others, who patronize the schools, who shall teach our children, the course to be pursued, the text books to be used, and all other points that come before a school board to be passed upon by those who are not personally interested. Now my suggestion is this, when the council meets to appoint the members of the board to be appointed this spring, let the qualifications embrace this, that he is a patron of the schools. In unity there is strength. In a common cause where so much is at stake, and much is at stake here, it seems to me patrons of the schools, who are the parents of pupils, would take a much livelier interest than otherwise. If a teacher or an applicant for the position of teacher or principal, has an axe to grind let him submit his grind stone to the patrons and parents, and there will not be so much room for complaint at this, that and the other.
Our schools should be the pride of our city. They should be encouraged in every way possible, by all classes.
They cannot be made a success otherwise.

Private schools are good things when properly conducted, but many of our people are not able to pay a years tuition and have to take advantage of the free school while the term lasts, which unfortunately, is too short, and then they either have to patronize what we call the "pay term" school, send to the private schools, or "turn the children loose" until the public school opens again.
When the "pay term" commences in the fall many of our citizens patronize the private schools first and then when the free school opens send their children to them. This is not fair, either to our public school teachers or to the pupils themselves.

Let us make up our minds to make our schools all they should be next year, and make an united effort to that end and we will find the difference so great and beneficial that we will at Wonderful Gains.

Dr. Miles' Nervine not only cures all nervous diseases, headache, blues, nervous prostration, sleeplessness, neuralgia, St. Vitus dance, fits and hysteria, but also builds up the body. "I am pleased to say that after years of intense suffering with nervous disease, headache and prostration, I tried Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, and in two weeks gained eight pounds in weight. I could not lie down to sleep, but now sleep perfectly easy, and am still improving wonderfully. Cannot say enough for the Nervine. Mrs. L. B.
Millard, Dunkirk, N. Y." "One customer used Nervine and gained fifteen pounds in flesh.—Brown & Mayburg, Cortland, N. Y." Trial bottles and elegant book free at E. J.
Fry's drug store.

A better combination of this class never appeared in our city. Alba Heywood it is not too much to say, is one of the most versatile actors on the American stage to-day, and in his character impersonations he is above rivalry, as well as criticism. The scope too, of his work is extensive and he acts the part of an old maid "Mahitabel Mullett," as naturally as he does that of Carleton's octogenarian, who deplored the new church organ, the part of silly Billy as effectively as that of old Uncle Joe.
One of his most famous impersonations is that of the Chinese washer-man, and his portrayal of this character simply convulsed the house. A taking feature of his performance was his topical song. Mr. Heywood was frequently encored and he was in rapport with the audience from his first appearance on the stage.—The

A Mute Recovers Speech.
Algonce Hemphill, of Summit township, Butler Co., Penn'a, made an affidavit that his twelve-year-old son, who had St. Vitus Dance for twelve years, lost his speech, was completely cured after using three bottles of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, and also recovered his speech. Thousands testify to wonderful cures from using it for nervous diseases, dyspepsia, nervous debility, dullness, confusion of mind, headache, etc. Four doses of this Nervine cured Mrs. W. E. Burns, South
Bedford, Ind., who had been suffering with constant headache for three months. Trial bottle and elegant book free at E. J. Fry's drug store.

Our Schools.

The free term of our public schools ends this evening. All the schools will continue, however, for a term of 6 weeks, and we sincerely hope there will be no falling off in the attendance. We believe that nearly all the patrons feel too deep an interest in the welfare of their children, the schools and their county to allow their children to neglect any opportunity to continue their education.

The expense of the pay term will be nominal, so small will it be, in fact, that the idea that anyone can not afford it is manifestly absurd. Rather should it be put, that no one can afford to forego it.

In the rush and push of these wealth seeking days the value and necessity of education is sometimes underrated. Some have succeeded with but little scholastic training and no knowledge of the dead languages or the many oligothes of a collegiate education, it is true—those people were either what the world calls geniuses, or were so placed that they were able to absorb an education out of the persons and things with which they were surrounded. The great majority of working, thrifty men and women, who are the very life blood of our institutions, are not geniuses, neither are they so fortunately situated that the training necessary for a successful life comes to them as a free gift.

For a parent to withhold at least a common school education from its child, with the many opportunities for obtaining it, with which we are always surrounded, is as criminal, yes, even more criminal, than to main it in infancy and send it into the world a cripple. For without an education it is an intellectual cripple, and much more likely to injure itself and others, than a mere physical cripple. Its power for doing good is limited, and it reduces the mental and moral standard of its age in exactly the proportion of its mental and moral weakness. Not only this, every uneducated man or woman contributes to the ignorance of the unborn generation, and renders our republic less a possibility, and less to be desired.

The foundation of an education must be laid in early youth, if ever. Training can be perfect, only while the mind and character are plastic, "like clay in the hands of the potter."

A day wasted can never be recalled, and the consequences which follow from its loss will live for ages to thwart and retard human progress.

WOOL BILL PASSES

THE HOUSE GIVES IT A VERY HAND-SOME MAJORITY.

Turner Cotton Bargaining Bill Comes Next.—Another Resolution Relative to Silver—Consul Rand Recalled by President Harrison.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—In the house Mr. Cobb of Alabama, from the committee on elections, submitted a minority report on the Noyes-Rockwell contested election case and it was ordered printed. Mr. Wilson of West Virginia then took the floor to close the debate on the free wool bill. Mr. Wilson proceeded to criticize the McKinley law and ridiculed the manner in which it was formulated, and at the conclusion was heartily applauded and received the warm congratulations of his party colleagues.

A vote was then taken on the passage of the bill and the bill passed—yeas 194, nays 60.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—A resolution offered by Mr. Teller was agreed to, calling on the secretary of the treasury for a statement as to the amount offered to the government each month since the passage of the act of July 14, 1890, by whom and what prices, the amount of silver bullion purchased each month, what time, from whom, what prices, and the number of days given sellers in which to deliver the silver.

The senate proceeded to the consideration of the bill making appropriations for expenses of the government of the District of Columbia.

Mr. McMillin offered an amendment to the bill appropriating $75,000 for the reception and entertainment of the next encampment of the G. A. R. in Washington, one-half the amount to be paid from the treasury and the other from the revenues of the District of Columbia, provided that no part of the appropriation shall be available until $60,000 has been raised by popular subscription and expended.

Mr. McMillin offered (for himself) a substitute appropriating $100,000 for the same purpose.

The matter went over without action, after Mr. Hawley had given notice of an amendment placing the expenditure under the control of the secretary of war. During the discussion the bill to place wool on the free list and reduce the duty on woolen goods was received from the house, laid before the senate and referred to the finance committee.

Agreed on the Modus Vivendi.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Mr. Blaine said in response to an inquiry on the subject that an agreement had not yet been finally concluded with the British government in regard to the modus vivendi in Bering sea pending settlement by arbitration of the jurisdictional rights of the United States in those waters. He declined, however, to say anything in regard to the condition of the negotiations on the subject. However, the president's departure, taken in conjunction with the fact he had a long conference with the British minister and one with Blaine, gives more than a semblance of probability to the belief that an agreement has practically been reached and the basis of the agreement has been communicated to Salisbury for action. Active preparations are now being made at the navy and treasury departments to dispatch vessels to Bering sea. The vessels to be used in this service will be the revenue steamers Rush, Bear, Corwin and Albatross and the warships Ranger, Adams and Mohican and possibly either the Charleston, Baltimore or Yorktown, most likely the last named. These arrangements are being made in anticipation of a favorable conclusion of the modus vivendi, which will include active co-operation on the part of the British navy.

Rand Recalled.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—The president has recognized the right of Spain to object to the establishment of a United States consulate at Ponce in the Caroline Islands and accordingly has recalled Rand, recently appointed consul to that place. It is understood that the government will take no further action in the matter.

The President Goes Hunting.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—The president left Washington for New Church, Va., on Chesapeake bay, to do some snipe shooting. He expects to return to the city Saturday evening.

The President's Approval.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—The president has approved the act to change the time of holding courts in the eastern judicial district of Texas.

A Pension Sensation.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—A sensation was sprung unexpectedly in the Raun investigation when Mr. Enloe asked if the secretary of commerce ever sold information of the status of claims to pension attorneys. Enloe had a big bundle of papers and was prepared for just this question. He read letters in which the charge was made that Samuel B. Hersey had through Ragan & Co., of Kenton, O., and H. C. Peel of Columbus, Ind., carried on quite a business of this sort, charging $5 to each claimant for the status. It was then shown that Hersey called up those cases on congressional slips signed by George W. Indiana, one of the prosecutors in the case.

Mother's Choice Rejected.

LINCOLN, Neb., April 8.—The sensational breach of promise trial wherein Florence E. Dole, a pretty young school mistress, sues Thomas A. Stratton, a Lincolnite, for $25,000, was begun in the district court. Stratton is 35 years old. His mother made the match before he had seen his intended. When they met it was a case of love at first sight for her, but Thomas was not enamored. Several very loving letters of the "Baby Building" variety were read in court, and society circles are greatly agitated.

CLEVELAND AND HARRISON

Will Be the Presidential Ticket, Says Senator Sherman.

NEW YORK, April 8.—Senator John Sherman was at the Fifth Avenue Hotel. "It looks now," said Mr. Sherman, "as if the candidates of 1888 would be the candidates for 1892. Harrison and Cleveland again."

"What impression has Senator Hill made in the senate?" Mr. Sherman was asked.

"He has made none, for he has said nothing yet. It is not unusual, however, for a new senator to take little or no part in debate."

"Will the silver question come before the senate again?"

"Yes, it may come at any time. Senator Morgan's resolution is on the calendar. It must take its turn unless it be called up out of order. To do this would require a vote which would be practically a test on the main question and a vote on a motion of this nature would be satisfactory to us. The friends of free coinage, however, will not be satisfied with a vote of that kind, but insist on a vote on the direct question."

"Would a free silver measure pass the senate?"

"The senators do not tell each other how they are going to vote. Many would like to know, for instance, which way Senator Hill will vote."

Kansas for Cleveland.

TOPEKA, Kan., April 8.—With the approach of the date for holding the Democratic state convention, at which will be nominated delegates to the Chicago convention, it becomes apparent that there will be but an insignificant attempt to oppose the selection of a Cleveland delegate. All of the county conventions held up to date have instructed for Cleveland, and the only one in which an effort will be made to oppose the Cleveland sentiment is Shawnee county. Here a hard fight was made for Hill, but apparently with little success.

"Smiles" in Savage Mood.

NEW YORK, April 8.—"Smiles," the big Central park rhinoceros, escaped from his cage and created a panic in the menagerie. He escaped by breaking one of the wooden bars in the rear of his cage with his two long tusks. Before he could be captured he broke into the lion house and set the lions at liberty. Fortunately they did not realize the situation, and were prodded into the inner cage before they had a chance to sniff the air of liberty. "Smiles" deposited his fifty tons or so of avoirdupois half way in the lion's cage and half way out. Keeper Downey called for assistance when he came upon the scene and learned what had happened. Chas. Moran, who looks after the bears, came to Downey's aid with a rope, which was thrown over "Smiles' head. Then with the assistance of a half dozen park policemen they tried to remove the rhinoceros from the lion's cage. He would not budge. As a last resort the free end of the rope was attached to a stationary engine and the steam turned on. "Smiles" gradually consented to be removed, but when he had been taken to the open space in front of his own apartment he suddenly conceived the idea that he was being maltreated. The next moment he made a rush at Keeper Moran and tore away a large piece of flesh from his left leg, together with the seat of his trousers. The animal was slowly pulled and prodded into his enclosure again, and after an hour he was safely secured. Then it took an hour to clear up the debris and repair the lion's cage. Downey said that "Smiles" had been feeling ugly ever since his attack of grip last winter. He was always prying at the bars of his cage and had evidently made up his mind to get even with his keeper for the medical treatment he had been forced to undergo. Keeper Moran is in quite a serious condition.

Election Rioting.

OMAHA, April 8.—At South Omaha the municipal elections caused much rioting and many scenes of violence. So alarming did the situation become that a request for official protection was made of Sheriff Bennett, who responded by sending thirty-five deputies to the scenes of hostilities. Their presence seemed to intensify the feeling and a clash soon occurred between the sheriff's force and Mayor Sloane, who contended that the county official had no business whatever interfering with doings in his bailiwick. Despite the protests of the mayor, the deputy sheriffs prepared to act, and arrested a man who was peddling tickets at the polling places contrary to the provisions of the Australian ballot law. The arrest precipitated trouble, and in an instant the deputy and his prisoner were the center of a madly excited, surging, cursing throng that threatened and even sought to release the prisoner from custody. Friends of both sides were in the crowd, and for several minutes the outlook was indeed serious. Hands were thrust into pockets that contained revolvers, and ready clubs and missiles were on the point of being called into active play. Vigorous action on the part of the deputy, however, got the prisoner out of the way, and the latter was detained in the custody of the sheriff. The sheriff in person, with reinforcements, quelled the riot.

Wronged Husband Murdered.

CHATTANOOGA, April 8.—East Tennessee is greatly excited over the murder at Bristol of N. C. Adams by J. R. Jordan, a prominent business man, a boarder with the Adams family. Jealousy was the motive, as Adams believed that Jordan was going to the room of Mrs. Adams, who had refused to share it with her husband. Jordan is in jail and will be refused bail. Mrs. Adams has been arrested as an accomplice. A fund is being raised to employ help to prosecute Jordan, but the chances are that he will be lynched. The woman in the case is very handsome, highly connected and well educated. Jordan came from Ohio.

Mrs. Wickstaff—I hear that your daughter has just graduated from a young lady's seminary. Has she entirely finished her studies?

For Superintendent of Schools.

I am a candidate for the office of Superintendent of schools of Harrison county and the city of Marshall, subject to the action of the citizens party. I am now engaged in the school room and cannot get out to see my fellow citizens before June. I ask this position on my twenty-two years experience as a school man and ask all who are interested in schools to withhold their judgment and promises until they hear what I have to say on the duties of this important office.

Respectfully, H. T. Littleton.

We are authorized to announce Chesley F. Adams as a candidate for re-election to the office of superintendent of county schools, subject to the action of the Citizens' party.

For County Judge.

We are authorized to announce J. W. Pope as a candidate for County Judge, subject to the action of the Citizens' party.

Pneumonia and Bronchitis Carry off One-Third of the Human Race.

It is generally known that pneumonia and bronchitis carry off one-third of the human race, but such are the facts, and what is more surprising, both of the above diseases result from neglecting a common ordinary cold. A cough should never be neglected. If it is, every time you catch cold you catch harder, and it sticks to you longer. Ballard's Horehound Syrup is the best remedy in the world for pneumonia, bronchitis and all throat and lung troubles. If you have any throat trouble, call for Ballard's Horehound Syrup and take no other. E. J. Fry agent.

Sleep on Left Side.

Many persons are unable to sleep on their left side. The cause has long been a puzzle to physicians. Metropolitan papers speak with great interest of Dr. Franklin Miles, the eminent Indiana specialist in nervous and heart diseases, who has proven that this habit arises from a diseased heart. He has examined and kept on record thousands of cases. His New Heart Cure, a wonderful remedy, is sold at E. J. Fry's drug store. Thousands testify to its value as a cure for heart diseases. Mrs. Chas. Benoy, Loveland, Colo., says its effects on her were marvelous. Elegant book on heart disease free.

Cactus Blood Cure

Not merely a Spring Medicine, but a Cure for all Blood and Skin Diseases every month in the year.

The world, almost in despair at the ravage of these two most horrible diseases, scrofula and specific blood taint, and the many infirmities resulting directly and indirectly therefrom, against which physicians were helpless and nostrums useless, has received the Cactus Blood Cure with astonishment and delight. Never before has there been a remedy discovered which was infallible in all blood diseases.

What one of Chicago's Most Prominent Specialists Says.

CHICAGO, ILL., Dec. 26, 1890.

GENTLEMEN:—I unhesitatingly certify to the efficacy of the Cactus Blood Cure as a remarkable purifier of the blood, quickly and surely eliminating from the system all constitutional or hereditary affections, such as scrofula, catarrhs, or the more dangerous class of blood disorders dependent upon specific poison.

Since its introduction into the profession, about two years ago, I have had most ample opportunity for testing its merits, and consider it to be superior to any known remedy as a cure for the class of diseases mentioned.

Yours truly,

H. M. Williams M. D., 68 Randolph Street.

The Cactus Blood Cure has positively cured numerous cases of Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Itch and Rheumatism in one month's time where all other blood purifiers have failed.

Pleasant to take, applicable to diseases of infancy or old age. All druggists sell it. Price, Large at $2.00 small size $1.00.

PEOPLES' PARTY MEETING.

The St. Louis Platform Adopted.—Two Reporters Object.

A meeting of farmers was held at Odd Fellows' hall at 2 o'clock this afternoon. J. C. Holder called the meeting to order and was elected chairman. R. L. Jennings and J. M. Calloway were nominated for secretary, and Mr. Jennings was elected. The chairman explained the object of the meeting to be to endorse the St. Louis platform of the Confederate Industrial Organization, which was read and submitted to the house. From it we extract the following:

This, the first great labor conference of the United States and the world, representing all divisions of urban and rural organized industry, assembled in national congress. We meet in the midst of a nation brought to the verge of moral, political and material ruin. Corporation dominates the ballot box, the legislatures, the congress, and touches even the cradle of the birth. The newspapers are subsidized or muzzled, public opinion silenced, business prostrated. The urban workmen are denied the right of organization for self protection. The fruits of the toil of millions are boldly stolen to build up colossal fortunes, while the possessors despise the republic and endanger liberty. A vast conspiracy has been organized on the two continents, and is taking possession of the world. It not only met and overthrown at once, it forbodes terrible social convulsions, the destruction of civilization or the establishment of an absolute despotism.

We declare our union and independence. We assert our purpose to support the political organization which represents our principles.

We charge that the controlling influence dominates the old political parties, have allowed the existing dreadful conditions to develop without serious efforts to prevent them. They have agreed together to ignore in the coming campaign every issue but one. They propose to drown the outcries of a plundered people with the uproar of a sham battle over the tariff, so that corporations, national banks, rings, trusts, watered stock, etc., may all be lost sight of. They propose to sacrifice our homes and children upon the altar of mammon, to destroy the hopes of the multitude to secure corruption funds from the great lords of plunder.

We assert that a political organization, representing the political principles herein stated, is necessary to redress the grievances of which we complain.

We demand national currency, safe, sound and flexible, issued by the general government only, as set forth in the sub-treasury plank of the Farmer's Alliance, or some better system. Free and unlimited coinage of silver.

Circulating medium of not less than $50 per capita. Graduated income tax. Postal savings banks by the government.

All lands now held by railroads and other corporations in excess of their actual needs should be reclaimed by the government.

The government should own and operate the railroads in the interest of the people.

The telegraph and telephone should be owned and operated by the government, in the interest of the people.

Before a vote was taken Mr. Bostic rose on a motion from the chair to consider, and made a forty minutes' talk in defense of the platform. His remarks were clear and to the point.

Immediately after he had closed a division was called, and the entire meeting rose, with the exception of the press representatives, and responded in favor of the motion to endorse.

The question was then put, "all not in favor of this motion, make it known by rising and saying no;" and cries of "show your colors," were heard in all parts of the house. Messrs Jennings and Blocker, representatives of the Star and Messenger, then voted against the platform and resolutions. We regret that time forbids our giving Mr. Jennings' remarks in toto.

He said "he could not accept all of the platform, because he was a democrat and believed in democratic principles. That he was for the farmer first, last and all the time, for without his support the newspaper men could not possibly live, but few of them being bloated head boners, and unless the farmer made money he could not support anything."

Mr. Blocker of the Messenger then followed Mr. Jennings. He said: "I am here to report the action of this meeting, and to criticize it. I do not endorse all the principles set forth in the platform and resolutions, though many of them are doubtless good. The policy of the Messenger, which I have the honor to represent, is too well known to require reiteration on my part. It is for the interest of the whole people ever, and not for any one class. It has ever striven and still strives to develop the county, and the farming interest."

Mr. G. A. Godfrey then rose and asked the gentlemen of the press what better had they to propose?

Mr. Blocker replied: "The platform of the grand old democratic party. It is not now the time, just when democracy is stepping into the field with brighter prospects of victory than ever before, for any of those who support its principles to desert its standard."

Mr. Jennings concurred in these sentiments, and related an anecdote applicable to the occasion.

A resolution was then proposed and adopted, inviting press representatives to attend all future meetings of the organization.

The regular business of the meeting, selecting a county and precinct chairmen was taken up.

J. S. Massey was elected county chairman.

The meeting had not adjourned up to the hour of going to press.

The following gentlemen were present at the meeting: C. R. Holder, chairman; R. L. Jennings, secretary; W. G. Jackson, Jack Massey, Luther Matthews, Jas. Holder, G. A. Godfrey, R. J. Finch, J. S. Jackson, J. M. Callaway, S. L. McClaran, G. M. Staute, W. McMatthews, P. Tuttle, R. F. Crowley, J. P. Roberts, W. H. Newton, V. A. McClaran, G. W. McClaran, Sam Bostic, W. Wombly, W. W. Blocker.

Caught.

At Longview Junction last night soon after the arrival of No. 8, a young man asked a man where he could get a cup of coffee. The party interrogated replied, that he and a friend were just going to a place they knew for that purpose, and invited him to join them. After they had proceeded some distance and reached a dark corner, the two accomplices at once proceeded to hold the young man up, one holding him while the other went through his pockets. They succeeded in getting $200, but his cries soon brought officers to the spot and both the thieves were duly taken in.

Dr. Frank Eads has resumed his position at the hospital, and Dr. C. R. Hearshall will leave in a few days for a trip to El Paso, and returning will continue his studies.

Election To-morrow.

The city election comes off to-morrow, but as there is only one ticket out, the vote will be very light. We trust however, that as many will vote as can do so conveniently.

Depredation.

Four or five hungry dogs broke into Geo. Lutz' pig pen out on the Tyler road last night, and killed several of his porkers before anyone could interfere.

The dogs were finally driven off by the negro in charge of the pens.

Cake Cutting.

The wedding cake was out at the residence of Mrs. F. Leve last evening. Owing to the inclement weather, but few were out. Those who braved the showers and defied the weather enjoyed the evening very much.

Love and Psycho.

Youth and young Love once went out together, To see how it fared with life's fair weather; Both were blest with sweet content, And that to each in happiness, much was meant.

'Twas then that Love with Youth a blessing brought, Finding in Psycho a being without a soul, He straightway prayed gods a blessing to unfold; Himself, he thought, with Youth's fair charming manner, To teach her much; and so, with her to wander Thro' fields of pleasure of every fragrant hue, He lead the way, and found the task so pleasant.

He traveled on for days, and still the lesson taught was never through, For 'twas Love set the task you know and the pasture new. Psycho, poor maiden, from fatigue fell asleep, Nor thought for one moment her eyes she must keep.

Open and wide, to watch for Love's darling, For of Love the name, she had had no warning; She, simple and sweet, with never a dream Of the thoughts that he hid, and that change to the flower.

And blossom above, was safe for that hour In trusting herself to a youth who could seem So fair of face, so pleasant and so nice; She slept the sweet sleep of trust in his power, Nor dreamed for one moment he was love in disguise; He, thinking her sweet and a flower to unfold Its beautiful leaves, sat watching her there. He leant over to peep, to see how she breathed, thus it is told— Could never resist the quick touch of her hair Which strayed from her throat and over his arm; He bent and he kissed her red lips, and her eyes, When lo! Love and gay Youth were taken by surprise; Instead of the maiden he was shielding from harm A Butterfly rose, straight up before his eyes, For Psycho had found that his kiss could her change.

From a girl, a sweet flower, with no soul nor sweet dreaming, To a woman, a fair flower, that had burst into singing. The gods had been kind to Youth and to Love, For they granted to man the power to rove At pleasure, and sip the dew from the flower, But he pays in realistics what he spends in an hour.

Admitted the Facts.

Newspaper editors have to be very careful in opening their columns for statements. But aware that Dr. Miles Medical Co. are responsible, we make room for the following testimonial from Dr. McDougall, Auburn, Ind., who for two years noticed a stoppage or skipping of the pulse, his left side got so tender he could not lie on it, his heart fluttered, he was alarmed when to different doctors, found no relief, but one bottle of Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure cured him. The elegant book, "New and Startling Facts," free at E. J. Fry's drug store. It tells all about Heart and Nervous Diseases and many wonderful cures.

Bonds No Good.

In the district court to-day, Judge Graham rendered a decision in the case of Waters Pierce Oil company vs. Marshall Electric Light and Power Co., in favor of the plaintiff.

This was a suit for debt, and to test the validity of the $80,000 in bonds issued by the Electric Light company, on which there is $5000 accrued interest. Judge Graham confirmed the masters report, holding that the bonds are void because they were issued without consideration, and are still in the hands of the original holders.

Our Jefferson Special.

Jefferson, Tex., April 5, 1892.

The Friendly arrived Saturday with a fair freight and left Sunday with 150 bales of cotton. The Rosa Bland came in last night with a good list of freight and left this morning with a small lot of cotton and other freight.

The city council at its meeting last night granted Col. Kruse the right of way over the city for electric light and power purposes. Col. Kruse informed your correspondent that he will put in the electric light plant at once.

In looking over the city we find 7 or 8 new residences under construction, and understand contracts will soon be let for several more.

Messrs Mabry & Co., a Texarkana firm, have moved their stock of groceries here and have opened under the office of the Lone Star Iron Co.

There are several new manufacturing enterprises, backed by northern capital, looking towards our city for a location, which, if located here, will make Jefferson the leading manufacturing city in the state. Jefferson's future is bright indeed, and the bats and owls, habits of darkness and decay, who so long have perched upon our buildings and communed with their fellow moss backs below, are taking their flight as they see the dawn, instinctively realising, what their more obtuse associates have failed to do, that their occupation is gone, and that in the Jefferson of the future push, enterprise and progress is the cry, and not that of darkness, decay and death.

JEFFERSON DOTS.

Died.

Frank Eads, age 10 months, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Fraley, died at their residence in this city at 12 o'clock last night. The child had been suffering from diphtheria for a number of past eight or ten days, and while it can not lessen the grief of the parents, death came more as a relief than suffering than a dreaded.

The funeral was set for Saturday at Greenwood cemetery. The bereaved parents are reminding them that "all things will come to-gather for good," and that it may be for us at all times to realize it.

Foot Ball.

W. E. Lancaster will give one of the best balls in his store to the first eleven organized in this city.

All who feel an interest in the sport are requested to call at the news store at their earliest convenience, for the purpose of organizing and completing all arrangements for a game at an early date.

No one under 14 years of age need apply for admission to the club. The MESSENGER will furnish caps to all members of the eleven.

The Fry Guards.

Our soldier boys were out last evening in uniform. At the armory 42 men men answered to roll call. Their uniforms, guns and accoutrements were in superb condition. Brass buttons are just as attractive to femininity now as they ever were, and all the reserve space in the armory hall was filled last evening with the fair friends of the company.

The company was formed and the roll called by orderly Roquemore and turned over to Lieutenant Colling, who drilled it for a few minutes, when Capt. Hearshall arrived and finished the drill.

The company was then ordered to parade rest, and an order from the captain was read by 2nd Sargent Eator reducing Corporal Atwood to ranks, and promoting private Littlepage to the rank of corporal.

When the company was dismissed dancing began. This amusement was continued until a late hour. 'Rah for the Guards!

Married.

PERDUE-THOMAS—Mrs. M. O. Perdue and Mr. Clarence Perdue were married at 3:15 o'clock last evening at the residence of the bride in this city. The ceremony was performed in the presence of a few relatives and friends.

In Barracks.

A general order has been issued to the Fry Guards from their Captain, ordering the company into barracks on May 1st, for the purpose of perfecting its drill. The Guards will enter the competitive drill at the firemen's picnic.

WAS A GREAT MULE.

THE GRIZZLY BEAR HAD NO CHANCE FOR LIFE IN THE FIGHT

With Pete a Man Could Travel Anywhere and Need No Weapon Whatever—A Sagacious Animal That Could Kick with the Force of a Pile Driver.

I bought a large iron gray pack mule to carry my goods across the Sierra Nevada. I christened him Pete. The day after we started we—Pete and I—came to a nice grassy place. I tethered Pete to a tree, allowing him about twenty feet range, and taking some ham and crackers out of my haversack sat down on a fallen tree to eat them. While I munched the ham and crackers Pete cropped the fresh grass, which grew long and green. Suddenly he reared up and snorted in a manner that very plainly said, "Look out!"

I sprang to my feet, and it was quite well I did so, for it saved me from the embrace of a very large, very hungry and very ferocious grizzly bear, who was standing erect and preparing to throw his paws around me. I rushed for the nearest tree and was up in it in the twinkling of an eye.

I was safe for the time being, but, alas, poor Pete! The bear went about things in a very cool and complacent manner. I could see by the expression of his eyes that he was taking Pete's measure, for he cocked his head over on one side and assumed an appearance of right wisdom, as you have seen critics of a picture.

Pete's behavior, much as I had already learned of that remarkable animal, surprised me. When I was safe I alarm disappeared altogether. He dropped his head and began to nibble the grass again. He went on with his grazing just as if there were no such thing as a grizzly bear in the world. He would nip off the succulent green stems and chew with great steadiness and regularity, and occasionally I could hear his contented snort as he struck an unusually delicate bunch of grass.

PETE KEPT ON GRAZING.

The bear was as much astonished as I was. Evidently he considered such conduct without a parallel, for he looked harder than ever at Pete, then scratched his head and tried to think out an answer to the problem. But Pete calmly went on with his grazing and looked neither to the right nor to the left, while I sat in my tree and held my breath.

By and by the bear arose, made a grand circuit around the tree in order to watch Pete from every angle and point. Getting no satisfaction out of that mode of procedure he came over to my tree and looked up at me for an answer. But I had none to give him.

Between the bear and me we began to think that Pete had lost his mind. Perhaps fright at the appearance of the bear had so bereft him of reason that he continued to eat grass through the mere force of habit.

Soon the grizzly's appetite overcame his curiosity and he prepared for work. He seemed to me to make a critical examination of his destroying apparatus. He stretched his front paws and slapped the muscles of each with the other. Evidently he was satisfied that he was in good trim, for he showed his great teeth with joy. He appeared satisfied that he was fit to demolish a whole drove of mules.

These things done, the bear gave the signal for action. He opened his mouth and emitted a series of growls which made my flesh creep and my hair rise under my hat.

PETE STOPPED FOR A MINUTE.

Pete went on grazing. His countenance expressed no proof that he had heard the growling of the grizzly. The latter dropped on all fours, with his hungry mouth open and his great teeth disclosed. Still Pete made no sign that he either saw or heard, but confined his attention strictly to the business of finding dinner. The bear, also having the latter in view, rapidly approached until he was in striking distance, and then, rearing up, prepared to disembowel Pete and break his neck with one blow.

Down came the outstretched paws, and at that moment Pete seemed to become aware for the first time of the presence of the grizzly. He sprang forward, the paws struck only the air and then I saw a gray form double itself into a ball and bound upward. Out of that ball flew two legs, which shot back and forth with the rapidity of piston rods, going thump, thump upon the body of the grizzly. Up and down went the body and back and forth went the two pile drivers. The bear was struck all over, on his head, on his shoulder, on his side, on his paws. He fell in one direction and then in another. He was kicked into the air and pounded into the earth. The breath was driven out of him and life followed, and at length his lay upon the ground a shapeless mass, every bone in his body broken, while Pete had quietly returned to his interrupted grazing without a hair injured.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

FROM WASHINGTON.

THE WOOL BILL REPORTED TO THE HOUSE.

Now Let the Vote Proceed.—Mr. Wolcott Addresses the Senate on the Subject of the Wool-Morgan Resolutions Go Over Without Action.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—After the transaction of some miscellaneous business Mr. McMillin moved that the house go into committee of the whole on the wool bill, and pending that moved that all debate on the first section be limited to one hour and a quarter. After some good-natured discussion three-quarters of an hour were given each side and the house went into committee of the whole, Mr. Blount of Georgia in the chair, the pending amendment being that offered by Mr. Burrows, striking from the first section the word "wools."

Mr. Otis of Kansas moved to strike out the first section.

Mr. Alexander of North Carolina spoke in favor of the proposed amendment imposing a duty of 30 per cent on imported wools, which was rejected.

The vote recurring on Mr. Otis' motion to strike out the first section it was lost. The second section was then read and a discussion ensued as to the effect upon the price of wool and woolen goods by the protective tariff. After a long debate the committee rose and reported the bill to the house and the house without action adjourned.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—After preliminary morning business Mr. Morgan called up his silver resolution offered yesterday and yielded to Mr. Wolcott, who proceeded immediately to address the senate on the subject of silver, beginning with the blunt statement that the silver bill had been put to sleep, and the senate might as well face the truth on the silver question. Mr. Wolcott soon launched out in an attack on the administration. He admitted that the silver men had suffered defeat in both houses, charged it had been accomplished by the administration, the first great force which had left no stone unturned in its efforts to defeat the silver bill.

Mr. Morgan formally offered an amendment to his resolution which he presented yesterday, and then the resolutions went over without action, retaining their place on the calendar.

The Indian appropriation bill was then taken up, the question being on Mr. Dawes' motion to strike out the provision for assignment—rejected—and so the provision remains in the bill. Some minor amendments were also agreed to. Adjourned.

To Revamp Old Evidence.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—In the pension office investigation a motion by Mr. Enloe to put in evidence the testimony taken in last year's investigation in reference to the refrigerating company and in reference to George E. Lemons' endorsement of Commissioner Raum's paper and the insurance of the completed files ordered after a long discussion by a majority vote was agreed to.

Reid's Successor.

NEW YORK, April 7.—A Washington correspondent speculating upon White-law Reid's successor, states among those mentioned is Joseph Medill, editor of the Chicago Tribune. Medill is now in California. A rumor has been in circulation that Representative Hitt of Illinois will be appointed minister to France to succeed Reid. Hitt says there is no truth in the rumor.

Sunday Closing Discussed.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—The question of the Sunday opening of the World's fair was the subject of a hearing by the house committee on the World's Columbian exposition. A number of persons representing religious bodies and societies were heard.

To Investigate the Pinkertons.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—The house adopted a resolution requesting the committee on judiciary to report back the resolution providing for an investigation of the Pinkerton detective agency.

Shot His Son-in-Law.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., April 7.—Trainmen of the Jefferson City and Lebanon branch brought in scant particulars of a Domestic tragedy that occurred near Brumley, in Miller county. John Leets and his wife separated, the wife going to the home of her father, near by, and taking the only child with her. Subsequently Leets concluded to take possession of the child, and to this end repaired to the house of his father-in-law armed with a pistol. The old man was at home, and he and Leets soon became involved in trouble in front of the house. Leets drew his pistol and fired several shots at his father-in-law, but without effect. The latter ran into the house, secured a shotgun and shot Leets dead in his tracks. This is all the information that could be obtained. The scene of the tragedy is fifteen miles from a railroad or telegraph office.

Saved from Drowning.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., April 7.—The west span of the Clarissa street bridge across the Genesee river in this city fell, precipitating six persons into the river which is now at flood height—five men, one woman. The work of rescue was accomplished with remarkable promptness, the poor unfortunate clinging to pieces of boards. They had reached a point in the river opposite Adams street before they were taken out. The woman was a Mrs. Quigley.

Family Burned to Death.

FORT MADISON, Ia., April 7.—Seven people lost their lives in a fire which broke out in Steere, McIntosh & Peace's. The building was consumed and the family living upstairs, seven in all, were burned to death. An explosion of gunpowder prevented their escape. The sight after the catastrophe was a horrible one.

RHODE ISLAND REPUBLICAN.

It Is by a Scratch, If That Is Any Consolation to Democrats.

PROVIDENCE, April 7.—The Democratic and Republican vote thus far is as follows: Brown, Republican, 18,250; Wardwell, Democrat, 16,048. The Prohibition vote will probably be sufficient to defeat an election by the people. The legislature is undoubtedly Republican. The city vote to this hour, with one district to hear from, is: Brown, 9180; Burton, People's party, 93; Gilbert, prohibition, 388; Wardwell, 10,038. No election.

1 a. m.—Brown 28,187; Burton 170; Gilbert 1411; Wardwell 22,072. Total vote 48,846, the largest vote ever cast in Rhode Island.

Decreased Democratic Majorities.

MILWAUKEE, April 7.—The elections throughout Wisconsin were watched with great interest by Republicans as it was the first election of consequence since the Democrats under the leadership of Governor Peck wrested the state from the Republicans. In Milwaukee Mayor Sowers (Democrat) was chosen by 3200 plurality; balance of the Democratic ticket, with the exception of the candidate for the municipal court clerkship, pulled through with majorities running from 3300 to 1200; Frank Willer, Republican, for municipal court clerk, was elected by 1245 majority. Two years ago the average Democratic majority in the city and county was 6800. Now it is 1400. In the state party lines were not, closely drawn, and the vote seems to be as usual at spring elections.

Democrats Completely Victorious.

CHICAGO, April 7.—The Democrats were completely victorious in the local election. In Cicero the proposal to annex a portion of that town to Chicago was defeated by a majority of 889. In the city the same proposition carried by a majority of 12,800. But annexation will not be made as the scheme did not carry in both places.

Bayard and Cleveland.

WILMINGTON, Del., April 7.—A close personal friend of Mr. Bayard states that the ex-secretary of state will make a speech putting Cleveland in nomination and work early and late for the success of his candidate. Mr. Bayard believes Cleveland will not only receive the nomination, but will be elected, in which event he expects to be appointed to the court of St. James.

Boyd Firmly Established.

OMAHA, April 7.—A special to the Bee from Lincoln says: The state supreme court refused to grant ex-Gov. Thayer's petition for a rehearing of the celebrated gubernatorial case of Boyd vs. Thayer. This settled the matter for all time and Governor Boyd's official position is now firmly established.

Brutal Mr. Bray.

KINGSTON, N. Y., April 7.—Miss Eliza Wager, daughter of a prosperous farmer in High Falls, Ulster county, is suing Washington Irving Bray, principal of the high school at Montrose, Westchester county, for $25,000 damages for breach of promise to marry.

In her complaint she says that she met Mr. Bray about two years ago when he came to High Falls to take the place of principal of the school there. He had just been graduated from Amherst college. They became engaged. Several months later he accepted an offer to go to Montrose at an increased salary. After he had been there six months Miss Wager received a letter from him which was a great shock to her. Mr. Bray stated that he had concluded that a farmer's daughter would not make a suitable wife for him, and that when he selected a wife she must be a woman of rare culture, high social position, and one accustomed to the upper circles of society. Such a woman would tend to advance his fortune, whereas, if he married a country maiden like Miss Wager, with little besides beauty, she would be a hindrance to his advancement all his life.

Miss Wager sent an indignant reply. She told him that if he had stated that he had concluded he was mistaken in the character of his feelings for her she could have released him, painful as it would have been, without uttering a word, but the motives he had expressed for breaking the engagement were so selfish, and his language so brutal, that she could not let it pass unnoticed.

Principal Bray made an effort through his lawyers to settle the matter pecuniarily, but the proposition was rejected and the suit was begun.

A Circus Girl's Catch.

NEW YORK, April 7.—Mattie Cevalt, one of the pretty girls who rode nightly in a chariot in the Barnum Bailey parade at Madison square garden, and afterwards in Columbia's stage ship, has disappeared, leaving a letter to James A. Bailey in which she informs him that she has "got something better."

She adds that "it is not an elopement," as she has "been engaged to him a whole year," that he is a year older than she, having reached the mature age of 19, but that his folks are British swells and objected to his marrying the daughter of a clown and a tight-rope dancer, while papa and mamma Cevalt objected, too. His parents sent him to forget her to Montreal school, and fate brought her to New York as a ballet girl. Then he "dropped over to New York" and has fastened his eyes on her angelic form through opera glasses every night for a week at the big garden. The couple started for Canada a few days ago, and the 200 other girls in tulle skirt suits "with elevated noses," that "Mattie has run away with that dude."

Hon. W. R. Salisbury Dead.

WILMINGTON, Del., April 7.—Hon. Willard R. Salisbury, chancellor of the state of Delaware since '74, and United States senator from '80 to '71, is dead at his residence at Dover of apoplexy.

He Had His Coat Repaired.

He was one of the army who are living and seeing life in New York on an attenuated income, and one cold morning he awoke to the realization that the overcoat would be a necessary part of his garb for that day. He looked at it. "Was unrepresentable. He thrust his hands deep into his pockets. They were empty. Two direful facts, neither of them surprises, faced him, but he was not annoyed. He proceeded cheerily to a small tailor's shop and presented the overcoat for repairs.

"It will cost you a dollar," said Shears. "The price is no obstacle, proceed," replied the customer. Shears turned the coat over to a subordinate and sat down for a chat with the heaven-sent customer, for Shears was a Spaniard. And yet he was sufficiently Americanized to produce a deck of cards and propose a little game of poker. The heaven-sent assented. Vest buttons made admirable chips, and the cards flew for some minutes, until the coat was repaired. Then the customer paid his bill in vest buttons, and received from Shears fifty cents for the remaining buttons he had won. Then, equipped for the inclement weather, he went forth conscious of the rift in the clouds, and bought for himself a luxurious fifty cent breakfast.—New York Times.

Railroad News.

Challenge Accepted.
To Jno. S. Wilson, Capt. T. & P. Fire Company B. B. Nine.

Sir: I hereby accept your challenge as given in the MESSENGER of yesterday, and will play you at any time, or place, that you may designate.

Very Respectfully,
H. N. BURFORD,
Capt. Machine Shop B. B. Club.

Three trains containing 37 cars, and carrying 2180 people went through, to New Orleans last night for the reunion.

Mr. Jeff N. Miller, was interviewed this morning by a MESSENGER reporter. He said in substance, "We are not beginning any special improvements on the road just now nor can I say when any will be begun."

No. 4. was 3 hours and 50 minutes late this morning, and Nos. 51 and 3 were each 25 minutes late.

Help the Firemen.

The citizens of Marshall will have an opportunity Saturday night to show their appreciation of the firemen, and at the same time spend a pleasant evening, by attending the Alva Heywood entertainment, that is guaranteed to give entire satisfaction, or the money will be refunded at the door.

Pneumonia and Bronchitis Carry off One-Third of the Human Race.

It is generally known that pneumonia and bronchitis carry off one-third of the human race, but such are the facts, and what is more surprising, both of the above diseases result from neglecting a common or ordinary cold. A cough should never be neglected. If it is, every time you catch cold you cough harder, and it sticks to you longer. Ballard's Horehound Syrup is the best remedy in the world for pneumonia, bronchitis and all throat and lung troubles. If you have any throat trouble, call for Ballard's Horehound Syrup and take no other. E. J. Fry agent.

Church Notice.

Rev. R. W. Lewis, State Supt. of Sunday schools for the Synod of Texas, of the Cumberland Presbyterian church, will begin a Sunday School Institute in the Cumberland Presbyterian church on Sunday morning, the 10th inst. Mr. Lewis will preach Sunday morning and evening. He will also lecture to children in the afternoon of Sunday. The institute will continue for several evenings next week. The public are cordially invited. It is expected to continue the meeting after the institute is over for several days and evenings. To all of these meetings we invite all who are interested in doing good, or in securing good. W. B. FARR, pastor.

Happy Hoosier.

Wm. Timmons, Postmaster of Idaville, Ind., writes: "Electric Bitters has done more for me than all other medicines combined, for that bad feeling arising from kidney and liver troubles." John Leslie, farmer and stockman of same place, says: "Find Electric Bitters to be the best Kidney and Liver medicine, made me feel like a new man." J. W. Gardner, hardware merchant, same town, says: "Electric Bitters is just the thing for a man who is all run down and don't care whether he lives or dies; he found new strength, good appetite and felt just like he had a new lease on life. Only 50c. a bottle, at E. J. Fry's drug store."

Blocker.

Blocker, Texas, April 5, 1892.

On account of the protracted rains our farmers are tardy with their work. Those who planted corn before the freeze will have to replant.

The most popular amusement of the day in fishing on Caddo lake.

Mr. A. B. Blocker has just returned from there with a fine lot of peaches, the reward of his industry. When A. B. goes he always "fetches 'em."

The young ladies from Marshall, who have been visiting at Blocker, have returned, except Miss Vic McAllister. She will spend another week in our neighborhood.

There has been no racket in town since the ladies left.

Mr. Knighton Dubose passed through here with his young bride a few days since, en route to Buzzard Island where he will locate.

Mr. Willie Baldwin of Ferns has been visiting relatives at Blocker.

John Rogers, of Jonesville, was in town Saturday.

Prof. O. Ferrell will open school at Central Academy on April 6th.

Messrs Edwin Webster and Perry Heard (two of our boys) went to the lake this afternoon. We wish them success.

Mr. Geo. Heard returned from Jefferson to-day.

One of our firms failed in an attempt to commit suicide a few days since, and is quite satisfied with having lost only a part of one finger.

"April fool's day has past," snakes are no longer in danger. Doog.

La Grippe Again.

During the epidemic of La Grippe last season Dr. King's New Discovery proved to be the best remedy. Reports from the many who used it confirm this statement. They were not only quickly relieved, but the disease left no bad after result. We ask you to give this remedy a trial and we guarantee that you will be equal in La Grippe, or any throat, chest or lung troubles. Trial bottle free at E. J. Fry's drug store. Large bottles, 50c. and $1.00.

EDITOR MESSENGER:

The elements have turned loose. We have had so much rain, that our farmers are sitting back on their dignity waiting for a glimpse of the sun.

Capt. J. W. Rodgers is in New Orleans buying his spring and summer stock.

Mrs. F. W. Harris, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Armstrong, left for Marshall Tuesday night.

John Rodgers is in San Antonio.

Will Hinton, of local fame, is still in it.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Britt have returned home.

J. M. Estes made a flying trip to Shreveport Wednesday.

E. Kahn, the cotton king, was in the famous ville Thursday.

J. B. Bell left for Marshall Wednesday.

Robt. S. Estes goes south every Sunday with Abdala in front. Go it Bob, we have all been there.

There will be two or three fishing parties to the lake next week, so Jno. Turner informs us.

All of Jonesville extend congratulations to Hon. W. A. Adair, the new mayor.

The MESSENGER correspondent has been staying indoors nearly all the week, which accounts for so little news this week. Will do better next time.

From Hallville.

Hallville, Texas, April 6, 1892.

No doubt the war of the elements saddens the hearts of the farmers, and with cause; but let us turn the picture and take an optimistic view of the circumstances. Perhaps these copious rains and the untimely snow are more than ordinarily fertilizing, and will supply the soil with just the property needed to produce an abundant harvest. "So much the better."

Last Sunday evening at 8 o'clock at the residence of Mr. D. Sanders, Miss Maude Thorp, his step-daughter, was quietly married to Mr. Murray. Mr. Nat Green performed the ceremony. Only a few intimate friends of the family were present. The bride is quite youthful, while the groom is middle age; but "what matters years. If the heart is still young." Their friends wish them a happy and successful voyage o'er life's tempestuous sea.

The Christian Club will give their first entertainment Friday night, the 15th inst, at the school house. Don't forget "The Old District School." For 25 cts, you receive 50 cts worth of fun and good feeling, and the satisfaction of knowing you've lent a helping hand to a good cause.

Miss Alma Hatley, who is teaching at Woodlawn, spent Saturday and Sunday at home.

Mrs. Shuford returned to-day from Marshall.

Mr. Pete Roquemore came up on No. 1 Sunday.

Mr. Will Lynch was on a visit to his parents near Hallville Sunday.

Services at the M. E. church last Sunday, and Rev. G. B. Hines is said to have preached a good, helpful sermon.

STATE OF TEXAS; COUNTY OF HARRISON,

Marshall, Texas, March 28, 1892.

Know all men by these presents that a certain contract made and entered into by and betwixt of the first part and Andrew L. Henderson of said county and state party of the second part, whereby the said Andrew L. Henderson, was to take charge of and manage for the term of three years from date of said contract, all of the cattle belonging to the said Rainey, at or near his farm 8 miles North of Marshall branded diamond nine and marked with an under bit and an upper bit and a crop off each ear, except 10 head reserved by the said Rainey for use on his farm. Be it known that the above mentioned contract is this day cancelled and annulled forever, by mutual consent and Mrs. M. J. Rainey surviving wife of the said S. D. Rainey, Sr., is the sole owner, and has the entire management and control of said cattle.

Mr. T. J. Mosely and family visited Rosborough Springs Sunday.

Miss Katie Mosely is spending a week with her aunt, Mrs. Hensley at Rosborough Springs.

A few nights ago Mr. M. was partly awakened by a noise which he supposed to be in his room. He had an idea that a cat had effected an entrance into his room and was at that moment resting himself in a rocking chair. The room was dark and Mr. M. could not get a match without having to pass by the bewitched cat. This he had no idea of doing, so he called to his son to come and drive the cat out. All this time Mr. M. had remained in the bed with the cover over his head. What do you suppose the noise proved to be? Only two chickens under the house. Mr. M. don'ts lady frightened in the least. Then why did he keep the lamp burning for the remainder of the night? Perhaps it had a quieting influence on his nerves, or maybe he could see to sleep better.

TEXAS LEGISLATURE.

House.

AUSTIN, April 5.—The alien land law bill was taken up.

Gerald read a petition from McLennan county citizens asking that the alien land law be not passed.

Cannell's amendment striking out the 640 acres limitation was lost by a vote of 54 to 34.

Brown's amendment to grant the alien equal privileges with citizens when they shall have declared their intention of becoming citizens was adopted.

Final action on the bill will be taken at once.

Senate.

AUSTIN, April 5.—Mr. Searcy offered a resolution to the effect that it is the sense of the senate and legislature that the people of Texas are sufficiently intelligent to elect their commissioners. Adopted by a vote of 16 to 6.

Several senators refused to vote on what they termed a campaign measure. The senatorial apportionment bill was passed.

The congressional apportionment bill was passed.

The governor sent in his appointments for the senate confirmation and asked that should the senate consider that they could not confirm on account of more than ten days having elapsed to consider them reappointed.

Female Stage Robbers.

SALMON CREEK, Ida., April 5.—An important arrest of one woman and six girls has been made here on a charge of stage robbery. Numerous holdups of the stage have been made near Harvey's ranch lately. Suspicion was directed to old man Harvey and family and the sheriff set about to trap them. The sheriff with ten men waited in hiding near the place where the robbery usually took place and when the stage arrived there in a short time afterward six bandits stepped out in the road and stopped it, leveling their guns at the driver. The sheriff here came forward and took in the whole gang, which proved to be composed of Harvey's six daughters, who had assumed male attire.

Hard Man to Hang.

JACKSON, Miss., April 5.—Governor Stone has issued a requisition on the governor of Tennessee for the return of L. E. Ford, who has been captured at Chattanooga. Ford was an Illinois Central railroad conductor, who killed City Marshal Clay at McComb last fall with a Winchester. He was tried for murder and sentenced to be hanged about Dec. 1, but his friends dug a hole under the Pike county jail and released him. A reward of $500 goes to Sheriff Bryant of Georgia, who ran him down. It is feared more trouble will occur when he is returned, as all the hands in the big railroad shops at McComb are his friends and ready to help him.

Mess Hall Management Bad.

CHICAGO, April 5.—Investigations of the mess hall at Fort Sheridan, Colonel Heyle, inspector of the general department of Missouri, has begun under orders from General Miles, and devoted the greater part of the day to hearing complaints from men. When he had patiently listened for two hours to the same story from each of forty men of the had and insufficient food he became convinced that there must be something wrong with the mess hall management.

BOURKE DEFENDED.

THE WAR DEPARTMENT GIVES HIM A GOOD SEND-OFF.

The Morgan Resolutions Did Not Have Much Effect on the Senate—The House Passes the Chinese Exclusion Bill—Free Wool Still On.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—In response to the newspaper clippings filed with the war department by Mr. Crain in regard to the charges against Captain Bourke, that he was guilty of outrages on Texas citizens when in pursuit of Garza, the war department writes Mr. Crain as follows:

WAR DEPARTMENT, Washington, April 5.—Sir: I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 9th ultimo, inclosing one from T. L. Sumnerlin of San Antonio, with newspaper clippings relative to the conduct of United States officers and troops in pursuit of Garza and asking an investigation into the matter. It appears from the report of the commanding general of the department of Texas, to whom the papers were referred, that the complainants mentioned in newspaper articles are not American citizens but acknowledged citizens of Mexico; that they formed essential parts of the Garza revolution. It appears also that on the very occasion upon which they make affidavits of violence toward them on the part of Captain Bourke, one of the officers complained of that Garza was trailed from their vicinity and narrowly escaped capture by the troops in pursuit of him. General Stanley remarks that the complainants are now under bonds to appear before the United States court to answer charges made against them for aiding and abetting the revolutionary troubles on the border and it is his opinion that the court is in the proper place to bring out all the facts in the case. In this opinion the major general of the army concurs, remarking that after all the facts in the case are brought out it will be seen whether the conduct of any officer of the army has been such as to require military action. Yours very respectfully,

L. F. GRANT,
Assistant Secretary of war.

In the superior court the case of the Red River cattle company et al., plaintiff in error, vs. Alfred Schully was affirmed, with costs and interest. In the same court the case of Eugene Logan et al. vs. the United States was reversed and remanded. Both of these cases were from the district court for the Northern district of Texas. In the latter case the court held that the lower court erred in admitting the declarations of admissions of one of the conspirators against his co-conspirators after the object of the conspirators had been accomplished and the conspirators had deposed. The case grew out of the attempt to mob the Marlow brothers, near Grangerham.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—The expectation of an interesting discussion of the silver question, based upon Mr. Morgan's resolution instructing the committee or finance to examine and report upon several phases of the subject, seemed to have no particularly attractive power upon the general public, for the galleries had less than the usual number of spectators when the session of the day began. There was a fair attendance of senators, but Mr. Morgan's seat was unoccupied.

The famous McArraham claim had made its regular reappearance in the senate in the shape of a bill reported by Mr. Toller from the committee to submit to the court of claims the title of McArraham to the grant of land so long claimed by him. It was placed on the calendar.

The vice president having laid before the senate Mr. Morgan's silver resolution that senator expressed his willingness to let them go over until tomorrow so as not to stand in the way of the Indian appropriation bill, on condition, however, that he should be allowed to call them up tomorrow and to address the senate.

Mr. Sherman remarked that under the rules of the senate the senator might call up his resolution and then discuss it, but that when the discussion was interrupted at 2 o'clock the resolution would have to go on the calendar and could then only be taken up on motion. That was the rule and if the senator from Alabama asked that by unanimous consent the resolution could stand in the way of other morning business for seeing if any senator desired to speak on the prolific topic of silver, he had respectfully to object.

Mr. Morgan—I most respectfully object to your taking me off the floor so as to get your bill before the senate. [A bill which Mr. Sherman had asked to have taken from the calendar and acted on for a uniform standard of classification and grading of wheat, corn, barley and rye.]

Mr. Sherman—The bill which I asked the senate to take up is one to which there is no objection.

Mr. Stewart—I object to your cutting off the discussion on the silver question.

Mr. Dawes—I do not desire to stand in the way of the universal courtesy of the senate, therefore if the gentleman from Alabama desires to go on with the discussion of his resolution, I will not interpose the Indian appropriation bill.

Mr. Morgan thereupon took the floor and addressed the senate, but yielded to Mr. Wolcott, who gave notice that he would address the senate on the silver question on Wednesday and to Mr. Gallinger, who gave notice that he would address the senate briefly on Monday next on the joint resolution for a commission to select a site for the establishment of a national sanitarium for primary diseases.

House.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—The house has passed the Chinese exclusion bill by a vote of, yeas—170; nays—42.

The house went into a committee of the whole on the free wool bill. It was agreed unanimously that Mr. Springer, who has been so seriously ill, should have all the time he desired to close the debate. Entering the hall, Mr. Springer ascended to the speaker's chair and was warmly greeted by Chairman Blount, the house bursting into great applause. Conducted by Mr. Bryan of Nebraska, he stood, his hand behind a mass of flowers which kind friends had placed upon his desk, and Mr. Bryan proceeded to read the speech of the distinguished chairman of the ways and means committee.

Justice Lamar's Condition Unfavorable.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—The condition of Justice Lamar gives his friends much uneasiness. In fact there is little prospect of his ever being seen on the bench again. His health has been wretched for more than a year, and it now seems that a complication of kidney and lung troubles makes the chances of his recovery exceedingly slender. He has been an extremely hard worker. His experience before his elevation to the bench was not of the kind that made his new work easy, and his ambition to hold his own in the work before the court led him to extremely hard work, which has told greatly on him, probably with fatal results.

FESTIVE GALER.

He Tried to Go 'All the Galts at His Friend's House.

NEW YORK, April 5.—A prepossessing woman giving the name of Mary Finn appeared in the Lee avenue police court in Brooklyn and made a serious charge against James Galer of the firm of Galer Bros. Miss Finn is housekeeper for Mrs. D. S. Yoeman. She is 30 years of age and considered a handsome woman. Mr. Galer is a friend of Mrs. Yoeman. In her complaint Miss Finn said that Galer called at Mrs. Yoeman's during that lady's absence. When he had learned that Mrs. Yoeman was not at home, Gale, Miss Finn averred, began to take liberties with her. He caught hold of her and attempted to kiss her. This occurred in the basement where both were at the time. Miss Finn struggled to get away from his gray-haired tormentor, but the more she struggled the more persistent he became. He held her until he succeeded in kissing her. He did not stop at one kiss, however, according to her statement, but held her arms while he implanted a dozen oscillations on her face. He did this, Miss Finn declared, against her will. When he had accomplished this he placed his arms about her waist and squeezed her tightly. She did not like that, either, and not only told him so, but struggled to get away from him. His subsequent actions were of such a nature, she went on, that she became alarmed and screamed at the top of her voice. Her screams brought Mrs. Yoeman's niece down stairs. The niece had been in the upper part of the house and had no idea as to what was going on downstairs until she heard the housekeeper scream. When the niece reached the basement—so she told the justice when it came her turn—Galer was about to leap out of the door. He seemed much agitated, she said, and admitted to her that he had been a bit rude with Miss Finn. He attempted to excuse his conduct, so the niece said, by saying he had forgotten himself. She thought he had. So did Mrs. Yoeman when she came home and heard what had occurred. Three women said they had always considered Galer a perfect gentleman. He is 42 years old and married. He was held for examination on a charge of assault on April 8. His brother Ebenezer went his bail.

Killed Her Husband.

BEILTON, Tex., April 5.—News was received here of a horrible tragedy committed near Killeen. The facts as reported are that Z. E. Pickering and his wife Ella, had not been living happily together for some time and had separated more than once last fall. She brought suit for divorce, but the case was continued at the last term of court. A short time since they made up and lived together again. They had one child, which is small. Mrs. Pickering, still asleep in bed, procured a heavy piece of iron and struck him on the head with it. In all, she hit him eleven times and beat his head almost to jelly. It is supposed he never woke up. She was arrested shortly after the killing and had an examining trial at Killeen. She was refused bail and was brought here and jailed. She is about 25 years old and rather good looking. She does not deny killing her husband, but not yet stated her reasons for it. The first time in the history of the country where a man was killed by his wife.

There will be a state convention of prohibitionists held in Waco on Tuesday, April 28th.

The Greenville Banner says: "It is said that Mayor Fulton, of Galveston, is running for governor."

In his message Gov. Hogg states plainly that there is more common sense in diversifying crops and planting less cotton than charging the low prices of cotton to the state administration.

W. A. Adair, of the Marshall Messenger, has been elected in the primaries of that city as mayor, but we hope that he will not get too high tinned in consequence, to associate with the press gang.—Greenville Banner.

Never, brother, never! The council has agreed to let us off for the press meetings, and we hope to be there with usual regularity.

"Turn Fort Worth loose" by patronizing her newspapers. There is no wisdom in starving the watch dogs.—Fort Worth Mail.

The Messenger has no complaint to make, but the above is such good advice we could not help reproducing it. There are a great many business men in Marshall who could improve their business and help their town by advertising.

Houston Gets the Convention.

The Democratic State Executive Committee met yesterday in Dallas at 8 p. m., in the Windsor hotel. Houston was selected as the place where the convention will be held on the first ballot, the vote standing: Houston 14, Galveston 10, Austin 2.

When the members of the house of the state legislature voted down the resolution inviting Hill to Texas, it raised itself in the estimation of the people even more than they know. The action shows that they, as the people's representatives, do not propose to become the tool of any politician or clique of politicians. Tammany is getting into unfriendly ground when it invades Texas.—Fort Worth Mail.

The New York Press club has set a good example, in the case of the reporter who lost his life investigating the typhoid fever hospital—instead of erecting a monument to his memory, the club has paid off the mortgage on his home. The Chicago Times, alluding to the circumstance, says:

"If common sense were as infectious as typhus there might be fewer ungainly monuments in the country, but there would not be nearly so many starving widows of famous men."

Hogg and the Commission.

AUSTIN, Tex., April 1st, 1892.
It is claimed by those who want the present commission law amended that it is too severe in its provisions, and clothes the commission with the power to confiscate and wreck the roads. That is the argument of Judge Clark, who, in his Weatherford speech, characterized the law as a "monstrosity." The law, they say, is too severe, and will not work satisfactorily. How do they know it won't give satisfaction? The law has been in operation, and that only in part, about six months or less, and has had no time to demonstrate its virtue or its failings; not, at least, to the extent of warranting any such positive conclusions as its enemies have arrived at. It is not yet fully on trial, only a portion of its power being applied to the regulation of the roads and the establishment of freight rates. The commission has proceeded with great caution in putting the law into effect, and has fixed freight rates on only a few of the leading commodities, such as grain of all kinds, flour, meal, etc., cotton and cotton seed, lumber, coal, salt, lime, plaster and cement, brick and sand. It is now about to issue a schedule of freight rates on live stock.

When the commission organized, the first thing it did was to issue a circular requiring the roads to make no change in existing rates, neither to raise or lower them, without its authority. This order took from the roads the power to increase rates on certain lines of freight in order to meet the commission's reductions in other lines. Whatever changes in rates have been since made by the roads were by special permission of the commission, at the request of a particular road or roads, and have been in every instance reductions. The commission has not fixed, as yet, any schedule of rates on general merchandise, which comprehends a great number and variety of articles—about 4,000—but is now, and has been for some time, busy in the preparation of that particular classification and tariff, which will be issued as an entirety probably in the course of a month or two. The preparation of such a schedule, comprehending so many articles of merchandise, calls for a great deal of work and corresponding care, and can not, of course, be dashed off in a day or a week, like a commodity tariff on grain, salt or coal.

Kidnapped?

The Times heard on Tuesday evening last of the rumored kidnapping case at Marshall, Tex., but as there was nothing definite to be learned regarding it, very properly and justly refrained from publishing idle rumors that possibly might forever blot the reputation of an honorable man or cast an immovable shadow on the life of an innocent and helpless girl. In cases of this kind the Times cannot afford to jump at conclusions, and publish insinuations or idle rumors, probably set afloat by vagrant tongues in the mouths of evil-disposed persons who, apparently, do not realize that their wicked and vicious chatter may destroy that which is dearer than even life itself to man and woman—character.

When the Times publishes items involving the honor of men, and the chastity of women it must be able to give time, place, circumstances—not rumors and insinuations. And, even with all the particulars at hand, it would deliberate long and seriously before giving them that publicity which would forever destroy the good names of the parties vitally interested. It is often a serious question whether communities are not more injured than benefited by holding up to public view sensational details disgusting to refined natures, but oftentimes poisonous to those weaker minds which feed upon them.—Shreveport Times.

The MESSENGER spent fully two hours in collecting data in this case, and succeeded in obtaining every fact known in this city concerning it. These were withheld from publication for exactly the reason given by the Times, and in discussing the matter on the streets we expressed almost identically the same opinion regarding its publication that the Times here gives, and it is indeed gratifying to note such a concurrence with our sentiments on the part of a paper of the Times' known standing.

There are sections of the Commission law and especially section 6, about which the loud complaints are being heard. And these are the very sections without which the law would be a mere farce, a hollow mockery. A commission that has not power to make rates and compel the execution of its orders is nothing but an ornamental and useless piece of furniture. It should have power to say what shall be the duty of the roads. If they object, let them go into court and prove that they are not getting justice. That is precisely what the Texas law does. The courts are wide open to the railroads to make complaint whenever the commission mistreats them. They have their remedy at law, and able lawyers to defend them, which the people had not under the old system, when every shipper was left to fight his own battles in the courts with the railroads. The commission now stands between the people and the roads, and taking the burden of proof from the former, shifts it to the roads, which must carry on the struggle for justice with the State instead of with every helpless individual whom they may choose to oppress.

Please Stick to Facts.

It has ever been the policy of the MESSENGER to avoid needless controversies, and this policy has been misconstrued by some. When it has been necessary the MESSENGER has always maintained its principles, and its editor will continue to do so both in and out of his columns.

The Star of to-day has this paragraph: "The editor of the Messenger endorsed the action of W. C. Connor, of Dallas, who, after his name had been placed before the democratic convention of Dallas, and a warm friend had pledged his right arm that Connor would abide the result of the convention, bolted said nomination, ran as an independent, and was elected. Wonder what the editor of the Messenger thinks of bolting now, since he is the nominee?"

The editor of the MESSENGER thinks that the above is without foundation or fact; and desires to say that he did not endorse the action of Mr. Connor in bolting.

Interest in the Dallas election was so great in Marshall that we went up on election day expressly to report same, and did so, sending three reports to our paper during the day. We reported facts—not one man's views or the utterances of hired politicians—we made no comment in these reports.

So much was said and published concerning the election that was wide of the truth, that two or three weeks later, we had an editorial on "The Dallas Election." In this article we said:

"We shall not attempt to justify Mr. Connor in running against the Democratic nominee, but will report what we saw and heard."

The article then gave the facts and showed that the nomination of Geo. Cole was a mistake, and that a majority of every class of people in Dallas voted for Connor. We maintained the same position on the streets, and may have given "Connor's reasons" for running, but never once endorsed his action.

Will the Star please publish our denial, since it has sent out to the world that we endorsed a bolter.

There She Goes Again.

Every time she opens her mouth about the MESSENGER she puts her foot in it.

The Star to-day jumps on our city editor for editorial comment in the MESSENGER. True the "make-up" of the MESSENGER is such that the line between "local" and "editorial" is not very clearly drawn, but it is exactly the same as the Star, and the editor of that paper, it seems, ought to know the difference between editorial comment and local news.

In regard to our comment being "evidently a slap at the Star," will say the Star was not taken into consideration in the matter—the comment was in exact line with the policy pursued by the MESSENGER during the past seven years, and was an advertisement of that policy. When the MESSENGER slaps at the Star or anything else, it will use names, and not deal in insinuations.

Now for the facts. The city editor gathered all the information attainable in this case, even at the great risk and heinous offence of arousing Mr. Fraley from his slumbers, (and of trying to arouse Mr. Powell) and laid them on our desk. We had also investigated the matter a little, and putting everything together, consigned the result of some hours work to the waste basket for the reasons given.

In conversations with Messrs. R. W. Thompson, Jr., Oscar Johnson, H. Lewis, J. J. Johnson (that we can now recall), we expressed identically the views published in the Shreveport Times and when that article came under our observation it was with real pleasure that we noted the concurrence with our views, and quite naturally reproduced it, and dictated the comment to which the Star takes exception.

In reference to what our city editor said to Mr. Fraley, and that gentleman's rebuke to him these are the facts:

Mr. Blocker called at Mr. Fraley's house. That gentleman stuck his head out of the door, and Mr. Blocker apologized for disturbing him, and told him what he knew, and Mr. B. left. That night, in the drug store, Mr. Fraley asked Mr. Blocker why he had not published the item, and "waking him up to get it," Mr. B. replied: "For the reason the facts show one of two things—the girl is either an innocent school girl, or a—"

If the first, the MESSENGER would not blast her reputation and bring shame to her family; if the second, the MESSENGER does not care to send such stuff into the families of its subscribers."—or words to that effect.

This is the whole matter, and "a discriminating public" may "be the judge" of the consistency or inconsistency of the MESSENGER. This may also be an additional slap at the Star, but it is not—it is simply a reiteration of our policy—a policy which we are proud to own.

Chit Chat from Dixie Vixen.

Latex and Longwood, April 1st, 1892.

When April's tender cheeks first glow, With the warm kisses of the sun, His fond caress she fain would shun, Yet with a maiden's winking wiles, Looks upward through her tears and smiles.

"Oh, these blowy days," a nice little fellow exclaimed the other day, and I agree with him in regard to the "blowy" part. We will be glad indeed to bid the fierce winds of reckless March goodbye for the gentle zephyrs of April. But if we believe, as the fable tells us, we'll have another ten days of the blowy weather that April borrowed to kill the old woman's cow. Though I've often asked who the old woman was, I've never yet been quite satisfied on the subject.

Fables always make my thoughts go back to that time in my life when fairies and "Brownies" had a great attraction for me, and I trust you'll not think me childish if I say I'm just a wee bit partial to them in my maturer years.

The Playmate tells us about the recent meeting of Pearl Rivers, the mother of the Popcorn People, Nut Folks, etc., and Mr. Palmer Cox, the father of those "quaint little goggle-eyed people," the "Brownies." Pearl Rivers sent Mr. Cox some Indian baskets woven in her home forest, and that brought Mr. Cox to her door. The story goes that he staid all day, making Brownies for his sister poet's little boys, and getting acquainted with the Flower Folk and Pobble People, whose faces, however, have not as yet appeared in print. Presumably when this lady and gentleman come in each other's ways again, their ambassadors will be on the one side a "Dude Brownie," and on the other "Don Almond, a cavalier from Spain."

So many people are under the impression that all literary women are impractical, but, though perhaps I'm not competent, my ideas are far different.

Men as a general rule, condemn the "blue bottle" woman, but its as Mrs. Frank Leslie says, they condemn what they, with their clumsy masculine perceptibilities fail to understand.

A woman naturally longs for a voice beyond the walls of her own home, though when gained she need not neglect the duties of that home, nor should she devote more time to the work that she has given herself, than that which God has given her.

Woman in her own way, with the use of her brains has accomplished wonderful things. In truth, we have had no woman Shakespeare, nor ever so great a novelist as Thackeray or Eugene Sue, but haven't there been books written by women that have accomplished as much good as those written by our most brilliant men? Look what Harriet Beecher Stowe accomplished for the negro, in the writing of "Uncle Tom's Cabin." By means of her pen Francis Hodgson Burnet defrayed her husband's college expenses while he was studying to become an oculist. But as regards the home, where will you find such noted wives and mothers as Marian Harland, Mary Mapes Dodge and Kate Upton Clark were said to have been. Marian Harland's serious are always model wives. Remember in "True as Steel's" "Queenie," for instance, can there be a better character.

"Thy spirit, Independence, let me share, Lord of the lion heart, and eagle eye, Thy steps I follow with my bosom bare, Nor heed the storms that howl across the sky."

Mrs. Mary Steel Blocker, of Blocker and Misses Vic McAllister and Fannie Blocker, of Marshall, and also Mr. Allice Blocker are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Capt. Blocker. The young ladies attended the play of the club in the evening, after which they returned home happy, and very much elated with the pleasures of the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom H. Hearne are visiting Mr. F. M. Hearne, Sr.

Mr. M. L. Puckett is going to be a batcbealer at the Harris place and wants his lady friends to donate a hen and chickens to start him in the poultry business. Messrs. Harris and Winston will have a good rep

Later: Mrs. Tom Hearne wishes me to tell Mr. Puckett, that she will send him a nice young drake, one about ten years old.

Mr. J. W. Hearne took Misses Mary and Fannie Blocker rabbit-hunting during the snow and succeeded in making spoils of twenty-four bunnies. Quite a good "lay out" for amateur rabbit-hunters.

Miss Mooring, of Terrell, is here visiting relatives.

Messrs. Walker and Ashley Elliott were in town yesterday.

Farmers are behind with their farming on account of the bad weather, though some have pretty good stands of corn. Not many of the farmers are planting cotton and those that are, very moderately.

Cottolene

All pastry and pie crust made with Cottolene is warranted anti-dyspeptic, and may safely be eaten by the most delicate persons.

4 REASONS

1st. Cottolene is the purest of all cooking fats, and recommended by all experienced cooks and bakers.

2d. Cottolene is the healthiest of all cooking fats, and recommended by all eminent physicians.

3d. Cottolene costs no more per pound than lard, and much less than butter, and is better than either for all cooking.

4th. One pound of Cottolene is equal in shortening to two pounds of lard or butter, so half the money is saved.

What is Scrofula

It is that impurity in the blood, which, accumulating in the glands of the neck, produces unsightly lumps or swellings; which causes painful running sores on the eyes, legs, or feet; which develops ulcers in the eyes, ears, or nose, often causing blindness or deafness; which is the origin of pimples, cancerous growths, or many other manifestations usually ascribed to "humors." It is a more formidable enemy than consumption or cancer alone. For Scrofula combines the worst possible features of both. Being the most ancient, it is the most general of all diseases or affections, for very few persons are entirely free from it.

How can it be cured? By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by the cures it has accomplished, proven itself to be a potent and peculiar medicine for this disease. For sections of the blood Hood's Sarsaparilla is unequalled, and some of the cures it has effected are really wonderful. If you suffer from scrofula in any of its various forms, be sure to give Hood's Sarsaparilla a trial.

THE NEW ADMINISTRATION

Hold a Caucus and Map out Policy.

Nothing "Secret" About it.

As agreed by the newly elected city council, a caucus was held in the firemen's hall last night, for the purpose of conferring together and deciding, if possible, upon a line of policy to be pursued during the coming municipal year. The mayor was invited to be present, and was there, though late arriving.

Mr. Dempsey was elected chairman, with privilege of the floor. The first business of the caucus was to agree that they would restore the street tax to what it had formerly been—$3.00 or five days work.

Decided, that the marshal and one policeman having once taken care of the city, that the marshal and two policemen could do it now.

Moved by Hopkins that the positions of water commissioner and street commissioner be consolidated, and one man perform the duties of both at a salary of $100.

Carter moved to lay on the table, but to get a vote on the motion with drew his motion to table, and there was a tie on Hopkins' motion. The mayor having no vote in the caucus, the question remained unsettled.

Carter moved that water commissioner be required to collect the street tax and that his salary be put at $50.00. Dempsey offered an amendment putting salary at $40.00, but received no second. Carter's motion carried 5 to 1.

Motion that street commissioner be also required to see to the care of the city mules, if the city decided to build a stable, and that he be paid $50 a month. Dempsey offered an amendment placing the salary at $40, but received no second. Motion carried 5 to 1.

Agreed that the city would not employ city attorneys at present, and that when the services of an attorney were needed the mayor should consult with some of the aldermen, and if agreeable employ counsel.

Motion by Carter to reduce the salary of water works engineer to $80. Van Hook objected, saying the position was one of responsibility, and there would be no economy in cutting in this department. Dempsey concurred with Van Hook, and Carter withdrew the motion.

Van Hook proposed to drop the engineer and fireman of the fire engine, and said that Mr. Herndon had said he would still take care of the engine and run it when necessary; that city build a stable back of engine house, large enough to shelter the four mules, and if possible buy two horses to be used exclusively by the fire department, and that a man be hired to stay there and feed and attend to all city stock, and drive the hose cart. Agreed.

Carter suggested that as the time of all appointed officers and employees of the city expired upon the inauguration of the new administration, it would be well to come to some understanding as to how the various places would be filled, and that if the council was going to allow the mayor to exercise his constitutional right to nominate all appointive officers, it might be well to give him notice, that he could be prepared.

Van Hook said this had never been done here, and he believed in letting every applicant put his petition before the council.

The Mayor elect stated that he neither quoted responsibility nor would he shirk it; that he had the right to fill all appointive offices, to be approved or disapproved by the council, but if the council desired to follow the heretofore custom, and make these appointments, he had no objections, but wanted it understood that the mayor had that authority if he saw proper to exercise it.

Answers and Corrections.

From the Stars long article we deem it "meat" and proper to notice the following:

Adair did not desire the responsibility, but continued to talk in a way to make the caucus think it would be proper thing to do to confer this patronage and power on him.—Star.

Adair told the council in plain English that he had these rights though was willing to concede them to the council. No motion or action was taken.

"Carter wanted men appointed who would agree with the men over them. Did not want a water commissioner who was not agreeable to the mayor. [Heaps the mayor has to do with this official. But, Maj. McAllister dared run for mayor.]—Star.

The mayor has so much to do with this official that he will see that whoever he appoints and the council confirms, will do his duty or resign. The reference to Maj. McAllister is an injustice to that gentleman, and the insinuation without foundation.

Archbell said something about why elect chief if he has no power over police. Others seemed to think he had said something very witty, or tried to make him think so, as they laughed heartily.—Star.

Mr. Archbell said the chief should be the head of the police department—just what the Star has always advocated. The something "witty," he said, which the Star reporter could not catch, as Mr. A. sat furthest from the stairs; was that the policemen could come on duty when they pleased, and that if the chief should ask one what time he came on he would probably receive the answer that "it is none of your business."

There was nothing witty in the remark, but it was so nearly the truth that it provoked a laugh.

In reference to the misconduct of policemen: Adair—Yes the mayor should investigate and discipline them promptly. [On what meat doth this, our Caesar feed, that he hath grown so great?]

Star.

Adair said, "Gentlemen, the council will not be called together very often for that purpose. If there is any misconduct on the part of a policeman, the mayor will investigate the matter promptly, and if the circumstances justify, will suspend him until the council meets, when they can confirm that action or re-instate the policeman"—this was the substance of what the mayor elect said upon this subject.

On what meat doth this, our Caesar feed, that he hath grown so great?—Star.

Upon what meat? Why upon the meat of 897 votes—an even hundred more than any other man received—think ye not, my Lord, that this is good and wholesome meat?

The Star and The Administration.

The Star of to-day attempts to give a report of what it terms "a secret session," of the next city administration, but gets things very much mixed, and only gives about half that was done. The correct proceedings of this meeting will be seen elsewhere in this issue.

The meeting was not secret—it was private, but not secret—and had the Star reporter desired to, he could have come on up stairs and gotten the proceedings in full and correct, instead of catching a word and a sentence here and there.

One member thought that the qualifications of the various applicants for places would be discussed, and said the same ought to be kept secret. Three others said: "All I say may be backed on the court house," and that was the sentiment of the meeting. The name of no applicant for position was called during the caucus, it being a meeting to discuss measures and not men.

We repeat that the meeting was not secret, that it was discussed and distinctly understood that the proceedings should be made known, so that applicants for the various positions would know what would be expected of them, and what salaries would be paid; otherwise, men might be appointed to positions which they would not accept under the changes contemplated.

The "Star's report" is really a criticism, and a very unjust one. It was not expected by the mayor elect, or by the people, that the actions of the incoming administration would suit the editor of the Star. That was not what the people elected for.

It is the privilege and the duty of every newspaper to criticize the official actions of public servants, but it is not its privilege to impugn their motives, and if the Star desires to do this we trust it will give names and specifications, and not vague and indefinite insinuations.

As a starter, will the Star please inform the poor, ignorant "sober sided citizens," of all the "tricks and jugglery that have gone on with their chosen representatives."

If there is a ring and that ring is not working for the good of Marshall, will the Star expose that ring. The man who can report (?) a "secret" meeting, and who "has and dares express an opinion," ought not to find this a hard job.

If the Star knows of, or can learn, on authority, that the "new council," or the mayor elect, has had any agreement, or any idea of rewarding any friends or punishing any enemies, will it please give names.

If the Star now knows or can hereafter learn, of any act, official or private, of the mayor elect, that he had no right to commit, will it please inform the poor blind public, that they may see what a great mistake they made in their selection of Mayor.

Railroad News.

Current Happenings on and About the Railroad, and IN AND AROUND THE SHOPS.

A MESSENGER reporter interviewed to-day the oldest, and perhaps the most interesting man in the T. & P. shops. He is a pattern-maker, and has been in the employ of the T. & P. at the shops in this city for three years. His name is Chas. Green. Mr. Green was born at Gt. Falls, New Hampshire, Oct. 20th, 1820. He first worked in a factory in that town when a small boy, and has been handling tools and machinery ever since. He remembers quite well when planing machines, matching machines, friction matches, steel pens, and countless other modern necessities were undreamed of; but says he is good for a good long time yet.

Passenger coaches 829 and 898 leave the paint shop this evening, after receiving a thorough renovating and a coat of paint. They look as good as new.

J. S. Wilson returned yesterday from Little Rock.

A new man has gone to work in the boiler shop.

The truck shop force is short three men to-day.

Capt. Grant and party inspected the shops while in the city this morning.

Jim Godbold is sick.

Ed Terry is sick.

Joe Maguire is sick.

B. E. Mosier, Road Master, came in on No. 1.

Ben Flaxman was laid off yesterday.

Chas. Miller resigned his position in the shops yesterday, and leaves soon for Mexico.

Dan Belford, of the boiler making department quit yesterday.

Ed Terry, who has been laying off for some time on account of a sore finger, went to work to-day.

Jas. McNamara resumed work this morning.

Painful Accident.

This morning while Mr. W. G. Mason and his son were engaged in erecting a platform, a long-bladed knife fell from quite a height and striking Mr. Mason, Sr., just above the knee entered and inflicted a very painful though not a dangerous wound.

The injured man was taken to the hospital. He fainted on the way, but when last heard from was doing well.

A Challenge.

To the captain of the Boiler Shop B. B. Nine, the captain of the Machine Shop Nine, or the captain of the Counter Hoppers Nine:

The undersigned, captain of the T. & P. Fire Company B. B. Nine, does hereby challenge each and all of you to play a match game of ball with the above club on the day of the firemen's picnic. If all accept, I will play one in the morning, and two in the evening.

Yours respectfully,

JNO. S. WILSON,

Capt. T. & P. Fire Co. Nine No. 1.

Engine No. 181 will leave the back shop this evening, after a thorough overhauling.

Engine No. 181, which was derailed and thrown into a gravel pit on the T. C. division, goes in the shops to-day for repairs. The engine is almost a complete wreck.

Engine No. 36 has just received an overhauling in the round house and a coat of paint. She looks as good as new in her new dress. She will be put on the cannon ball at once.

The shop boys have a bad case of of base ball fever. They play all dinner hour.

From Tuesday's Daily.

The ladies of Marshall and vicinity are urgently requested to be present at the meeting of officers and committees of the Columbian club, at Y. M. C. A. hall, Wednesday afternoon, 4 o'clock, March 6th.

The Picnic.

We Must and Will Have It.

A committee of firemen are now canvassing the city for cash subscriptions for the annual picnic. We trust that every citizen of this town is fully aware of the amount of good which results from these picnics to the city and to every body in it. We will, therefore, not dwell upon this point, but will limit ourselves to saying in this connection, that the picnic dates, metaphorically, from the year one, and we have, only under the most adverse circumstances, failed to have it at the usual time. These facts alone are a sufficient reason for the continuance of the custom, for had it not proven an advantage one, it would long since have been discontinued.

A concert will be given at the opera house, Saturday evening, April 9th, by the Alba Heywood company for the benefit of the fire department, the proceeds to be used for defraying the expenses of the picnic.

The Alba Heywood company in their contract specify, that in the event of their failing to give entire satisfaction, they will not receive a cent of the receipts from the sale of tickets, but the entire amount will be turned over to the fire department. Thus, no one, who ever goes in to a theatre, has any valid excuse for not going to the Alba Heywood performance.

A committee of firemen will meet on Tuesday following the concert, and if a sufficient amount of funds then be on hand and subscribed preparations for the picnic will at once begin.

The fire companies save Marshall thousands of dollars annually in premiums on insurance policies, they have earned their holiday, and our people should see that they have it.

It is the duty of every one, who is interested in the welfare of the city, to contribute something.

A. Q. CLARK DEAD.

Mr. A. Q. Clark died at his residence on South Grove street at 9:35 this morning, after three months' almost constant confinement to his bed with kidney trouble. He was conscious up to the last moment, though his suffering was intense. At no time during his illness did he show any fear of death, yet he knew that it was slowly approaching.

Alexander Quay Clark was born at Catrine, Ayrshire, Scotland, on March 20th, 1817. Was married in Newberry, S. C., on April 10, 1840, to Miss A. E. Lyons. They moved to Texas in 1850, and have resided in Marshall ever since. Mr. Clark leaves a loving devoted wife and three sons to mourn his loss. She who for forty-three years has been his constant companion in sickness and in health, sat by his side throughout the long hours of the night, holding and caressing his hand, and was at her post when the great summons came.

Mr. Clark was a good man, an excellent citizen. For several years after the war he had charge of the county and district clerk's office being deputy for Mr. E. Blackwell, who resided in the country. He was also honored with the custody of the city's money, as treasurer, four years, and until the duties of that office were imposed upon the secretary. He was more than three score years and ten, and died in the full enjoyment of the respect and confidence of all who knew him. He will be buried at Greenwood cemetery at 2 o'clock to-morrow afternoon, by the Masons and Odd Fellows, of which orders he was a member. Funeral services at the Presbyterian church.

A TEXAS CYCLONE

IT LITERALLY TEARS UP THE EARTH IN SOME PLACES.

Its Path Was Over One Hundred Feet Wide—It Was Funnel-Shaped and Looked Just Like a Picture of a Water-Spout—Houses Demolished.

St. Jo., April 5.—A bounding cyclone passed two miles east of this place. The country through which it passed was an open prairie and but little damage was done so far as heard. J. M. Browder had a dwelling completely destroyed. Its path was not over 100 feet wide. It passed due north and it is thought that great damage has been done the thickly settled country between here and Red river. It could be plainly seen from town and many people witnessed the sight. It was funnel-shaped and looked just like the picture of water spout. The very rocks were plowed up in its course.

Houses Wrecked and Inmates Injured. GAINESVILLE, April 5.—A terrible tornado passed over this city from southwest to northeast. It broke loose and in three minutes a path 75 yards wide across the southeast part of the city was strewn with debris of demolished houses and furniture. About a dozen houses were demolished, while scores of others were badly damaged.

Mrs. Pat Lanius was injured by flying timbers. Her home was literally leveled to the earth.

Jim Rose's house was also wrecked. In it were his wife and three children, none of whom escaped without serious injuries. A 10-year old son had his collar bone broken in two places, besides receiving internal injuries, from which he is now lying very ill.

A heavy timber struck Jim Flanagan's house, going through both walls without injuring any one.

The fair grounds were badly wrecked, the grand stand and the stalls being almost torn to pieces by the wind.

The path of the storm in this city is about two miles long and seventy-five yards wide. Menger reports from the country indicate damage equally as great as in the city. The extent of the damage cannot now be estimated, but it will exceed $10,000 in this city.

Five Houses and Iron Bridge.

WHITESBORO, April 5.—A terrible wind storm passed over this city doing considerable damage. The force of the storm was most felt four miles north of here. The immense iron bridge over Mineral stream was blown from its foundation and five houses were totally destroyed, injuring several persons, but none of them seriously.

Dwelling, Barn and Granaries.

BELLEVUE, April 5.—A storm from the south west struck this town and destroyed a great deal property.

H. T. Griffin's house was blown away—nothing left to tell where the house stood save the foundation.

The section house of the Fort Worth and Denver railway was badly injured. The whole front is gone.

Mr. Stedman's house was lifted from the foundation.

L. R. Terrell's house was lifted and carried about five feet.

The barns of Dr. Ball and J. W. Wiley were blown down.

The houses of J. J. Walker, Mr. Banknight, Mrs. Welch and Mrs. Murphy were taken off their foundations.

Henry Griffin had his shoulder hurt quite badly. He was the only one hurt. The child and bed of Jack Walker were blown about fifty yards, the child remaining on the bed. Two other children fell on the bed, but did not hurt a child.

After the storm it rained and looked like the stones were half as large as hen eggs. The ground was almost covered.

W. T. Wilson, who lives two and a half miles southwest of here, says his barn and granary are total wrecks. The timbers are scattered over the prairie.

Residence Blown Down.

SHERMAN, April 5.—Reports have reached the city of a very severe wind storm which swept over the northwestern part of the county, barely missing Whitesboro.

On Mineral creek a residence was blown down and the entire family injured more or less,

MINISTER PAT EGAN.

HE HAS LEAVE OF ABSENCE TO VISIT UNITED STATES.

An Amendment to Morgan's Resolutions—Republicans of the House Resort to Filling in on Free Wool Bill—Velasco Terminal Railroad.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—It is said at the state department Minister Egan has been granted a leave of absence to visit the United States, and Consul McCreery will act as United States charge d'affaires until the minister returns.

Vote on the Wool Bill.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—The Democratic members of the ways and means committee held a conference and discussed methods by which a vote might be reached on the wool bill, but came to no conclusion.

Mr. Miller's Committee.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—Senator Miller was appointed on the committee on coast defenses, mines and mining, patents and postoffices and post roads, to fill the vacancy created by the retirement of Mr. Chilton, his predecessor.

Justice Lamar Improves.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—The improvement in Justice Lamar's condition continues.

Silver in the Senate.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—The silver senators have determined to express their views upon the subject of silver open senate and there appears to be no way to stop them. A resolution was offered by Mr. Morgan as an amendment to the set of resolutions placed on the calendar. While not introduced by Mr. Morgan with the intention of causing further debate, according to his own statement, it may still serve for at least one day as a basis for any move the silver men desire to make in the senate. It would simply be necessary to call up this or any other resolution introduced the day before and proceed to discuss it.

Mr. Wolcott, through Mr. Teller, has given notice of an intention to speak upon the silver question tomorrow. Heretofore in the history of the senate such notice has always been regarded as equivalent in effect to an actual order of the senate, and the body has such respect for the president it would be with great reluctance any senator will interpose objection if Mr. Wolcott attempts to speak. The indications are that the senate will allow the silver senators to express their views in the form of speeches, but will immediately negative a motion to call up any of the propositions on the calendar that would lead to a vote upon the silver question on its merits.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—Mr. Morgan offered an amendment to his silver resolutions which was ordered printed. It instructs the finance committee to report a bill supplementary to the act of July 14, 1890, which shall provide for the coinage of gold and silver bullion on equal terms as to each metal and for the issue of treasury notes in denomination not to exceed $500 (upon the same terms and conditions as in the act of 1890) upon all gold and silver bullion the United States may acquire by purchase and any depositor who shall deposit in the treasury gold or silver bullion in quantities not less than $100 in value, the product of mines in the United States which had been previously coined, he shall, at his option, receive coin certificates for the same at the mint value of such bullion.

The Indian appropriation bill was then taken up, the question being on Mr. Dawes' motion to strike out the provision for assignment of army officers to the duties of Indian agents, with an amendment attached to it (offered by Mr. Hawley) that whenever the president is of the opinion the good of the service specially requires it, he may appoint a civilian.

Mr. Pettigrew moved to strike out the original provision and Mr. Hawley's amendment and insert in lieu thereof the following: The president is authorized to detail officers of the United States army to act as Indian agents at all agencies where he shall deem such action for the benefit of the service.

Mr. Palmer argued against the policy of the house provision.

Mr. Dolph moved the house bill to prohibit the coming of Chinese into the United States be laid before the senate and referred to the committee on foreign relations. So referred.

The discussion of the question as to the assignment of army officers to perform the duties of Indian agents was resumed and Mr. Cullom argued against the proposition. Before he concluded his address the senate adjourned.

House.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—The Republicans of the house, for the first time this session, resorted to filibustering, and the enormous Democratic majority of two-thirds found it impossible to overcome the skillful tactics of Messrs. Burrows and Payne and force the free wool bill to a vote.

After preliminary business Mr. McMillin moved the house go into committee of the whole on the free wool bill, and pending that moved all debate on the first section be limited to one hour. This met with opposition from the Republicans, and as a result a regime of filibustering was inaugurated. The Republicans refrained from voting both on division and by tellers, thereby breaking a quorum and compelling the Democrats to order the yeas and nays. After long time spent in filibustering, Mr. McMillin recognizing the fact that further resistance was useless, moved an adjournment, which carried.

The house passed the senate bill authorizing the Velasco Terminal railroad company to construct a bridge across the Brazos river in Texas; also the senate bill making Velasco a sub-port of entry.

Reclassifying Postal Clerks.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—The bill was favorably reported by Senator McMillin from the postoffice and post roads committee, reclassifying railway postal clerks and adding two more classes at salaries not exceeding $1800 and $1800 a year, besides increasing the maximum salaries of all other classes except the first by about $100 a year.

Held in Washington.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—Whitelaw Reid, United States minister to France, called on President Harrison and presented a draft of the extradition treaty concluded in France.

Mr. Reid's resignation will not take effect until his successor shall have been nominated and confirmed.

House.

AUSTIN, April 6.—The location of the courts was the first business.

A resolution introduced by Rogan of Brown, which provides for the appointment of a committee of seven to consider the locations offered by the different cities with regard to mortgages, length of time building are given, etc.

Mr. Crawford spoke in favor of resolution.

Mr. Swayne spoke in opposition, claiming it to be a slap in the face of Fort Worth.

The resolution carried, the vote standing 52 to 41.

The committee appointed by the speaker are: Rogan of Brown, Lewis, Adkins, Riddle, Brown, Agnew and Browning of Lampasas.

This is regarded as a favorable indication for Dallas.

Mr. Jester's bill putting into effect the 1 per cent. school fund amendment was called up. It was violently opposed by Gough and Dawson. Passed to third reading.

Mr. Robinson introduced a bill apportioning permanent school fund in the several counties of the state and providing for investment of same.

Senate.

AUSTIN, April 6.—The senate spent the morning in considering Kearby's local option bill. It was amended and passed to engrossment. The senate went into executive session to consider the governor's appointments.

Governor's Appointments.

AUSTIN, April 6.—The senate in executive session confirmed the appointments of all of the names submitted by the governor with the exception of Hollingsworth and Dr. Barker, the superintendent of the San Antonio asylum. Action will be taken on these names as soon as the senate can hear more about them. A hard fight was made on Sam Dixon.

Killed by Explosion of Gun Cotton.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 6.—Nine men were killed by an explosion of five tons of gun cotton in the Smokeless powder factory. After the explosion the building in which the gun cotton had been stored was nowhere to be seen. It had been blown into splinters. Nine workmen were in the building when the explosion took place, and every one of them were blown to pieces. Search was made for remnants of their bodies and some of their limbs were found 250 yards away from the building. The gun cotton was stored in a separate building and it may be attributed to that fact that the loss of life was not much greater. Adjoining factories were greatly damaged and five workmen in them were injured. Houses a mile and a quarter away from the scene were made to shake by the shock. Windows were shattered and crockery and glassware thrown to the floor and smashed. The loss from these causes will be quite heavy. There is no possible way of ascertaining how the explosion occurred, as every man in the gun cotton building is dead. It is thought however, that it was due to carelessness.

Partnership Dissolved.

NEW YORK, April 6.—Frank P. Slavin and Charley Mitchell are no longer partners. They have split up and hereafter each pugilist will travel on his own hook. The Australian decided to quit Mitchell before they sailed from this country last month, for he realized that his association with England's boxing champion was not benefiting him to an alarming extent from a financial standpoint. The following cablegram shows the Antipodean has decided that Mitchell shall not have a hand in his training:

LONDON, April 5.—To Sporting Editor World: Send Jack to train for me for Jackson match. Have broken off with Mitchell. Reply if he is able to come. [Signed] SLAVIN.

The man mentioned in above telegram refers to Slavin's brother, who, in all probability will sail for England tomorrow. Jack Slavin is one of three fighting brothers of that name and is said to be an excellent trainer.

More Bad Weather.

BLUE SPRINGS, Neb., April 6.—In addition to general dismay caused by the windstorm a heavy rain and hail visited this section flooding the whole country. A bridge on the Union Pacific railroad at Mud creek, between here and Homerville, was washed out and trains cannot pass. Farm work is entirely suspended.

Caused by a Joke.

PHILADELPHIA, April 6.—While attempting to light his pipe at an electric light, as he was told to do in a joke, by a fellow workman, a Hungarian at Johnstown, Pa., was instantly killed. A current of 3000 volts passed through his body.

Philadelphia for Cleveland.

PHILADELPHIA, April 6.—The Democratic city committee has adopted resolutions favoring the nomination of Grover Cleveland for president and endorsing the administration of Governor Pattison.

IN THE TERRITORY.

CHOCTAW ROAD WILL BUILD BETWEEN M.A. AND OK.

John Weren to Be Hanged the Middle of This Month—Accident to Dr. Woodson—Albert Smith Commits Suicide—Epidemic of Hydrophobia.

PARIS, Tex., April 6.—The "sandy land" marshals have been rounding up the boys around South Canadian for gambling.

Minco, Chickasaw nation, has organized a board of trade. It is said that Edwin C. Chadock of the Choctaw road has negotiated a loan of $3,000,000 on its bonds and will liquidate its indebtedness and complete the work between McAlester and Okklahoma. The cotton acreage in the Chickasaw nation this year will be reduced fully one-half.

John Weren, the Cherokee murderer who is confined in the national prison at Tahlequah under sentence of death, has made a confession admitting his guilt. He will be hanged April 15.

Major Miles, agent for the Osage tribe, reports an unusual death rate among the Indians the past few months from pneumonia and kindred causes.

A. P. McKelloff, one of the Creek delegates to Washington, is home talking to his people about "home rule." He is endeavoring to have the Creek council called together that special instructions may be given the delegates on this important question.

While passing from one car to another at a Santa Fe night train crossing the Cherokee strip, Dr. E. S. Woolson fell. His arm was broken and a knee dislocated, and he lay on the cold prairie all night unable to move. Several Indians found him the next day, and building a fire by his side, kept him warm until the train came along. They flagged the train and the injured man was taken to Mulhall and cared for.

Albert Smith, a young German, living about three miles from Wagoner, committed suicide by taking morphine. Smith stole a shotgun and some other things from a man at Wagoner and also forged an order for money, and when the officers went out to arrest him he evaded the law by the morphine route. He purchased the drug at Wagoner with the evident intention of destroying his life if detected in his crime. He took the morphine about dark and died about midnight. Smith was from Germany, where his parents still reside and had lived near Wagoner for about a year. His father followed the occupation of a farmer.

A veritable epidemic of hydrophobia is reported to be raging on the headwaters of Mud creek, seventy-five miles west of Ardmore, which is said to be spreading rapidly. One farmer lost from this cause a valuable stallion and another a fine horse, death occurring the twenty-eighth day after the first signs of rabies appeared. Another lost his entire herd of cattle, thirteen in number, and numerous other cases of cattle dying from the fatal bite are reported, besides hogs, sheep and other animals. Three children, who were bitten, were hastily taken to Texas in quest of a madstone to their terrified parents. A war to the death is being waged on every member of the canine family that the farmers can run across, and in very many families the children are not allowed to venture away from the house. The spread of the disease is said to be positively alarming.

THE ELECTIONS.

In Several States.

CHICAGO, April 6.—City elections in Michigan, Ohio, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas and North Dakota show that in the majority of places local issues took precedence over politics and that when party lines were drawn the Republicans had the best of it. Democrats generally were successful and show larger majorities than did the Republicans.

A Democratic Mayor.

HARTFORD, April 6.—After a lively contest William Waldo Hyde (Democrat) was elected mayor over Henry C. Dwight (Republican).

Women's Vote Light.

TOPEKA, Kan., April 6.—Returns from various city elections in Kansas show in most places women's vote was very light.

Result in Toledo.

TOLEDO, April 6.—Republicans elected their whole city ticket except police clerk. The count was very slow with indications that Democrats may obtain the majority in the council.

In Minnesota and Wisconsin.

MINNEAPOLIS, April 6.—City and village elections were held throughout the state and in portions of the Dakotas and Wisconsin. Party lines were not very strongly drawn, the issues being purely local, relating in some instances to improvements of various sorts while in other license or no license was the burning question of the hour. The Australian system had its first trial in many of the smaller cities, and in every instance it was pronounced a success. On the license question there is no perceptible gain, no license towns voting for license and vice versa.

Vilas' Man Haters.

ASHLAND, Wis., April 6.—W. R. Durfee, republican, is elected mayor over John H. Knight by 450 majority. Colonel Knight is Senator Vilas' right-hand man in northern Wisconsin and is an aspirant for congressional honors. He attributes his defeat to the Hill faction, headed by Mayor O'Keefe.

Elections in Nebraska.

OMAHA, April 6.—City and village elections were held throughout Nebraska. With the exception of Omaha the questions at issue in a majority of cases were not partisan.

For Cleveland.

LEWISBURG, Pa., April 6.—The Union county Democratic convention endorsed Cleveland for president.

AS OLD AS UNCLE SAM.

A Man Who Was Born About the Time the United States Became a Nation.

NEW YORK, April 6.—At 224 West Sixty-first street lives a man, named Pierce Crotty, who is in the neighborhood of 109 years old. He is of medium height with a very lean form and hands that show he has reached a considerable age. He sits day by day with his head a little bowed and handles two old-fashioned turned canes in a restless way. Crotty was born about the year 1784 in the parish of Ardmore, Ireland. He has forgotten exactly when he came to this country, but he thinks it was a few months after the battle of Waterloo. He remembers that New York was a little town and that he had not very far to walk from where he lodged to get out into the woods. He remembered having heard of James Madison and of Monroe and of Jefferson, but he remembered best about John Jacob Astor.

"Everybody was talking about him then. But he died when I was still a young fellow," said Crotty. The first president he voted for was Andrew Jackson in the fall of 1823. He got work at the plant of the Manhattan Gas company about sixty-one years ago and he worked there steadily with the exception of a few months for forty-three years. Then eighteen years ago, at the age of 91, he fell from one of the houses in the company's yard and was so seriously injured that he was never able to work afterward. Because he had served them so long and faithfully the company gave him a pension, which is now his support. When he was asked if he had ever been married he said that when he was a young man he had a long attack of sickness. He had never thought of getting married up to that time, but he was so lonely and miserable that he married a widow of nearly his own age. They lived together for twenty-eight years, and then, about fifteen years ago, she died, leaving him alone again. "And you were only married once?"

"Once was enough," said the old man with a hoarse chuckle that plainly indicated his very poor opinion of the advantages of double blessedness. He is inclined to be pessimistic in his views of the moral progress of the world. He said they're worse than they used to be, but they're smarter."

Born in 1784, Crotty is just as old as the United States, which properly became a nation after the surrender at Yorktown. He does not look to be more than 80. He hears well, sees fairly well, and his sense of taste is unimpaired. He chews tobacco from the time he rises in the morning until he goes to bed, except at meal times.

BOYS IN GRAY.

Memories of Vanished Years Awakened in the Queen City.

DALLAS, April 6.—Memories of the vanished years were awakened in Dallas when the old rebs thronged the streets and visions of Manassas Junction, Malvern Hill, Chancellorsville, Fredericksburg, Fleetwood, Harper's Ferry, Gettysburg, Spottsylvania, Appomattox and a hundred bloody fields stalked before the vision of the old heroes who a quarter of a century ago laid down their guns and resumed the avocations of peace. It was a picture to see many of the old veterans together recounting their trials and tribulations, their triumphs and defeats, when they braved the fierce storms of war for a cause they loved. Every southern state furnished a part of the crowd. From Maryland to Texas those veterans were mustered in and they fought until their guns were stacked in defeat. Those that survived, many of them, came to the broad bosom of Texas to build again their broken fortunes.

One noticeable feature of the thousands now here as guests of Dallas was the poverty that still clings to them. Many of course are wealthy, some well-to-do, but the garments of a gaudy number were hardly less tattered than the garments they wore on that April day in 1863 when Lee surrendered. The poor old fellows never recovered from their misfortune, and now in the latter days of life they live from hand to mouth. One poor old fellow was seen sitting on the curbstone eating cheese and crackers. He had no money to pay for hotel accommodations, but he said he had to come.

Observation causes the belief that the majority of the old vets are farmers, many are lawyers and merchants, some are teachers, a few preachers, some saloon keepers, several newspaper men, and in fact, all the occupations are represented. With Dallas it made no difference what their occupations were, they were welcome just the same.

A reporter questioned 180 as to their casualties and of these 178 had been wounded. Thirty had lost legs, 41 had an armless sleeve, 2 had been shot through the lungs, 11 had shattered thigh bones which still caused them suffering, 31 had been shot through the arm, and the rest were flesh wounds. Judging from this number the 4000 or 5000 ex-Confederates in Dallas had been as thoroughly perforated with lead as any similar number of men that had ever come out of a war alive.

Pennsylvania Republicans.

SUNBURY, April 6.—The Northampton county Republican convention was instructed for national delegates for elector and for delegates to the state convention. Strong resolutions endorsing Senator Quay were passed.

Robbed the Postoffice.

BOISE CITY, April 6.—Two masked men entered the postoffice and at the point of a pistol compelled Postmaster Leonard to hand over $12,000 cash. The robbers escaped.

Falling for Bayard.

WILMINGTON, Del., April 6.—There is a movement on foot to constitute Hon. Lewis F. Bayard one of the electors delegates to the Democratic convention at Chicago.

SORELY OPPRESSED.

A WOMAN IN LUDLOW STREET JAIL FOR DEBT.

Which She Does Not Own—First Case in the Annals of New York Where a Female Has Been Imprisoned in a Civil Action—Mrs. Bronty's Strange Story.

NEW YORK, April 6.—The history of Ludlow street jail has often proved that truth is stranger than fiction, but truth never unraveled a stranger story of oppression and injustice than that of Mrs. Barbara Bronty. It is the story of a mother who sacrificed everything she had in the world to save an erring son, and when all was lost, husband, son, father, fortune and friends, was dragged off to a prison cell to serve an endless punishment, guiltless of any offense to society, a martyr to maternal love. The infamous debtors' prison law, which is still on the statute books of this state, is responsible for her condition.

The story is an interesting one. For many years, and until the summer of 1888, there lived in the village of Mount Vernon, in the adjoining county of Westchester, a man named Bronty. He was a florist, and was accounted among his neighbors to be wealthy. He had a wife, Barbara Bronty, and one son, Frank. The latter, a handsome and hard working young man, married in 1887. The young husband and his younger wife did not live happily. Young Bronty was arrested for abusing his bride before they had been married six months. He was sentenced to six months imprisonment in the penitentiary. When his time expired, and he was released, his wife was the first to appear for awhile, but finally trouble arose between them again. On the 26th of June, 1888, while Frank Bronty was at work on his father's place, two constables appeared and said they had orders to arrest him. He said he would go with them quietly if they had a warrant, but not otherwise. They went away, but shortly afterwards another constable, Thomas Woods, who was an old friend of Bronty, called and told him he would have to go along with him. To Woods Bronty repeated that he would not go to jail without a warrant. Although it was afterward claimed that Woods had a warrant in his pocket, it is said he did not show it to young Bronty.

The Tragedy.

Mrs. Bronty, Frank's mother, heard the loud talking and ran out of the house. She saw that there was likely to be a struggle and went to Woods, placed her hand on his arm and begged him to go away. Frank in the meantime had obtained a double-barrelled shot gun and yelled to Woods that he could not take him alive without a warrant. Woods started toward him, with Mrs. Bronty clinging to his arm. Frank partly lifted the gun and fired it without putting it to his shoulder. Woods fell dead. Mrs. Bronty received part of the charge in her leg.

Bronty was arrested at once and, strange to say, his mother was arrested also as an accessory and on the charge of interfering with an officer in the discharge of his duty. Frank Bronty was tried, found guilty of murder in the second degree and sentenced to Sing Sing prison for life. He is there now. His mother was acquitted. The father died before the trial came off of a broken heart. He left his property to the son. Just before he was sentenced Bronty in turn transferred all the property to his mother, for a man is legally dead after he has been sentenced to imprisonment for life. Mrs. Bronty gave her son's wife a mortgage on the place for $1500 in lieu of dower rights and gave another mortgage for $3000 to a nephew in New York. The nephew had furnished the money to defend Bronty, and he turned the mortgage over to Lawyer Francis E. Larkin of Sing Sing, who served as counsel in the trials of both mother and son, as security for his fees.

Mrs. Bronty was at this time penniless. She came to New York to live with her nephews. She had not been in this city two weeks before her peace was disturbed by one of the strangest suits at law ever known. The widow of the dead constable, Mrs. Sarah A. Woods, brought an action against Mrs. Bronty for damages for the loss of her husband. She demanded $5000, the legal limit, and an intelligent jury awarded to Mrs. Woods a verdict for the full amount. Thus, Mrs. Bronty, while adjudged innocent of any complicity in the killing of Constable Woods by the criminal court, was reckoned guilty by a jury in a civil action. The regular routine was followed by the victors. This consists, first, in the issuance of an execution of attachment against the vanquished's property. Mrs. Bronty had none, and when this fact was ascertained the plaintiff had a legal right to take her body and throw her into jail. They followed this course, and Mrs. Bronty has served up to the present time something over three years in Ludlow street jail for her inability to meet the verdict of the jury.

Illegality Held.

The strangest part of the whole transaction is that while Mrs. Bronty was assessed by a jury in Westchester county she is imprisoned in the county jail of New York county. So far as is known no commitment has been filed in this county, although it is said that one must be on file somewhere. The clerk of the county court has been unable to find the document, however, and it would appear that Mrs. Bronty is illegally held. Mrs. Ernestine Shaffer, the prisoner's friend, has tried on several occasions to have Mrs. Bronty released on moderate bail, but the lawyers of the wife of the dead constable have persistently refused to consent to release her on these terms. Mrs. Shaffer asks that it be reduced to $500, the extent of her means. Lawyer Abe Hummel, who has been engaged by a local newspaper to investigate the case, believes that Mrs. Bronty has been illegally imprisoned. This is the first case in the annals of the New York courts, he says, where a woman has been imprisoned in a civil action.

A Fiendish Murder.

ST. PAUL, April 6.—The mystery of the brutal murder of George Spaulding at Portage, Wis., was fully cleared up here. Young Spaulding's body was brought to St. Paul. He was about 19 years old and the son of Hugh Spaulding, one of St. Paul's leading citizens. He was murdered by George Whalen, whose home is also at St. Paul. The deed was the fiendish and cowardly crime of a man Spaulding considered one of his warmest friends, and indignation is at such a height that if Whalen is brought back here it will take the military to prevent his being lynched.

A few weeks ago when the "Power of the Press" company was playing at the Metropolitan opera house, Whalen and Spaulding were engaged as supers. After the engagement was over the two young men were constantly together, and early in the week planned to take a trip to Chicago together. They left here on Friday, Mr. Spaulding purchasing tickets for his son and young Whalen, giving the former $25 and a splendid gold watch on their departure. On the way to Chicago Whalen, on murder bent, coaxed Spaulding to leave the train at Portage, Wis., brained Spaulding with a coupling-pin, stole his money, his watch, and even the shoes from his feet, threw the body into the canal and escaped.

Threw Red Pepper.

ST. LOUIS, April 6.—Officer Heath of the central district was called on to arrest John Ryan, who was raising a disturbance. After taking the man in custody he conducted him to a patrol box at Sixth and Market streets. While Officer Heath was summoning a patrol wagon the prisoner drew a handful of red pepper from his pocket and threw it into his face. With a scream of anguish the blinded officer drew his revolver, but, instead of firing at the fleeing prisoner, discharged four shots in the air to draw attention. A large crowd gathered and Michael Ryan, Michael Burke and Leon Thomas, seeing the condition of Officer Heath, pursued the fleeing prisoner. At Sixth and Walnut streets he was overtaken. A desperate struggle ensued, in which Ryan again tried to use pepper. Officer Heath arriving on the scene, felled the desperate man with his club. After Ryan had had his wounds dressed at the city dispensary, he was locked up in the Four Courts. He will recover, but Officer Heath may lose his eyesight.

While being conducted to the Four Courts Ryan made another attempt to escape by springing from the patrol wagon, but it proved futile.

Entrapped by a Letter.

ST. LOUIS, April 6.—Detective Schopp arrived in the city with George Hall, alias Henry Holland, the negro arrested in Little Rock, Ark., who is wanted here on a charge of murder. He was lodged in a cell of the four courts, but will be transferred to jail on a charge of murder in the first degree.

Hull admits that he is the man wanted. His crime consists of killing William Freihan on the steamer Spread Eagle last September. He claims that he had to take the man's life in self-defense. After the killing he fled from St. Louis, going to Argenta, Ark. There he adopted the alias of Henry Holland, and secured employment on a railroad.

About a month ago Hull wrote a letter to Mrs. Annie Brown, a female friend living at 1810 Linden street, in which he disclosed his whereabouts and said that the crime did not trouble his conscience. The letter was secured by Detectives Schopp and Danaher of the Central district. An answer was written. The authorities of Little Rock were then requested to keep an eye on the letter and arrest the man that called for it. It laid in the postoffice two weeks before Hull called for it. He returned to St. Louis without requisition papers.

Married Her Father's Coachman.

HUNTINGTON, Pa., April 6.—Miss May Tremble, aged 19, daughter of Burgess J. Trimble of Birmingham, left home ostensibly to visit friends in Altoona. A day later John B. Baker, her father's teamster, left on a week's vacation. Mr. Trimble was dumfounded by the receipt of a note from his daughter containing the intelligence that Teamster Baker and she had been married in Camden, N. J., and are waiting in Philadelphia for her father's blessing. Mr. Trimble vows he will never be reconciled.

She Would Not Kiss Him.

WHEELING, April 6.—A special says William Maier, a baker aged 25, shot and killed his wife because she refused to kiss him. The couple were married six months ago. Maier arose and asked his wife to give him a kiss. Upon her refusal he drew a revolver and fired four shots into her body. The young woman never spoke. Maier escaped and has not been arrested.

LOCAL NEWS.

From Friday's daily.

Joe H. Carter has bought the south half of the Salmon block, and will soon build a residence fronting on Washington avenue.

We have heard that the Star office is short of quotation points. We will lend you some, brother, when you again have occasion to quote criticisms of other people about us.

T. A. Elgin and Dud Crawford returned from Caddo lake this morning. Mr. Elgin says the sport was good yesterday, but the rise in the lake will soon put a stop to successful fishing.

The editor of the MESSENGER is not "fresh" enough to publish communications without designating them as such. He learned the use of quotation marks, too, before the late controversy.

Another Trial.

The editor of the Star will read up on the use of quotation marks, and use them when quoting the utterances of others, then, perhaps, "my ten-year-old school boy, of average sense," will be able to understand what appears in his columns.

Not the Father of His Country.

A negro boy, as black as ebony, apparently about eighteen years of age, and bearing the illustrious name of George Washington, was brought in from Hallville by Constable W. T. Scott to-day.

The boy is charged with having assaulted another negro a few weeks since, with intent to murder.

Scientific Club and Reading Rooms.

P. G. Roquemore and several other gentlemen who are interested in the advancement of modern science, are endeavoring to organize a club in this city. It is their intention to rent rooms and purchase a good scientific library, which shall be open to all members.

A club of this kind would, if properly managed, be of incalculable benefit to Marshall. The good which would result from it to those of its members who have tastes in this line simply can not be measured.

The progress of our age is due more to the development of physical science than to all other causes combined, and the man who is not conversant with, at least, its elementary principles, is not in touch with the times.

Patronize Home Enterprises.

The only Way to Build Up and Sustain Our Home Institutions.

There is no law compelling people to spend their money at home, but it is a mighty good rule to spend your money with the people among whom you make it.

These remarks are called forth by the visit to our town recently of a lady representing a Louisville, Ky., firm, taking orders for dresses. We are told that she did a good business, notwithstanding there are firms in Marshall who carry an endless variety of dress goods, and who will order anything wanted, and have dresses made to order, fit and satisfaction guaranteed; and the further fact that there are a number of ladies in Marshall who earn their living by dress-making.

There is nothing compulsory about it, but we can never have a prosperous town as long as people send off for every thing they want, even though they may get it a little cheaper, and in many cases nothing is saved by sending off. Spend a dollar with your neighbor, and to-morrow or next day that neighbor will spend that dollar with you. Send your dollars to New York, St. Louis or Chicago—and its goodbye dollars.

Over the Road.

The three special cars of Capt Grant's party came in from New Orleans last night, and went west this morning attached to No. 1. Capt. Grant is making a trip over the entire road, and is inspecting the company's property, machinery, and, in fact, everything connected with the road or its management.

When interviewed by a MESSENGER reporter this morning, he said: "I have but little to say for publication. We are on a general bum over the road. I have found the road to be in good condition. We are improving it every day, but can't say how much longer we may be able to do so, owing to our ignorance of what course the commission will take. I enjoyed the weather from New Orleans up very much, indeed, and hope it will continue fine during the remainder of our trip. We will stop over in Dallas a few days before going on."

The following gentlemen composed the party: Capt. J. A. Grant, general manager T. & P.; Howard Gonid, C. Satele, secretary of the T. & P. R. S. Larety, general attorney T. & P.; and K. Miller, Mr. Grant's private secretary.

J. M. Rogers, colored, charged with arson has been absorbing the entire attention of the court to-day.

Correction.

In taking a poll of the city on Hogg and Clark a few days since, the MESSENGER made one error. In reporting the sentiments of Dr. J. H. Pope, we gave him for Hogg. Dr. Pope informed us this morning, that he is an anti-Hogg man, and we most willingly retract what was said in this connection, and apologize for the mistake.

Party.

A party was given by Mrs. Sanders, of the East-end to Mr. Dick Welsh last evening. Quite a number of their mutual friends were out, and the evening was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Reception at The League.

The members of this oldest club in the city turned over their handsome rooms to Mr. R. Hicks last evening. Mr. Hicks is a member of this club, and one of the most enthusiastic society men in it.

He succeeded in bringing out a number of our fairest ladies and most popular gentlemen last evening, and succeeded also in making them enjoy the reception.

The card tables were all filled by 9 o'clock and the interesting game of euchre was soon after in full progress. Those who did not enjoy the game, or who were more interested in each other, than in all things besides, spent the hours pleasantly. A number of these repaired to the Capitol Hotel during the evening, and enjoyed a social dance in one of the parlors.

East Texas Immigration.

THE MOST VITAL QUESTION NOW BEFORE THE PEOPLE.

TO THE CITIZENS OF EAST TEXAS:

GENTLEMEN:—By order of the executive committee of the East Texas Immigration and Development Association, I, as chairman of said committee, address to you the following circular letter:

ORGANIZATION.

The East Texas Immigration and Development Association was organized at Lufkin, Texas, on Feb. 21, 1892. It is composed of men who realize that East Texas has been neglected; that something should be done, and that much can be done, if the people will show a disposition to assist in the work. At the first meeting seven counties participated. It is hoped that every county of East Texas will come in soon.

ITS OBJECTS.

The objects of the association are to advertise East Texas, and to use all fair means to induce capital and immigration to come here. The plan of operation is to be agreed upon later, and each county represented will have a voice in the matter.

The executive committee requests each county in East Texas to organize an auxiliary association, and to send one or more delegates to meet with them at Nacogdoches on Saturday, Apr. 16th, at which time some definite action will be taken as to the plan of operation. Every county in East Texas should be represented! Do not postpone this matter, but act now.

It has been proposed to get up an East Texas exhibit car, and send it over the United States. The value to this section of such a move can not be calculated, so great would it be, and the cost of putting such a car on the road and keeping it going would be almost nothing, divided between several counties. The railroads are wide-awake to everything that tends to develop the country, and a Texas road will furnish and fit up the car, and all we have to do is to furnish the exhibit, consisting of everything grown and produced in East Texas; a full stock of advertising matter, and a good talker and a porter to go with the car—the railroads everywhere will pull the car over their lines free of charge. The salary of one man and a porter and their grocery bill would be the only expense, after the car was filled. Everyone must see the advantage of such an advertisement for East Texas, and especially for the counties represented.

It is also proposed to send an intelligent, reliable man through the old southern states to advertise the advantages of East Texas, and to talk up and organize immigration parties and bring them here. The railroads will co-operate in this also, and the expense will not be very heavy.

There is no question about East Texas being the best part of the state, and if even a few live men in each county will get together and decide that they will bring its advantages to the notice of the world, it can be done. We have too long depended upon our natural advantages while other sections of the state were making advantages.

As this letter is for circulation in East Texas, there is no need to dwell upon our advantages—suffice to say that we have them, in abundance, and what we want to do is to present them to the public in the most practical way. Every man who calls East Texas his home is interested. Every man who owns an acre of land in East Texas will be benefited. Every man who is a man feels a pride in the prosperity of his home and should take an active part in the work begun by the East Texas Immigration and Development association.

Respectfully,

W. A. ADAIR,

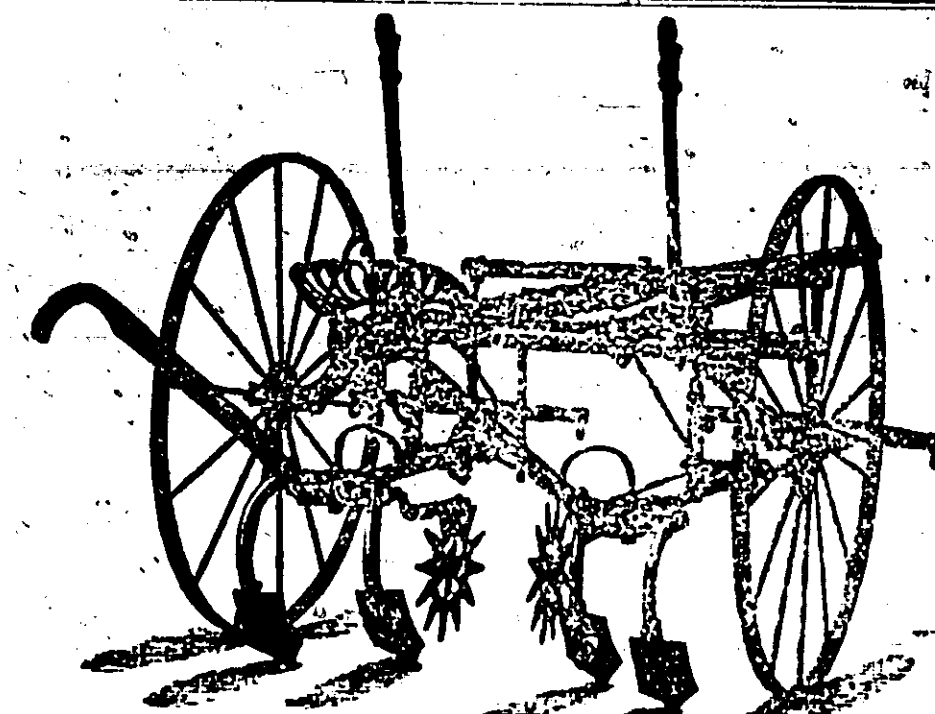

Chairman Executive Committee.

The BUCKEYE SUNBEAM CULTIVATOR

What These Cultivators Will Do.

They will bed up cotton land. They will bar off cotton. They will scrape and bunch cotton. They will cultivate corn and cotton until laid by. — They will Cultivate New Land Perfectly. —

POINTS.

We claim our Spring Trip to be the only one made which has never failed to do good work and give perfect satisfaction. They are perfect, and cannot be broken in roofs or grubs.

The inside Standards are adjustable up and down for working Sweeps, Scrapers or Shovels on top of cotton bed. The parallel movement keeps the sweeps, scrapers or shovels squared up to the work. The Axes are adjustable for different widths or rows. No Break Pins are used.

The Wheels, Beams and Standards are made of Steel. These cultivators are the only ones ever made which perfectly fill all the requirements of the southern trade. Many others have failed utterly, and a few have done fairly well, but the Buckeye Sunbeam is the only one which has met all requirements. For prices and terms, address

Not merely a Spring Medicine, but a Cure for all Blood and Skin Diseases every month in the year.

The world, almost in despair at the ravage of those two most horrible diseases, scrofula and syphilis, and the many infirmities resulting directly and indirectly therefrom, against which physicians' medicines and nostrums useless, has received the Cactus Blood Cure with astonishment and delight. Never before has there been a remedy discovered which was infallible in all blood diseases.

What one of Chicago's Most Prominent Specialists Says.

CHICAGO, ILL., Dec. 26, 1890.

GENTLEMEN:—I unhesitatingly certify to the efficacy of the Cactus Blood Cure as a remarkable purifier of the blood, quickly and surely eliminating from the system all constitutional or hereditary affections, such as scrofula, syphilis, or the more dangerous class of blood disorders dependent upon specific poison.

Since its introduction into the profession, about two years ago, I have had many opportunities for testing its merits, and consider it to be superior to any known remedy as a cure for the class of diseases mentioned.

Yours truly,
K. M. Williams, M. D.,
68 Randolph Street.

The Cactus Blood Cure has positively cured numerous cases of Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Eczema and Erysipelas in one month's time where all other blood purifiers have failed.

Pleasant to take, applicable to diseases of infancy or old age. All druggists sell it. Price, large size $2.00; small size $1.00.

PEOPLES' PARTY MEETING.

The St. Louis Platform Adopted.

Two Reporters Object.

A meeting of farmers was held at Odd Fellows' hall at 2 o'clock this afternoon. J. C. Holder called the meeting to order and was elected chairman. R. L. Jennings and J. M. Calloway were nominated for secretary, and Mr. Jennings was elected. The chairman explained the object of the meeting to be to endorse the St. Louis platform of the Confederated Industrial Organization, which was read and submitted to the house. From it we extract the following:

This, the first great labor conference of the United States and the world, representing all divisions of urban and rural organized industry, assembled in national congress. * * * We meet in the midst of a nation brought to the verge of moral, political and material ruin. Corporation dominates the ballot box, the legislature, the congress, and touches even the ermine of the bench. The newspapers are subsidized or muzzled, public opinion silenced, business prostrated. The urban workmen are denied the right of organization for self protection. * * *

The fruits of the toil of millions are boldly stolen to build up colossal fortunes, while the possessors despise the republic and endanger liberty. A vast conspiracy has been organized on the two continents, and is taking possession of the world. It not met and overthrown at once, it forbodes terrible social convulsions, the destruction of civilization or the establishment of an absolute despotism.

We declare our union and independence. We assert our purpose to support the political organization which represents our principles.

We charge that the controlling influence dominates the old political parties, have allowed the existing dreadful conditions to develop without serious efforts to prevent them. They have agreed together to ignore in the coming campaign every issue but one. They propose to drown the outcries of a plundered people with the uproar of a sham battle over the tariff, so that corporations, national banks, rings, trusts, watered stock, etc., may all be lost sight of. They propose to sacrifice our homes and children upon the altar of mammon, to destroy the hopes of the multitude to secure corruption funds from the great lords of plunder.

We assert that a political organization, representing the political principles herein stated, is necessary to redress the grievances of which we complain.

PLATFORM.

We demand national currency, safe, sound and flexible, issued by the general government only, as set forth in the sub-treasury plank of the Farmer's Alliance, or some better system.

Free and unlimited coinage of silver.

Circulating medium of not less than $50 per capita.

Raduated income tax.

Postal savings banks by the government.

All lands now held by railroads and other corporations in excess of their actual needs should be reclaimed by the government.

The government should own and operate the railroads in the interest of the people.

The telegraph and telephone should be owned and operated by the government, in the interest of the people.

Before a vote was taken Mr. Bostle rose on a motion from the chair to consider, and made a forty minutes' talk in defense of the platform. His remarks were clear and to the point.

Immediately after he had closed a division was called, and the entire meeting rose, with the exception of the press representatives, and responded in favor of the motion to endorse.

The question was then put, "all not in favor of this motion, make it known by rising and saying no," and cries of "show your colors" were heard in all parts of the house.

Messrs Jennings and Blocker, representatives of the Star and Messenger, then voted against the platform and resolutions. We regret that time forbids our giving Mr. Jennings' remarks in toto.

He said "he could not accept all of the platform, because he was a democrat and believed in democratic principles. That he was for the farmer first, last and all the time, for without his support the newspaper men could not possibly live, but few of them being bloated head hunters, and unless they were made more useful, they would not survive."

Mr. Blocker of the Messenger then followed Mr. Jennings. He said: "I am here to report the action of this meeting, not to criticize it. I do not endorse all the principles set forth in the platform and resolutions, though many of them are doubtless good. The policy of the Messenger, which I have the honor to represent, is too well known to require reiteration on my part. It is for the interest of the whole people ever, and not for any one class. It has ever striven and still strives to develop the county, and the farming interest."

Mr. G. A. Godfrey then rose and asked the gentlemen of the press what better had they to propose?

Mr. Blocker replied: "The platform of the grand old democratic party. It is not now the time, just when democracy is stepping into the field with brighter prospects of victory than ever before, for any of those who support its principles to desert its standard."

Mr. Jennings concurred in these sentiments, and related an anecdote applicable to the occasion.

A resolution was then proposed and adopted, inviting press representatives to attend all future meetings of the organization.

The regular business of the meeting, selecting a county and precinct chairmen was taken up.

J. S. Massey was elected county chairman.

The meeting had 'not adjourned' up to the hour of going to press.

The following gentlemen were present at the meeting: C. R. Holder, chairman; R. L. Jennings, secretary; W. G. Jackson, Jack Massey, Luther Matthews, Jas. Holder, G. A. Godfrey, R. J. Finch, J. S. Jackson, J. M. Callaway, S. L. McClaran, G. M. Staute, W. M. Matthews, P. Tuttle, R. F. Crowley, J. P. Roberts, W. H. Newton, V. A. McClaran, G. W. McClaran, Sam Bostle, W. Wombly, W. W. Blocker.

Caught.

At Longview Junction last night soon after the arrival of No. 3, a young man asked a man where he could get a cup of coffee. The party interrogated replied, that he and a friend were just going to a place they knew for that purpose, and invited him to join them. After they had proceeded some distance and reached a dark corner, the two accomplices at once proceeded to hold the young man up, one holding him while the other went through his pockets. They succeeded in getting $200, but his cries soon brought officers to the spot and both the thieves were duly taken in.

Love and Psyche.

Youth and young Love once went out together.

To see how it fared with life's fair weather; Both were blest with sweet content, And that to each in happiness, much was meant.

'Twas then that Love with Youth a blessing brought, Finding in Psyche a being without a soul, He straightway prayed gods a blessing to unfold;

Himself, he thought, with Youth's fair charming manner, To teach her much; and so, with her to wander 'Thro' fields of pleasure of every fragrant hue,

He lead the way, and found the task so pleasant. He traveled on for days, and still the lesson taught was never through,

For 'twas Love set the task you know and the pasture new. Psyche, poor maiden, from fatigue fell asleep,

Nor thought for one moment her eyes she must keep. Open and wide, to watch for Love's daring, For of Love the name, she had had no warning;

She, simple and sweet, with never a dream Of the thoughts that he hid, and that change to the flower

And blossom above, was safe for that hour In trusting herself to a youth who could seem

So fair of face, so pleasant and so nice; Y She slept the sweet sleep of trust in his power,

Nor dreamed for one moment he was love in disguise; He, thinking her sweet and a flower to unfold

Its beautiful leaves, sat watching her there. He leant over to peep, to see how she breathed, thus it is told—

Could never resist the quick touch of her hair Which strayed from her throat and over his arm;

He bent and he kissed her red lips, and her eyes, When Love and gay Youth were taken by surprise;

Instead of the maiden he was shielding from harm, A butterfly rose, straight up before his eyes, For Psyche had found that his kiss could her change

From a girl, a sweet flower, with no soul nor sweet dreaming, To a woman, a fair flower, that had burst into singing.

The gods had been kind to Youth and to Love, For they granted to man the power to rove At pleasure, and sip the dew from the flower, But he pays in realities what he spends in an hour.

Admitted the Facts.

Newspaper editors have to be very careful in opening their columns for statements. But aware that Dr. Miles Medical Co. are responsible, we make room for the following testimonial from R. McDougall, Auburn, Ind., who for two years noticed a stoppage or skipping of the pulse, his left side got so tender he could not lie on it, his heart fluttered, he was alarmed when to different doctors, found no relief, but one bottle of Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure cured him. The elegant book, "New and Startling Facts," free at E. J. Fry's drug store. It tells all about Heart and Nervous Diseases and many wonderful cures.

Bonds No Good.

In the district court to-day, Judge Graham rendered a decision in the case of Waters Pierce Oil company vs. Marshall Electric Light and Power Co., in favor of the plaintiff.

This was a suit for debt, and to test the validity of the $80,000 in bonds issued by the Electric Light company, on which there is $5000 accrued interest. Judge Graham confirmed the masters report, holding that the bonds are void because they were issued without consideration, and are still in the hands of the original holders.

Cuts in Shops.

There will be another small cut in the car department of the T. & P. shops to-night, including 10 white men and 13 negroes, divided as follows: Four white men off No. 10, 2 out of coachshop, 1 from Mr. Sanderson's gang, 2 car repairers out of Collins department. Four negroes out of Sanders' gang, 2 from Bolk's department, 6 out of Collins'.

Mr. G. Hollis and daughter, Miss Bertha, of Woodlawn, left last night for Big Springs, to reside. This is the second time Mr. H. has left Harrison, and when he comes back will be the second time he has returned.

I have a Bold's d'are wagon for sale also a Jack at stealing prices, call and see me at Trader's stable.

Our Jefferson Special.

Jefferson, Tex., April 5, 1892.

The Friendly arrived Saturday with a fair freight and left Saturday with 150 bales of cotton. The Bland came in last night with a list of freight and left this morning with a small lot of cotton and a freight.

The city council at its meeting night granted Col. Kruse the right way over the city for electric light and power purposes. Col. Kruse formed your correspondent that will put in the electric light plant once.

In looking over the city we find or 8 new residences under construction, and understand contracts soon be let for several more.

Messrs Mabry & Co., a Texarkana firm, have moved their stock of goods here and have opened up the office of the Lone Star Iron Co.

There are several new manufacturing enterprises, backed by north capital, looking towards our city a location, which, if located here, will make Jefferson the leading manufacturing city in the state. Jefferson's future is bright indeed, and bats and owls, habits of darkness and decay, who no long have perched upon our buildings and communities with their fellow moss backs belated, are taking their flight as they dawn, instinctively realizing what their more obtuse associates have failed to do, that their occupation is gone, and that in the Jefferson of the future, enterprise and progress is the cry, and not that darkness, decay and death.

JEFFERSON DIED.

Frank Eads, age 16 months, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Fraley, their residence in this city at 12 last night. The child had been suffering from diphtheria during the past eight or ten days, and, while can not lessen the grief of the parents, death came more as a release from suffering than a dreaded enemy.

The funeral was set for 4 p. m., day at Greenwood cemetery. THE MESSENGER extends sympathy to the bereaved parents and relatives, reminding them that "all things work together for good," difficult though may be for us at all times to realize it.

Foot Ball.

W. E. Lancaster will give one of the best balls in his store to the eleven organized in this city.

All who feel an interest in the sport are requested to call at the news store at their earliest convenience, for the purpose of organizing and completing all arrangements for a game at an early date.

No one under 14 years of age need apply for admission to the club.

The MESSENGER will furnish a card to all members of the eleven.

The Fry Guards.

Our soldier boys were out last evening in uniform. At the armory 42 men answered to roll call. Their uniforms, guns and accoutrements were in superb condition.

Brass buttons are just as attractive to femininity now as they ever were, and all the reserve space in the armory hall was filled last evening with the fair friends of the company.

The company was formed and the roll called by orderly Roquemore and turned over to Lieutenant Collins, who drilled it for a few minutes when Capt. Heartall arrived and finished the drill.

The company was then ordered to parade rest, and an order from the captain was read by 2nd Sergeant Ector reducing Corporal Atwood to ranks, and promoting private Little to the rank of corporal.

When the company was dismissed, dancing began. This amusement was continued until a late hour. 'Rah for the Guards!

Married.

PERDUE-THOMAS—Mrs. M. O. J. Thomas and Mr. Clarence Perdue were married at 3:15 o'clock last evening at the residence of the bride in this city. The ceremony was performed in the presence of a few relatives and friends.

In Barracks.

WAS A GREAT MULE.

THE GRIZZLY BEAR HAD NO CHANCE FOR LIFE IN THE FIGHT

With Pete a Man Could Travel Anywhere and Need No Weapon Whatever—A Sagacious Animal That Could Kick with the Force of a Pile Driver.

I bought a large iron gray pack mule to carry my goods across the Sierra Nevada. I christened him Pete. The day after we started we—Pete and I—came to a nice grassy place. I tethered Pete, to a tree, allowing him about twenty feet range, and taking some ham and crackers out of my haversack sat down on a fallen tree to eat them. While I munched the ham and crackers Pete cropped the fresh grass, which grew long and green. Suddenly he reared up and snorted in a manner that very plainly said, "Look out!"

I sprang to my feet, and it was quite well I did so, for I saved me from the embrace of a very large, very hungry and very ferocious grizzly bear, who was standing erect and preparing to throw his paws around me. I rushed for the nearest tree and was up in it in the twinkling of an eye.

I was safe for the time being, but, alas, poor Pete! The bear went about things in a very cool and complacent manner. I could see by the expression of his eyes that he was taking Pete's measure, for he cocked his head over on one side and assumed an appearance of great wisdom, as you have seen critics look at a picture.

Pete's behavior, much as I had already learned of that remarkable animal, surprised me. When I was safe his alarm disappeared altogether. He dropped his head and began to nibble the grass again. He went on with his grazing just as if there were no such thing as a grizzly bear in the world. He would nip off the succulent green stems and chew with great steadiness and regularity, and occasionally I could hear his contented snort as he struck an unusually delicate bunch of grass.

PETE KEPT ON GRAZING.

The bear was as much astonished as I was. Evidently he considered such conduct without a parallel, for he looked harder than ever at Pete, then scratched his head and tried to think out an answer to the problem. But Pete calmly went on with his grazing and looked neither to the right nor to the left, while I sat in my tree and held my breath.

By and by the bear arose, made a grand circuit around the tree in order to watch Pete from every angle and point. Getting no satisfaction out of that mode of procedure he came over to my tree and looked up at me for an answer. But I had none to give him. Between the bear and me we began to think that Pete had lost his mind. Perhaps right at the appearance of the bear he had been so bereft of reason that he continued to eat grass through the mere force of habit.

Soon the grizzly's appetite overcame his curiosity and he prepared for work. He seemed to me to make a critical examination of his destroying apparatus. He stretched his front paws and slapped the muscles of each with the other. Evidently he was satisfied that he was in good trim, for he showed his great teeth with joy. He appeared satisfied that he was fit to demolish a whole drove of mules.

THESE THINGS DONE, THE BEAR GAVE THE SIGNAL FOR ACTION.

He opened his mouth and emitted a series of growls which made my flesh creep and my hair rise and my hat.

HE STOPPED FOR A MINUTE.

Pete went on grazing. His countenance expressed no proof that he had heard the growling of the grizzly. The latter dropped on all fours, with his hungry mouth open and his great teeth disclosed. Still Pete made no sign that he either saw or heard, but confined his attention strictly to the business of finding dinner. The bear, also having the latter in view, rapidly approached until he was in striking distance, and then, rearing up, prepared to disembowel Pete and break his neck with one blow.

Down came the outstretched paws, and at that moment Pete seemed to become aware for the first time of the presence of the grizzly. He sprang forward, the paws struck only the air and then I saw a gray form double itself into a ball and bound upward. Out of that ball flew two legs, which shot back and forth with the rapidity of piston rods, going thump, thump upon the body of the grizzly. Up and down went the body and back and forth went the two pilot drivers. The bear was struck all over, on his head, on his shoulder, on his side, on his paws. He fell in one direction and then in another. He was kicked into the air and pounded into the earth.

The breath was driven out of him and life followed, and at length he lay upon the ground a shapeless mass, every bone in his body broken, while Pete had quietly returned to his interrupted grazing without a hair injured.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

FROM WASHINGTON.

THE WOOL BILL REPORTED TO THE HOUSE.

Now Let the Vote Proceed—Mr. Wolcott Addresses the Senate on the Subject of Silver—Morgan Resolutions Go Over Without Action.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—After the transaction of some miscellaneous business Mr. McMillin moved that the house go into committee of the whole on the wool bill, and pending that moved that all debate on the first section be limited to one hour and a quarter. After some good-natured discussion three-quarters of an hour were given each side and the house went into committee of the whole, Mr. Blount of Georgia in the chair, the pending amendment being that offered by Mr. Burrows, striking from the first section the word "wools."

Mr. Otis of Kansas moved to strike out the first section.

Mr. Alexander of North Carolina spoke in favor of the proposed amendment imposing a duty of 30 per cent on imported wools, which was rejected.

The vote recurring on Mr. Otis' motion to strike out the first section it was lost. The second section was then read and a discussion ensued as to the effect upon the price of wool and woolen goods by the protective tariff. After a long debate the committee rose and reported the bill to the house and the house without action adjourned.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—After preliminary morning business Mr. Morgan called up his silver resolution offered yesterday and yielded to Mr. Wolcott, who proceeded immediately to address the senate on the subject of silver, beginning with the blunt statement that the silver bill had been put to sleep, and the senate might as well face the truth on the silver question.

Mr. Wolcott soon launched out in an attack on the administration. He admitted that the silver men had suffered defeat in both houses, charged it had been compassed by the administration, the first great force which had left no stone unturned in its efforts to defeat the silver bill.

Mr. Morgan formally offered an amendment to his resolution which he presented yesterday, and then the resolutions went over without action, retaining their place on the calendar.

The Indian appropriation bill was then taken up, the question being on Mr. Dawes' motion to strike out the provision for assignment—rejected—and so the provision remains in the bill. Some minor amendments were also agreed to.

To Revamp Old Evidence.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—In the pension office investigation a motion by Mr. Enloe to put in evidence the testimony taken in last year's investigation in reference to the refrigerating company and in reference to George E. Lemons' endorsement of Commissioner Raum's paper and the insurance of the completed files ordered after a long discussion by a majority vote was agreed to.

Reid's Successor.

NEW YORK, April 7.—A Washington correspondent speculating upon Whitelaw Reid's successor, states among those mentioned is Joseph Medill, editor of the Chicago Tribune. Medill is now in California. A rumor has been in circulation that Representative Hitt of Illinois will be appointed minister to France to succeed Reid. Hitt says there is no truth in the rumor.

Sunday Closing Discussed.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—The question of the Sunday opening of the World's fair was the subject of a hearing by the house committee on the World's Columbian exposition. A number of persons representing religious bodies and societies were heard.

To Investigate the Pinkertons.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—The house adopted a resolution requesting the committee on judiciary to report back the resolution providing for an investigation of the Pinkerton detective agency.

Shot His Son-in-Law.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., April 7.—Trainmen of the Jefferson City and Lebanon branch brought in scant particulars of a domestic tragedy that occurred near Brumley, in Miller county. John Leets and his wife separated, the wife going to the home of her father, near by, and taking the only child with her. Subsequently Leets concluded to take possession of the child, and to this end repaired to the house of his father-in-law armed with a pistol. The old man was at home, and he and Leets soon became involved in trouble in front of the house. Leets drew his pistol and fired several shots at his father-in-law, but without effect. The latter ran into the house, secured a shotgun and shot Leets dead in his tracks. This is all the information that could be obtained. The scene of the tragedy is fifteen miles from a railroad or telegraph office.

Saved from Drowning.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., April 7.—The west span of the Clarissa street bridge across the Genesee river in this city fell, precipitating six persons into the river which is now at flood height—five men, one woman. The work of rescue was accomplished with remarkable promptness, the "poor" unfortunate clinging to pieces of boards. They had reached a point in the river opposite Adams street before they were taken out. The woman was a Mrs. Quigley.

Family Burned to Death.

FORT MADISON, Ia., April 7.—Seven people lost their lives in a fire which broke out in Steere, McIntosh & Peace's. The building was consumed and the family living upstairs, seven in all, were burned to death. An explosion of gunpowder prevented their escape. The sight after the catastrophe was a horrible one.

RHODE ISLAND REPUBLICAN.

It Is by a Scratch, If That Is Any Consolation to Democrats.

PROVIDENCE, April 7.—The Democratic and Republican vote thus far is as follows: Brown, Republican, 16,250; Wardwell, Democrat, 16,048. The prohibition vote will probably be sufficient to defeat an election by the people. The legislature is undoubtedly Republican.

The city vote to this hour, with one district to hear from, is: Brown, 9150; Burton, People's party, 98; Gilbert, prohibition, 888; Wardwell, 10,058. No election.

1 a. m.—Brown 23,187; Burton 178; Gilbert 1411; Wardwell 22,072. Total vote 46,846, the largest vote ever cast in Rhode Island.

Decreased Democratic Majorities.

MILWAUKEE, April 7.—The elections throughout Wisconsin were watched with great interest by Republicans as it was the first election of consequence since the Democrats under the leadership of Governor Peck wrested the state from the Republicans. In Milwaukee Mayor Somers (Democrat) was chosen by 3200 plurality; balance of the Democratic ticket, with the exception of the candidate for the municipal court clerkship, pulled through with majorities running from 2800 to 1300. Frank Weller, Republican, for municipal court clerk, was elected by 1245 majority. Two years ago the average Democratic majority in the city and county was 6800. Now it is 1400. In the state party lines were not closely drawn, and the vote seems to be as usual at spring elections.

Democrats Completely Victorious.

CHICAGO, April 7.—The Democrats were completely victorious in the local election. In Cicero the proposal to annex a portion of that town to Chicago was defeated by a majority of 880. In the city the same proposition carried by a majority of 12,800. But annexation will not be made as the scheme did not carry in both places.

Bayard and Cleveland.

WILMINGTON, Del., April 7.—A close personal friend of Mr. Bayard states that the ex-secretary of state will make a speech putting Cleveland in nomination and work early and late for the success of his candidate. Mr. Bayard believes Cleveland will not only receive the nomination, but will be elected, in which event he expects to be appointed to the court of St. James.

Boyd Firmly Established.

OMAHA, April 7.—A special to the Bee from Lincoln says: The state supreme court refused to grant ex-Gov. Thayer's petition for a rehearing of the celebrated gubernatorial case of Boyd vs. Thayer. This settled the matter for all time and Governor Boyd's official position is now firmly established.

Brutal Mr. Bray.

KINGSTON, N. Y., April 7.—Miss Eliza Wager, daughter of a prosperous farmer in High Falls, Ulster county, is suing Washington Irving Bray, principal of the high school at Montrose, Westchester county, for $25,000 damages for breach of promise to marry.

In her complaint she says that she met Mr. Bray about two years ago when he came to High Falls to take the place of principal of the school there. He had just been graduated from Amherst college. They became engaged. Several months later he accepted an offer to go to Montrose at an increased salary. After he had been there six months Miss Wager received a letter from him which was a great shock to her. Mr. Bray stated that he had concluded that a farmer's daughter would not make a suitable wife for him, and that when he selected a wife she must be a woman of rare culture, high social position, and one accustomed to the upper circles of society. Such a woman would tend to advance his fortune, whereas, if he married a country maiden like Miss Wager, with little besides beauty, she would be a hindrance to his advancement all his life.

Miss Wager sent an indignant reply. She told him that if he had stated that he had concluded he was mistaken in the character of his feelings for her she could have released him, painful as it would have been, without uttering a word, but the motives he had expressed for breaking the engagement were so selfish, and his language so brutal, that she could not let it pass unnoticed.

A Circus Girl's Catch.

NEW YORK, April 7.—Mattie Cavall, one of the pretty girls who rode nightly in a chariot in the Barnum Bailey parade at Madison square garden, and afterwards in Columbia's stage ship, has disappeared, leaving a letter to James A. Bailey in which she informs him that she has "got something better."

She adds that "it is not an elopement," as she has "been engaged to him a whole year," that he is a year older than she, having reached the mature age of 19, but that his folks are British swells and objected to his marrying the daughter of a clown and a tight-rope dancer, while papa and mamma Cavall objected, too. His parents sent him to forget her to Montreal school, and fate brought her to New York as a ballet girl. Then he "dropped over to New York" and has feasted his eyes on her angelic form through opera glasses every night for a week at the big garden. The couple started for Canada a few days ago, and the 200 other girls in tarlatan skirts say, with elevated noses, that "Mattie has run away with that dude."

Hon. W. R. Salisbury Dead.

WILMINGTON, Del., April 7.—Hon. Willard R. Salisbury, chancellor of the state of Delaware since '74, and United States senator from '59 to '71, is dead at his residence at Dover, of apoplexy.

He Had His Coat Repaired.

He was one of the army who are living and seeing life in New York on an attenuated income, and one cold morning he awoke to the realization that the overcoat would be a necessary part of his garb for that day. He looked at it. 'Twas unrepresentable. He thrust his hands deep into his pockets. They were empty. Two diabolical facts, neither of them surprises, faced him, but he was not annoyed. He proceeded cheerily to a small tailor's shop and presented the overcoat for repairs.

"It will cost you a dollar," said Shears. "The price is no obstacle, proceed," replied the customer. Shears turned this coat over to a subordinate and sat down for a chat with the heaven-sent customer, for Shears was a Spaniard. And yet he was sufficiently Americanized to produce a deck of cards and propose a little game of poker. The heaven-sent assented. Vest buttons made admirable chips, and the cards few for some minutes, until the coat was repaired. Then the customer paid his bill in vest buttons, and received from Shears fifty cents for the remaining buttons he had won. Then, equipped for the inclement weather, he went forth conscious of the rift in the clouds, and bought for himself a luxurious fifty-cent breakfast.—New York Times.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

For Tax Collector.
We are authorized to announce W. W. Heartill as a candidate for tax collector of Harrison county, subject to action of the citizens party.

We are authorized to announce W. M. Woods as a candidate for tax collector of Harrison county, subject to action of the citizens party.

We are authorized to announce the name of J. Harry Bell as a candidate for Tax Collector of Harrison county, subject to the action of the citizens party.

We are authorized to announce the name of T. H. Craig as a candidate for Tax Collector of Harrison county, subject to the action of the citizens party.

For Superintendent of Schools.

I am a candidate for the office of Superintendent of schools of Harrison county and the city of Marshall, subject to the action of the citizens' party. I am now engaged in the school room and cannot get out to see my fellow citizens before June. I seek this position on my twenty-two years experience as a school man and ask all who are interested in schools to withhold their judgment and promises until they hear what I have to say on the duties of this important office.

Respectfully, H. T. Littleton.

We are authorized to announce Chesley F. Adams as a candidate for re-election to the office of superintendent of county schools, subject to the action of the Citizens' party.

For County Judge.

We are authorized to announce J. W. Pope as a candidate for County Judge, subject to the action of the Citizens' party.

Challenge Accepted.

To Jno. S. Wilson, Capt. T. & P. Fire Company B. B. Nine.

Sir: I hereby accept your challenge as given in the MESSENGER of yesterday, and will play you at any time, or place, that you may designate.

Very Respectfully,

H. N. BURFORD,

Capt. Machine Shop B. B. Club.

Three trains containing 37 cars, and carrying 2180 people went through, to New Orleans last night for the reunion.

Mr. Jeff N. Miller, was interviewed this morning by a MESSENGER reporter. He said in substance, "We are not beginning any special improvements on the road just now nor can I say when any will be begun."

No. 4, was 3 hours and 50 minutes late this morning, and Nos. 51 and 3 were each 25 minutes late.

Help the Firemen.

The citizens of Marshall will have an opportunity Saturday night to show their appreciation of the firemen, and at the same time spend a pleasant evening, by attending the Alba Heywood entertainment, the last of the season. Remember that it is guaranteed to give entire satisfaction, or the money will be refunded at the door.

Pneumonia and Bronchitis Carry off One-Third of the Human Race.

It is generally known that pneumonia and bronchitis carry off one-third of the human race, but such are the facts, and what is more surprising, both of the above diseases result from neglecting a common ordinary cold. A cough should never be neglected. If it is, every time you catch cold you cough harder, and it sticks to you longer. Ballard's Horehound Syrup is the best remedy in the world for pneumonia, bronchitis and all throat and lung troubles. If you have any throat trouble, call for Ballard's Horehound Syrup and take no other. E. J. Fry agent.

Church Notice.

Rev. R. W. Lewis, State Supt. of Sunday schools for the Synod of Texas, of the Cumberland Presbyterian church, will begin a Sunday School Institute in the Cumberland Presbyterian church on Sunday morning, the 10th inst. Mr. Lewis will preach Sunday morning and evening. He will also lecture to children in the afternoon of Sunday. The Institute will continue for several evenings next week. The public are cordially invited. It is expected to continue the meeting after the Institute is over for several days and evenings. To all of these meetings we invite all who are interested in doing good, or in securing good. W. B. FARR, Pastor.

Happy Hoosier.

Win. Timmons, Postmaster of Itaville, Ind., writes: "Electric Bitters has done more for me than all other medicines combined, for that bad feeling arising from kidney and liver troubles." John Leslie, farmer and stockman of same place, says: "Find Electric Bitters to be the best Kidney and Liver medicine, made me feel like a new man." J. W. Gardner, hardware merchant, same town, says: "Electric Bitters is just the thing for a man who is all run down and don't care whether he lives or dies; he found new strength, good appetite and felt just like he had a new lease on life. Only 50c. a bottle, at E. J. Fry's drug store."

Miss Marietta Seigfried captured everyone by her charming voice, and was compelled to respond to a number of encores.—Wilkesbarre Daily Leader.

Blocker.

Blocker, Texas, April 5, 1892.

On account of the protracted rains our farmers are tardy with their work. Those who planted corn before the freeze will have to replant.

The most popular amusement of the day is fishing on Caddo lake.

Mr. A. B. Blocker has just returned from there with a fine lot of peaches, the reward of his industry. When A. B. goes he always "fetches 'em." The young ladies from Marshall, who have been visiting at Blocker have returned, except Miss Vic McAllister. She will spend another week in our neighborhood.

There has been no racket in town since the ladies left.

Mr. Knighton Dubose passed through here with his young bride a few days since, en route to Buzzard Island where he will locate.

Mr. Willie Baldwin of Ferns has been visiting relatives at Blocker.

John Rogers, of Jonesville, was in town Saturday.

Prof. O. Ferrell will open school at Central Academy on April 6th.

Messrs Edwin Webster and Perry Heard (two of our boys) went to the lake this afternoon. We wish them success.

Mr. Geo. Heard returned from Jefferson to-day.

One of our "firmas" failed in an attempt to commit suicide a few days since, and is quite satisfied with having lost only a part of one finger. "April fool's day has past," snakes are no longer in danger. Doog.

La Grippe Again.

During the epidemic of La Grippe last season Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, proved to be the best remedy. Reports from the many who used it confirm this statement. They were not only quickly relieved, but the disease left no bad after result. We ask you to give this remedy a trial and we guarantee that you will be satisfied with results, or the purchase price will be refunded. It has no equal in La Grippe, or any throat, chest or lung troubles. Trial bottle free at E. J. Fry's drug store. Large bottles, 50c. and $1.00.

EDITOR MESSENGER:

The elements have turned loose. We have had so much rain, that our farmers are sitting back on their dignity waiting for a glimpse of the sun. Capt. J. W. Rodgers is in New Orleans buying his spring and summer stock.

Mrs. F. W. Harris, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Armstrong, left for Marshall Tuesday night.

John Rodgers is in San Antonio.

Will Hinton, of local fame, is still in it.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Britt have returned home.

J. M. Estes made a flying trip to Shreveport Wednesday.

E. Kahn, the cotton king, was in the famous ville Thursday.

J. B. Bell left for Marshall Wednesday.

Robt. S. Estes goes south every Sunday with Abadala in front. Go it Bob, we have all been there.

There will be two or three fishing parties to the lake next week, so Jno. Turner informs us.

All of Jonesville extend congratulations to Hon. W. A. Adair, the new mayor.

The MESSENGER correspondent has been staying indoors nearly all the week, which accounts for so little news this week. Will do better next time.

From Hallville.

Hallville, Texas, April 6, 1892.

No doubt the war of the elements saddens the hearts of the farmers, and with cause; but let us turn the picture and take an optimistic view of the circumstances. Perhaps these copious rains and the untimely snow are more than ordinarily fertilizing, and will supply the soil with just the property needed to produce an abundant harvest. "So more it be."

Last Sunday evening at 8 o'clock at the residence of Mr. D. Sanders, Miss Maude Thorp, his step-daughter, was quietly married to Mr. Murray. Mr. Nat Green performed the ceremony. Only a few intimate friends of the family were present. The bride is quite youthful, while the groom is middle age; but "what matters years, if the heart is still young." Their friends wish them a happy and successful voyage o'er life's tempestuous sea.

The Christian Club will give their first entertainment Friday night, the 15th inst, at the school house. Don't forget "The Old District School." For 25 cts, you receive 50 cts worth of fun and good feeling, and the satisfaction of knowing you've lent a helping hand to a good cause.

Miss Alma Hatley, who is teaching at Woodlawn, spent Saturday and Sunday at home.

Mrs. Rhuford returned to-day from Marshall.

Mr. Pete Roquemore came up on No. 1 Sunday.

Mr. Will Lynch was on a visit to his parents near Hallville Sunday.

Services at the M. E. church last Sunday, and Rev. G. B. Hines is said to have preached a good, helpful sermon.

The Sunday school is reported in a flourishing condition. D. T. E. T.

Ballard's Snow Liniment.

This wonderful liniment is known from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from the Lakes to the Gulf. It is the most penetrating liniment in the world. It will cure rheumatism, neuralgia, sprains, bruises, cuts, wounds, old sores, burns, scalds, sore throat, sore chest and all inflammation, after all others have failed. It will cure barbed wire cuts and heal all wounds where proud flesh has set in. It is equally efficient for animals. Try it and you will not be without it. Price 50 cents. Sold by E. J. Fry.

STATE OF TEXAS,

COUNTY OF HARRISON,

Marshall, Texas, March 28, 1892.

Know all men by these presents that a certain contract made and entered into by and between S. D. Rainey, now deceased party of the first part, and Andrew L. Henderson of said county and state party of the second part, whereby the said Andrew L. Henderson, was to take charge of and manage for the term of three years from date of said contract, all of the cattle belonging to the said Rainey, at or near his farm 8 miles North of Marshall branded diamond nine and marked with an under bit and an upper bit and a crop off each ear, except 10 head reserved by the said Rainey for use on his farm. Be it known that the above mentioned contract is this day cancelled and annulled forever, by mutual consent and Mrs. M. J. Rainey surviving wife of the said S. D. Rainey, Sr., is the sole owner, and has the entire management and control of said cattle.

The county Alliance meets at Hope School House Friday April 8. Mr. Perdue, state lecturer, will speak at 2 p. m. Everybody invited to come and hear him.

So much rainy weather is causing farmers to look blue. They are getting behind with their work.

Miss Julia Capps is very sick.

Mr. T. J. Mosely and family visited Rosborough Springs Sunday.

Miss Katie Mosely is spending a week with her aunt, Mrs. Hensley at Rosborough Springs.

A few nights ago Mr. M. was partly awakened by a noise which he supposed to be in his room. He had an idea that a cat had effected an entrance into his room and was at that moment resting himself in a rocking chair. The room was dark and Mr. M. could not get a match without having to pass by the bewitched cat. This he had no idea of doing, so he called to his son to come and drive the cat out. All this time Mr. M. remained in the bed with the cover over his head. What do you suppose the noise proved to be? Only two chicks a under the house. Mr. M. doubts but was frightened in the least. Then why did he keep the lamp burning for the remainder of the night?—Perhaps it had a quieting influence on his nerves, or maybe he could see to sleep better.

TEXAS LEGISLATURE.

House.

AUSTIN, April 5.—The alien land law bill was taken up.

Gerald read a petition from McLennan county citizens asking that the alien land law be not passed.

Connell's amendment striking out the 640 acres limitation was lost by a vote of 54 to 34.

Brown's amendment to grant the alien equal privileges with citizens when they shall have declared their intention of becoming citizens was adopted.

Final action on the bill will be taken at once.

Senate.

AUSTIN, April 5.—Mr. Searcy offered a resolution to the effect that it is the sense of the senate and legislature that the people of Texas are sufficiently intelligent to elect their commissioners. Adopted by a vote of 10 to 6.

Several senators refused to vote on what they termed a campaign measure. The senatorial apportionment bill was passed.

The congressional apportionment bill was passed.

The governor sent in his appointments for the senate confirmation and asked that should the senate consider that they could not confirm on account of more than ten days having elapsed to consider them reappointed.

Female Stage Robbers.

SALMON CITY, Ida., April 5.—An important arrest of one woman and six girls has been made here on a charge of stage robbery. Numerous holdups of the stage have been made near Harvey's ranch lately. Suspicion was directed to old man Harvey and family and the sheriff set about to trap them. The sheriff with ten men waited in hiding near the place where the robbery usually took place and when the stage arrived there in a short time afterward six bandits stepped out in the road and stopped it, leveling their guns at the driver. The sheriff here came forward and took in the whole gang, which proved to be composed of Harvey's six daughters, who had assumed male attire.

Hard Man to Hang.

JACKSON, Miss., April 5.—Governor Stone has issued a requisition on the governor of Tennessee for the return of L. E. Ford, who has been captured at Chattanooga. Ford was an Illinois Central railroad conductor, who killed City Marshal Clay at McComb last fall with a Winchester. He was tried for murder and sentenced to be hanged about Dec. 1, but his friends dug a hole under the Pike county jail and released him. A reward of $500 goes to Sheriff Bryant of Georgia, who ran him down. It is feared more trouble will occur when he is returned, as all the hands in the big railroad shops at McComb are his friends and ready to help him.

Miss Hall Management Had.

CHICAGO, April 5.—Investigations of the mess hall at Fort Sheridan, Colonel Hoyle, inspector of the general department of Missouri, has begun under orders from General Miles, and devoted the greater part of the day to hearing complaints from men. When he had patiently listened for two hours to the same story from each of forty men of the bad and insufficient food he became convinced that there must be something wrong with the mess hall management.

BOURKE DEFENDED.

THE WAR DEPARTMENT GIVES HIM A GOOD SEND-OFF.

The Morgan Resolutions Did Not Have Much Effect on the Senate—The House Passes the Chinese Exclusion Bill—Free Wool Still On.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—In response to the newspaper clippings filed with the war department by Mr. Crain in regard to the charges against Captain Bourke, that he was guilty of outrages on Texas citizens when in pursuit of Garza, the war department writes Mr. Crain as follows:

WAR DEPARTMENT, Washington, April 5.—Sir: I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 9th ultimo, inclosing one from T. L. Sumner of San Antonio, with newspaper clippings relative to the conduct of United States officers and troops in pursuit of Garza and asking an investigation into the matter. It appears from the report of the commanding general of the department of Texas, to whom the papers were referred, that the complaints mentioned in newspaper articles are not American citizens but acknowledged citizens of Mexico; that they formed essential parts of the Garza revolution. It appears also that on the very occasion upon which they make affidavits of violence toward them on the part of Captain Bourke, one of the officers complained of that Garza was trailed from their vicinity and narrowly escaped capture by the troops in pursuit of him. General Stanley remarks that the complainants are now under bonds to appear before the United States court to answer charges made against them for aiding and abetting the revolutionary troubles on the border and it is his opinion that the court is the proper place to bring out all the facts in the case. In this opinion the major general of the army concurs, remarking that after all the facts in the case are brought out it will be seen whether the conduct of any officer of the army has been such as to require military action, Yours very respectfully.

L. F. GRANT,

Assistant Secretary of war.

In the superior court the case of the Red River cattle company et al., plaintiff in error, vs. Alfred Schully was affirmed, with costs and interest. In the same court the case of Eugene Logan et al. vs. the United States was reversed and remanded. Both of these cases were from the district court for the Northern district of Texas. In the latter case the court held that the lower court erred in admitting the declarations of admissions of one of the conspirators against his co-conspirators after the object of the conspirators had been accomplished and the conspirators had deposed. The case grew out of the attempt to mob the Marlow brothers, near Graham.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—The expectation of an interesting discussion of the silver question, based upon Mr. Morgan's resolution instructing the committee of finance to examine and report upon several phases of the subject, seemed to have no particularly attractive power upon the general public, for the galleries, had less than the usual number of spectators when the session of the day began. There was a fair attendance of senators but Mr. Morgan's seat was unoccupied. The famous McArraham claim had made its regular reappearance in the senate in the shape of a bill reported by Mr. Teller from the committee to submit to the court of claims the title of McArraham to the grant of land so long claimed by him. It was placed on the calendar. The vice president having laid before the senate Mr. Morgan's silver reports that senator expressed his willingness to let them go over until tomorrow so as not to stand in the way of the Indian appropriation bill, on condition, however, that he should be allowed to call them up tomorrow and to address the senate.

Mr. Sherman remarked that under the rules of the senate the senator might call up his resolution and then discuss it, but that when the discussion was interrupted at 2 o'clock the resolution would have to go on the calendar and could then only be taken up on motion. That was the rule and if the senator from Alabama asked that by unanimous consent the resolution could stand in the way of other morning business for seeing if any senator desired to speak on the prolific topic of silver, he had respectfully objected.

Mr. Morgan—I most respectfully object to your taking me off the floor so as to get your bill before the senate. [A bill which Mr. Sherman had asked to have taken from the calendar and acted on for a uniform standard of classification and grading of wheat, corn, barley and rye.]

Mr. Sherman—The bill which I asked the senate to take up is one to which there is no objection.

Mr. Stewart—I object to your cutting off the discussion on the silver question. Mr. Dawes—I do not desire to stand in the way of the universal courtesy of the senate, therefore if the gentleman from Alabama desires to go on with the discussion of his resolution, I will not interpose the Indian appropriation bill. Mr. Morgan thereupon took the floor and addressed the senate, but yielded to Mr. Wolcott, who gave notice that he would address the senate on the silver question on Wednesday and to Mr. Gailinger, who gave notice that he would address the senate briefly on Monday next on the joint resolution for a commission to select a site for the establishment of a national sanitarium for primary diseases.

House.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—The house has passed the Chinese exclusion bill by a vote of, yeas—170; nays—42.

The house went into a committee of the whole on the free wool bill. It was agreed unanimously that Mr. Springer who has been so seriously ill, should have all the time he desired to close debate. Entering the hall, Mr. Springer ascended to the speaker's chair and was warmly greeted by Chairman Blount, the house bursting into great applause. Conducted by Mr. Bryan of Nebraska he stood, his hand behind a mass of flowers which kind friends had placed upon his desk, and Mr. Bryan proceeded to read the speech of the distinguished chairman of the ways and means committee.

Justice Lamar's Condition Unfavorable.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—The condition of Justice Lamar gives his friends much uneasiness. In fact there is little prospect of his ever being seen on the bench again. His health has been wretched for more than a year, and it now seems that a complication of kidney and liver troubles makes the chances of his recovery exceedingly slender. He has been an extremely hard worker, his experience before his elevation to the bench was not of the kind that makes his new work easy, and his ambition hold his own in the work before the court led him to extremely hard work which has told greatly on him, probably with fatal results.

FESTIVE GALER.

He Tried to Go All the Galts at Friend's House.

NEW YORK, April 5.—A prepossessing woman giving the name of Mary Finn appeared in the Lee avenue police court in Brooklyn and made "a serious charge" against James Galer of the firm of Gal Bros. Mrs. Finn is housekeeper for Mrs. D. S. Yoeman. She is 30 years of age and considered a handsome woman. Mr. Galer is a friend of Mrs. Yoeman. In her complaint Mrs. Finn said that Galer called at Mrs. Yoeman's during that lady's absence. When he had learned that Mrs. Yoeman was not home, Galer, Miss Finn averred, begged to take liberties with her. He caught hold of her and attempted to kiss her. This occurred in the basement where both were at the time. Miss Finn struggled to get away from her gray-haired tormentor, but the more she struggled the more persistent he became. He held her until he succeeded in kissing her. He did not stop at one kiss, however, according to her statement, but held her arms while he implanted a dozen osculations on her face. He did this, Miss Finn declared, against her will. When he had accomplished this he placed his arms about her waist and squeezed her tightly. She did not like that, either, and not only told him so, but struggled to get away from him. His subsequent actions were of such a nature, she went on, that she became alarmed and screamed at the top of her voice. He screamed brought Mrs. Yoeman's niece down stairs. The niece had been in the upper part of the house and had no idea as to what was going on downstairs until she heard the housekeeper scream. When the niece reached the basement she told the justice what it came to turn—Galer was about to leap out of the door. He seemed much agitated, she said, and admitted to her that he had been a bit rude with Miss Finn. He attempted to excuse his conduct, so the niece said, by saying he had forgotten himself. She thought he had. So did Mrs. Yoeman when she came home and heard what had occurred. Three women said they had always considered Galer a perfect gentleman. He is 40 years old and married. He was held for examination on a charge of assault on April 8. His brother Ebenezer went to bond.

Killed Her Husband.

BELTON, Tex., April 5.—News was received here of a horrible tragedy committed near Killen. The facts as reported are that Z. E. Pickering and his wife Ella, had not been living happily together for some time and had separated more than once last fall. She brought suit for divorce, but the case was continued at the last term of court. A short time since they made up and lived together again. They had a child, which is small. Mrs. Pickering got up early and while her husband was still asleep in bed, procured a heavy piece of iron and struck him on the head with it. In all, she hit him eleven times and beat his head almost to a jelly. It is supposed he never woke up. She was arrested shortly after the killing and had an examining trial at Killen. She was refused bail and was brought here and jailed. She is about 25 years old and rather good looking. She is not deny killing her husband, but has not yet stated her reasons for doing so. The first time in the history of this country where a man was killed by his wife.

There will be a state convention of prohibitionists held in Waco on Tuesday, April 26th.

The Greenville Banner says: "It is said that Mayor Fulton, of Galveston, is running for governor."

In his message Gov. Hogg states plainly that there is more common sense in diversifying crops and planting less cotton than charging the low prices of cotton to the state administration.

W. A. Adair, of the Marshall Messenger, has been elected in the primaries of that city as mayor, but we hope that he will not get too high toned in consequence to associate with the press gang.—Greenville Banner.

Never, brother, never! The council has agreed to let us off for this press meetings, and we hope to be there with usual regularity.

"Turn Fort Worth loose" by patronizing her newspapers. There is no wisdom in starving the watch dogs.—Fort Worth Mail.

The MESSENGER has no complaint to make, but the above is such good advice we could not help reproducing it. There are a great many business men in Marshall who could improve their business and help their town by advertising.

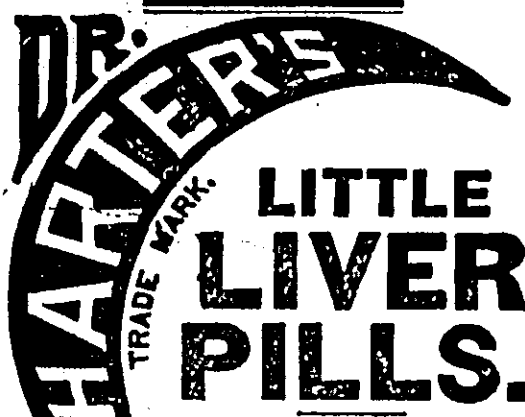

Houston Gets the Convention.

The Democratic State Executive Committee met yesterday in Dallas at 8 p. m., in the Windsor hotel. Houston was selected as the place where the convention will be held on the first ballot, the vote standing: Houston 14, Galveston 10, Austin 2.

When the members of the house of the state legislature voted down the resolution inviting Hill to Texas, it raised itself in the estimation of the people even more than they know. The action shows that they, as the peoples representatives, do not propose to become the tool of any politician or clique of politicians. Tammany is getting into unfriendly grazing land when it invades Texas.—Fort Worth Mail.

The New York Press club has set a good example, in the case of the reporter who lost his life investigating the typhoid fever hospital—instead of erecting a monument to his memory, the club has paid off the mortgage on his home. The Chicago Times, alluding to the circumstance, says:

"Common sense were as infectious as typhus there might be fewer ungrateful monuments in the country, but there would not be nearly so many starving widows of famous men."

Pneumonia and Bronchitis Carry off One-Third of the Human Race.

It is generally known that pneumonia and bronchitis carry off one-third of the human race, but such drive the facts, and what is more surprising, both of the above diseases are the result of neglecting a common or ordinary cold. A cough should never be neglected. If it is, every time you catch cold you could harder, and it sticks to you longer. Hogg and the Commission.

AUSTIN, TEX., April 1st, 1892.

It is claimed by those who want the present commission law amended that it is too severe in its provisions, and clothes the commission with the power to confiscate and wreck the roads. That is the argument of Judge Clark, who, in his Weatherford speech, characterized the law as a "monstrosity." The law, they say, is too severe, and will not work satisfactorily. How do they know it won't give satisfaction? The law has been in operation, and that only in part, about six months or less, and has had no time to demonstrate its virtues or its failings; not, at least, to the extent of warranting any such positive conclusions as its enemies have arrived at. It is not yet fully on trial, only a portion of its power being applied to the regulation of the roads and the establishment of freight rates. The commission has proceeded with great caution in putting the law into effect, and has fixed freight rates on only a few of the leading commodities, such as grain of all kinds, flour, meal, etc., cotton and cotton seed, lumber, coal, salt, lime, plaster and cement, brick and sand. It is now about to issue a schedule of freight rates on live stock.

When the commission organized, the first thing it did was to issue a circular requiring the roads to make no change in existing rates, neither to raise or lower them, without its authority. This order took from the roads the power to increase rates on certain lines of freight in order to meet the commission's reductions in other lines. Whatever changes in rates have been since made by the roads were by special permission of the commission, at the request of a particular road or roads, and have been in every instance reductions. The commission has not fixed, as yet, any schedule of rates on general merchandise, which comprehends a great number and variety of articles—about 4,000—but is now, and has been for some time, busy in the preparation of that particular classification and tariff, which will be issued as an entirety probably in the course of a month or two. The preparation of such a schedule, comprehending so many articles of merchandise, calls for a great deal of work and corresponding care, and can not, of course, be dashed off in a day or a week, like a commodity tariff on grain, salt or coal.

Kidnapped?

The Times heard on Tuesday evening that the rumored kidnapping case at Marshall, Tex., but as there was nothing definite to be learned regarding it, very properly and justly refrained from publishing the rumor, that possibly might forever blot the reputation of an honorable man or cast an immovable shadow on the life of an innocent and helpless girl. In cases of this kind the Times cannot afford to jump at conclusions, and publish insinuations or idle rumors, probably set afloat by wagging tongues in the mouths of evil-disposed persons who, apparently, do not realize that their wicked and vicious chatter may destroy that which is dearer than even life itself to man and woman character.

When the Times publishes items involving the honor of men and the chastity of women it must be able to give time, place, circumstances—not rumors and insinuations. And, even with all the particulars at hand it would deliberate long and seriously before giving them that publicity which would forever destroy the good names of the parties vitally interested. It is often a serious question whether communities are not more injured than benefited by holding up to public view sordid details disgusting to refined natures, but oftentimes poisonous to those weaker minds which feed upon them.—Shreveport Times.

The MESSENGER spent fully two hours in collecting data in this case, and succeeded in obtaining every fact known in this city concerning it. These were withheld from publication for exactly the reason given by the Times, and in discussing the matter on the streets we expressed almost identically the same opinion regarding its publication that the Times here gives, and it is indeed gratifying to note such a concurrence with our sentiments on the part of a paper of the Times' known standing.

There are sections of the Commission law and especially section 6, about which the loud complaints are being heard. And these are the very sections without which the law would be a mere farce, a hollow mockery. A commission that has not power to make rates and compel the execution of its orders is nothing but an ornamental and useless piece of furniture. It should have power to say what shall be the duty of the roads. If they object, let them go into court and prove that they are not getting justice. That is precisely what the Texas law does. The courts are wide open to the railroads to make complaint whenever the commission mistreats them. They have their remedy at law, and able lawyers to defend them, while the people had not under the old system, when every shipper was left to fight his own battles in the courts with the railroads. The commission now stands between the people and the roads, and taking the burden of proof from the former, shifts it to the roads, which must carry on the struggle for justice with the State instead of with every helpless individual whom they may choose to oppress.

Please Stick to Facts.

It has ever been the policy of the MESSENGER to avoid needless controversies, and this policy has been misconstrued by some. When it has been necessary the MESSENGER has always maintained its principles, and its editor will continue to do so both in and out of his columns.

The Star of to-day has this paragraph:

"The editor of the Messenger endorsed the action of W. C. Connor, of Dallas, who, after his name had been placed before the democratic convention of Dallas, and a warm friend had pledged his right arm that Connor would abide the result of the convention, bolted said nomination, ran as an independent, and was elected. Wonder what the editor of the Messenger thinks of bolting now, since he is the nominee?"

The editor of the MESSENGER thinks that the above is without foundation or fact; and desires to say that he did not endorse the action of Mr. Connor in bolting.

Interest in the Dallas election was so great in Marshall that we went up on election day expressly to report same, and did so, sending three reports to our paper during the day. We reported facts—not one man's views or the utterances of hired politicians—we made no comment in these reports.

So much was said and published concerning the election that was wide of the truth, that two or three weeks later, we had an editorial on "The Dallas Election." In this article we said:

"We shall not attempt to justify Mr. Connor in running against the Democratic nominee, but will report what we saw and heard."

The article then gave the facts and showed that the nomination of Geo. Cole was a mistake, and that a majority of every class of people in Dallas voted for Connor. We maintained the same position on the streets, and may have given "Connor's reasons" for running, but never once endorsed his action.

Will the Star please publish our denial, since it has sent out to the world that we endorsed a bolter.

There She Goes Again.

Every time she opens her mouth about the MESSENGER she puts her foot in it.

The Star to-day jumps on our city editor for editorial comment in the MESSENGER. True the "make-up" of the MESSENGER is such that the line between "local" and "editorial" is not very clearly drawn, but it is exactly the same as the Star, and the editor of that paper, it seems, ought to know the difference between editorial comment and local news.

In regard to our comment being "evidently a slap at the Star," will the Star be so kind as to take into consideration in the matter—the comment was in exact line with the policy pursued by the MESSENGER during the past seven years, and was an advertisement of that policy. When the MESSENGER slaps at the Star or anything else, it will use names, and not deal in insinuations.

Now for the facts. The city editor gathered all the information attainable in this case, even at the great risk and heinous offense of arousing Mr. Fraley from his slumbers, (and of trying to arouse Mr. Powell) and laid them on our desk. We had also investigated the matter a little, and putting everything together, construed the result of some hours work to the waste basket for the reasons given.

In conversations with Messrs. R. W. Thompson, Jr., Oscar Johnson, H. Lewis, J. J. Johnson (that we can now recall), we expressed identically the views published in the Shreveport Times and when that article came under our observation it was with real pleasure that we noted the concurrence with our views, and quite naturally reproduced it, and dictated the comment to which the Star takes exception.

In reference to what our city editor said to Mr. Fraley, and that gentleman's rebuke to him these are the facts:

"Mr. Blocker called at Mr. Fraley's house. That gentleman stuck his head out of the door, and Mr. Blocker apologized for disturbing him, and he said 'oh, that's all right,' and told him what he knew, and Mr. B. left. That night, in the drug store, Mr. Fraley asked Mr. Blocker why he had not published the item, after waking him up to get it. Mr. B. replied: 'For the reason the facts show one of two things—the girl is either an innocent school girl, or a—'

Chit Chat from Dixie Vixen.

Latex and Longwood, April 1st, 1892.

When April's tender cheeks first glow, With the warm kisses of the sun, Its fond caress the fair wood shun, Yet with a maiden's witching wiles, Looks upward through her tears and smiles.

"Oh, these blowy days," a nice little fellow exclaimed the other day, and I agree with him in regard to the "blowy" part. We will be glad indeed to bid the fierce winds of reckless March goodbye for the gentle zephyrs of April. But if we believe, as the fable tells us, we'll have another ten days of the blowy weather that April borrowed to kill the old woman's cow. Though I've often asked—who the old woman was, I've never yet been quite satisfied on the subject.

Fables always make my thoughts go back to that time in my life when fairies and "Brownies" had a great attraction for me, and I trust you'll not think me childish if I say I'm just a wee bit partial to them in my maturer years.

The Picayune tells us about the recent meeting of Pearl Rivers, the mother of the Popcorn People, Nut Folks, etc., and Mr. Palmer Cox, the father of those quaint little goggle-eyed people, the "Brownies." Pearl Rivers sent Mr. Cox some Indian baskets woven in her home forest, and that brought Mr. Cox to her door. The story goes that he staid all day, making Brownies for his sister poet's little boys, and getting acquainted with the Flower Folk and Pobble People, whose faces, however, have not as yet appeared in print. Presumably when this lady and gentleman come in each other's ways again, their ambassadors will be on the one side a "Dude Brownie," and on the other "Don Almond, a cavalier from Spain."

So many people are under the impression that all literary women are impractical, but, though perhaps I'm not competent, my ideas are far different.

Men as a general rule, condemn the "blue bottle" woman, but it is Mrs. Frank Leslie says, they condemn what they, with their clumbersome masculine perceptibilities fail to understand.

A woman naturally longs for a voice beyond the walls of her own home, though when gained she need not neglect the duties of that home, nor should she devote more time to the work that she has given herself, than that which God has given her.

Woman in her own way, with the use of her brains has accomplished wonderful things. In truth, we have had no woman Shakespeare, nor ever so great a novelist as Thackeray or Eugene Sue, but haven't there been books written by women that have accomplished as much good as those written by our most brilliant men? Look what Harriet Beecher Stowe accomplished for the negro in the writing of "Uncle Tom's Cabin." By means of her pen Francis Hodgson Burnett defrayed her husband's college expenses while he was studying to become an oculist. But as regards the home, where will you find such noted wives and mothers as Marian Harland, Mary Mapes Dodge and Kate Upton Clark were said to have been. Marian Harland's heroines are always model wives. Remember in "True as Steel's" "Queenie," for instance, can there be a better character.

"Thy spirit, Independence, let me share, Lord of the lion heart, and eagle eye, Thy steps I follow with my bosom bare, Nor heed the storms that howl across the sky."

The Latex base ball club was organized a short time since with the following members:

Messrs W. P. Blocker, Floyd Britt, A. B. Blocker, Jr., J. W. Hearne, F. M. Hearne, Jr., S. E. Waskom, J. L. Waskom, T. M. Hart, W. C. Winston, Sam Pitman, P. D. Bridges, T. W. Elgin, Mayson Boynton, Lee Boynton, Guss Boynton, W. B. Burch, C. C. Jackson, Walter Boynton, J. T. Winston and Caesar Wright. Captain W. P. Blocker and W. C. Winston vmpire, first catcher J. W. Hearne, second T. W. Elgin, first pitcher Mason Boynton, second S. E. Waskom. They devoted their first day this year to training.

Mrs. Mary Steel Blocker, of Blocker and Misses Vic McAllister and Fannie Blocker, of Marshall, and also Mr. Allice Blocker are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Capt. Blocker. The young ladies attended the play of the club in the evening, after which they returned home happy, and very much elated with the pleasures of the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom H. Hearne are visiting Mr. F. M. Hearne, Sr.

Mr. M. L. Puckett is going to be a bachelor at the Harris place and wants his lady friends to donate a hen and chickens to start him in the poultry business. Messrs. Harris and Winston will have a good representative on their place.

Later: Mrs. Tom Hearne wishes me to tell Mr. Puckett, that she will send him a nice young drake, one about ten years old.

Mr. J. W. Hearne took Misses Mary and Fannie Blocker rabbit-hunting during the snow and succeeded in making spoils of twenty-four bunnies. Quite a good "lay out" for amateur rabbit hunters.

Miss Morning, of Terrell, is here visiting relatives.

Messrs. Walker and Ashley Elliott were in town yesterday.

Farmers are behind with their farming on account of the bad weather, though some have pretty good stands of corn. Not many of the farmers are planting cotton and those that are, very moderately.

The country has been in quite a stir for the past week over the election for governor.

Not tough, leathery, pale, dyspeptic pie crust, made with hog lard, but crisp, brown, flaky Pie, made from sweet, healthful, digestible

Cottolene

All pastry and pie crust made with Cottolene is warranted anti-dyspeptic, and may safely be eaten by the most delicate persons.

4 REASONS

- 1st. Cottolene is the purest of all cooking fats, and recommended by all experienced cooks and bakers.
- 2d. Cottolene is the healthiest of all cooking fats, and recommended by all eminent physicians.
- 3d. Cottolene costs no more per pound than lard, and much less than butter, and is better than either for all cooking.
- 4th. One pound of Cottolene is equal in shortening to two pounds of lard or butter, so half the money is saved.

A Mute Recovers Speech.

Alphonse Hemphill, of Summit township, Butler Co., Penna., made an affidavit that his twelve-year-old son, who had St. Vitus Dance for twelve years, lost his speech, was completely cured after using three bottles of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, and also recovered his speech. Thousands testify to wonderful cures from using it for nervous diseases, dyspepsia, nervous debility, dullness, confusion of mind, headache, etc. Four doses of this Nervine cured Mrs. W. E. THE NEW ADMINISTRATION.

Hold a Caucus and Map out a Policy.

Nothing "Secret" About It.

As agreed by the newly elected city council, a caucus was held at firemen's hall last night, for the purpose of conferring together and deciding, if possible, upon a line of policy to be pursued during the coming municipal year. The mayor elect was invited to be present, and was there, though late arriving.

Mr. Dempsey was elected chairman, with privilege of the floor. The first business of the caucus was to agree that they would restore the street tax to what it had formerly been—$3.00 or five days work.

Decided, that the marshal and one policeman having once taken care of the city, that the marshal and two policemen could do it now.

Moved by Hopkins that the positions of water commissioner and street commissioner be consolidated, and one man perform the duties of both at a salary of $100.

Carter moved to lay on the table, but to get a vote on the motion withdrew his motion to table, and there was a tie on Hopkins' motion. The mayor having no vote in the caucus the question remained unsettled.

Carter moved that water commissioner be required to collect the street tax and that his salary be put at $50.00. Dempsey offered an amendment putting salary at $40.00, but received no second. Carter's motion carried 5 to 1.

Motion that street commissioner be also required to see to the care of the city mules, if the city decided to build a stable, and that he be paid $50 a month. Dempsey offered an amendment placing the salary at $40, but received no second. Motion carried 5 to 1.

Agreed that the city would not employ city attorneys at present, and that when the services of an attorney were needed the mayor should consult with some of the aldermen, and if agreeable employ counsel.

Motion by Carter to reduce the salary of water works engineer to $80. Van Hook objected, saying the position was one of responsibility, and there would be no economy in cutting in this department. Dempsey concurred with Van Hook, and Carter withdrew the motion.

Van Hook proposed to drop the engineer and fireman of the fire engine, and said that Mr. Herndon had said he would still take care of the engine and run it when necessary; that city build a stable back of engine house, large enough to shelter the four mules, and if possible buy two horses to be used exclusively by the fire department, and that a man be hired to stay there and feed and attend to all city stock, and drive the hose cart. Agreed.

Carter suggested that as the time of all appointed officers and employees of the city expired upon the inauguration of the new administration, it would be well to come to some understanding as to how the various places would be filled, and that if the council was going to allow the mayor to exercise his constitutional right to nominate all appointive officers, it might be well to give him notice, that he could be prepared.

Van Hook said this had never been done here, and he believed in letting every applicant put his petition before the council.

The Mayor elect stated that he neither quoted responsibility nor would he shrink it; that he had the right to fill all appointive offices, to be approved or disapproved by the council, but if the council desired to follow the heretofore custom and make these appointments, he had no objections, but wanted it understood that the mayor had that authority if he saw proper to exercise it.

What is Scrofula

It is that impurity in the blood, which, accumulating in the glands of the neck, produces unsightly lumps or swellings; which causes painful running sores on the arms, legs, or feet; which develops ulcers in the nose, ears, or nose, often causing blindness or deafness; which is the origin of pimples, cancerous growths, or many other manifestations usually ascribed to "humors." It is a more formidable enemy than consumption or cancer alone, for scrofula combines the worst possible features of both. Being the most ancient, it is the most general of all diseases or afflictions, for very few persons are entirely free from it.

How can it be cured? By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by the cures it has accomplished, often when other medicines have failed, has proven itself to be a potent and peculiar medicine for this disease. For all affections of the blood, Hood's Sarsaparilla is unequalled, and some of the cures it has effected are really wonderful. If you suffer from scrofula in any of its various forms, be sure to give Hood's Sarsaparilla a trial.

Answers and Corrections.

From the Stars long article we deem it "meat" and proper to notice the following:

Adair did not desire the responsibility, but continued to talk in a way to make the caucus think it would be the proper thing to do to confer this patronage and power on him.—Star.

Adair told the council in plain English that he had these right though was willing to concede them to the council. No motion or action was taken.

"Carter wanted men appointed who would agree with the men over them. Did not want a water commissioner who was not agreeable to the mayor. [Heaps the mayor has to do with this official. But, Maj. McAllister dared run for mayor.]—Star.

The mayor has so much to do with this official that he will see that whoever he appoints and the council confirms, will do his duty or resign. The reference to Maj. McAllister is an injustice to that gentleman, and the insinuation without foundation.

Archbell said something about why elect chief if he has no power over police. Others seemed to think he had said something very witty, or tried to make him think so, as they laughed heartily.—Star.

Mr. Archbell said the chief should be the head of the police department.—Just what the Star has always advocated. The something "witty," he said, which the Star reporter could not catch, as Mr. A. sat furthest from the stairs; was that the policemen could come on duty when they pleased, and that if the chief should ask one what time he came on he would probably receive the answer that "It is none of your business." There was nothing witty in the remark, but it was so nearly the truth that it provoked a laugh.

In reference to the misconduct of policemen:

Adair—Yes the mayor should investigate and dismiss them promptly. [On what meat doth this, our Caesar feed, that he hath grown so great?]

Adair said, "Gentlemen, the council will not be called together very often for that purpose. If there is any misconduct on the part of a policeman, the mayor will investigate the matter promptly, and if the circumstances justify, will suspend him until the council meets, when they can confirm that action or re-instate the policeman"—this was the substance of what the mayor elect said upon this subject.

On what meat doth this, our Caesar feed, that he hath grown so great?—Star.

Upon what meat? Why upon the meat of 397 votes—an even hundred more than any other man received—think ye not, my Lord, that this is good and wholesome meat?

A MESSENGER reporter interviewed to-day the oldest and perhaps the most interesting man in the T. & P. shops. He is a pattern-maker, and has been in the employ of the T. & P. at the shops in this city for three years. His name is Chas. Green. Mr. Green was born at Gt. Falls, New Hampshire, Oct. 20th, 1820. He first worked in a factory in that town when a small boy, and has been handling tools and machinery ever since. He remembers quite well when planing machines, matching machines, friction matches, steel pens, and countless other modern necessities were undreamed of; but says he is good for a good long time yet.

B. E. Mosler, Road Master, came in on No. 1.

Ben Flaxman was laid off yesterday.

Chas. Miller resigned his position in the shops yesterday, and leaves soon for Mexico.

Dan Belford, of the boiler making department quit yesterday.

Ed Terry, who has been laying off for some time on account of a sore finger, went to work to-day.

Jas. McNamare resumed work this morning.

Painful Accident.

This morning while Mr. W. G. Mason and his son were engaged in erecting a platform, a long bladed knife fell from quite a height and striking Mr. Mason, Sr., just above the knee entered and inflicted a very painful though not a dangerous wound.

The injured man was taken to the hospital. He fainted on the way, but when last heard from was doing well.

A Challenge.

To the captain of the Boiler Shop B. B. Nine, the captain of the Machine Shop Nine, or the captain of the Counter Hoppers Nine:

The undersigned, captain of the T. & P. Fire Company B. B. Nine, does hereby challenge each and all of you to play a match game of ball with the above club on the day of the firemen's picnic. If all accept, I will play one in the morning, and two in the evening.

Yours respectfully,

JNO. S. WILSON,

Capt. T. & P. Fire Co. Nine No. 1. Engine No. 161 will leave the back shop this evening, after a thorough overhauling.

Engine No. 181, which was derailed and thrown into a gravel pit on the T. C. division, goes in the shops to-day for repairs. The engine is almost a complete wreck.

Engine No. 36 has just received an overhauling in the round house and a coat of paint. She looks as good as new in her new dress. She will be put on the cannon ball at once.

The shop boys have a bad case of base ball fever. They play all dinner hour.

From Tuesday's Daily.

The ladies of Marshall and vicinity are urgently requested to be present at the meeting of officers and committees of the Columbian club, at Y. M. C. A. hall, Wednesday afternoon, 4 o'clock, March 6th.

The Picnic,

We Must and Will Have It.

A committee of firemen are now canvassing the city for cash subscriptions for the annual picnic. We trust that every citizen of this town is fully aware of the amount of good which results from these picnics to the city and to every body in it. We will, therefore, not dwell upon this point, but will limit ourselves to saying in this connection, that the picnic dates, metaphorically, from the year one, and we have, only under the most adverse circumstances, failed to have it at the usual time. These facts alone are a sufficient reason for the continuance of the custom, for had it not proven an advantage one, it would long since have been discontinued.

A concert will be given at the opera house, Saturday evening, April 9th, by the Alba Heywood company for the benefit of the fire department, the proceeds to be used for defraying the expenses of the picnic.

The Alba Heywood company in their contract specify, that in the event of their failing to give entire satisfaction, they will not receive a cent of the receipts from the sale of tickets, but the entire amount will be turned over to the fire department. Thus, no one, who ever goes in to a theatre, has any valid excuse for not going to the Alba Heywood performance.

A committee of firemen will meet on Tuesday following the concert, and if a sufficient amount of funds then be on hand and subscribed preparations for the picnic will at once begin.

The fire companies save Marshall thousands of dollars annually in premiums on insurance policies, they have earned their holiday, and our people should see that they have it.

It is the duty of every one, who is interested in the welfare of the city, to contribute something.

A. Q. CLARK DEAD.

Mr. A. Q. Clark died at his residence on South Grove street at 9:55 this morning, after three months' almost constant confinement to his bed with kidney trouble. He was conscious up to the last moment, though his suffering was intense. At no time during his illness did he show any fear of death, yet he knew that it was slowly approaching.

Alexander Quay Clark was born at Catline, Ayrshire, Scotland, on March 20th, 1817. Was married in Newberry, S. C., on April 10, 1849, to Miss A. E. Lyons. They moved to Texas in 1859, and have resided in Marshall ever since. Mr. Clark leaves a loving, devoted wife and three sons to mourn his loss. She who for forty-three years has been his constant companion in sickness and in health, sat by his side throughout the long hours of the night, holding and caressing his hand, and was at her post when the great summons came.

Mr. Clark was a good man, an excellent citizen. For several years after the war he had charge of the county and district clerk's office being deputy for Mr. E. Blackwell, who resided in the country. He was also honored with the custody of the city's money, as treasurer, four years, and until the duties of that office were imposed upon the secretary. He was more than three score years and ten, and died in the full enjoyment of the respect and confidence of all who knew him. He will be buried at Greenwood cemetery at 2 o'clock to-morrow afternoon, by the Masons and Odd Fellows, of which orders he was a member. Funeral services at the Presbyterian church. [Newberry, Union and York, S. C., papers please copy.]

The City Election.

As a matter of news, both at home and abroad, the city election came off to-day, and the full ticket elected, by a light vote, as there was no opposition. The ticket read: W. A. Adair, mayor; W. B. Archbell, alderman for ward one; I. E. Etchison, ward two; J. H. Carter, ward three.

A TEXAS CYCLONE.

IT LITERALLY TEARS UP THE EARTH IN SOME PLACES.

Its Path Was Over One Hundred Feet Wide.—It Was Funnel-Shaped and Looked Just Like a Picture of a Water-Spout—Houses Demolished.

St. Jo, April 5.—A bounding cyclone passed two miles east of this place. The country through which it passed was an open prairie and but little damage was done so far as heard. J. M. Browder had a dwelling completely destroyed. Its path was not over 100 feet wide. It passed due north and it is thought that great damage has been done the thickly settled country between here and Red river. It could be plainly seen from town and many people witnessed the sight. It was funnel-shaped and looked just like the picture of water spout. The very rocks were plowed up in its course.

Houses Wrecked and Inmates Injured.

GAINEVILLE, April 5.—A terrible tornado passed over this city from south-west to northeast. It broke loose and in three minutes a path 75 yards wide across the southeast part of the city was strewn with debris of demolished houses and furniture. About a dozen houses were demolished, while scores of them were badly damaged.

Mrs. Pat Lanfus was injured by flying timbers. Her home was literally leveled to the earth.

Jim Rose's house was also wrecked. In it were his wife and three children, none of whom escaped without serious injuries. A 10-year old son had his collar bone broken in two places, besides receiving internal injuries, from which he is now lying very ill.

A heavy timber struck Jim Phipps' house, going through both walls without injuring any one.

The fair grounds were badly wrecked the grand stand and the stalls being almost torn to pieces by the wind.

The path of the storm in this city is about two miles long and seventy-five yards wide. Meager reports from the country indicate damage equally as great as in the city. The extent of the damage cannot now be estimated, but it will exceed $10,000 in this city.

Five Houses and Iron Bridge.

WHITESBORO, April 5.—A terrible wind storm passed over this city doing considerable damage. The force of the storm was most felt four miles north of here. The immense iron bridge over Mineral stream was blown from its foundation and five houses were totally destroyed, injuring several persons, but none of them seriously.

Dwelling, Barns and Granaries.

BELLEVUE, April 5.—A storm from the south west struck this town and destroyed a great deal property.

H. T. Griffin's house was blown away—nothing left to tell where the house stood save the foundation.

The section house of the Fort Worth and Denver railway was badly injured. The whole front is gone.

Mr. Steadman's house was lifted from the foundation.

L. R. Terrell's house was lifted and carried about five feet.

The barns of Dr. Ball and J. W. Wiley were blown down.

The houses of J. J. Walker, Mr. Banknight, Mrs. Welch and Mrs. Murphy were taken off their foundations.

Henry Griffin had his shoulder hurt quite badly. He was the only one hurt. The child and bed of Jack Walker were blown about fifty yards, the child remaining on the bed. Two sleepers fell on the bed, but did not hurt the child.

After the storm it rained and hailed. Some of the stones were half as large as hen eggs. The ground was almost covered.

W. T. Wilson, who lives two and a half miles southwest of here, says his barn and granary are total wrecks. The timbers are scattered over the prairie.

Residence Blown Down.

SHERMAN, April 5.—Reports have reached the city of a very severe wind storm which swept over the northwestern part of the county, barely missing Whitesboro.

On Mineral creek a residence was blown down and the entire family injured more or less, but none fatally so far as heard from.

Eva Hamilton's Child.

NEW YORK, April 5.—An attempt was made to abduct Irene Kelly, a little girl of 13 years, who, has been living for some weeks with Mrs. Keogh, at 204 South Fifth avenue. Irene ran frightened into the house and said her mother was trying to steal her. Neighbors saw a veiled woman chase the child for a block and then disappear. Mrs. Keogh, who knows nothing of the child's history, turned her over to the Gerty society, from which she took her early in March.

The child says her real name is Irene Hamilton, and that her mother is Eva Hamilton. She is too young to know whether her mother is the woman who claims to be Robert Ray Hamilton's widow, but her description of her mother tallies with that of the alleged widow exactly. Agent Dubert is trying to locate Eva Hamilton. She was last heard of in Washington. The child says her mother is in good circumstances, and that she has been living in different families ever since she can remember, her mother visiting her at stated intervals and bringing her clothing and other necessary articles. About two years ago she lost track of the woman she had grown to know as her mother.

Killed by a Cat's Scratch.

LANCASTER, Pa., April 5.—John Baker, ex-recorder of the county and alderman of this city, died from blood poisoning, resulting from the scratch of a pet cat received two weeks ago.

MINISTER PAT EGAN.

HE HAS LEAVE OF ABSENCE TO VISIT UNITED STATES.

An Amendment to Morgan's Resolution—Republicans of the House Resort to Filibustering on Free Wool Bill—Velasco Terminal Railroad.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—It is said at the state department Minister Egan has been granted a leave of absence to visit the United States, and Consul McCreery will act as United States chargé d'affaires until the minister returns.

Vote on the Wool Bill.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—The Democratic members of the ways and means committee held a conference and discussed methods by which a vote might be reached on the wool bill, but came to no conclusion.

Mr. Mills' Committee.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—Senator Mills was appointed on the committees on coast defenses, mines and mining, patents and postoffices and post roads, to fill the vacancy created by the retirement of Mr. Chilton, his predecessor.

Justice Lamar Improves.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—The improvement in Justice Lamar's condition continues.

Silver in the Senate.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—The silver senators have determined to express their views upon the subject of silver open senate and there appears to be no way to stop them. A resolution was offered by Mr. Morgan as an amendment to the set of resolutions placed on the calendar. While not introduced by Mr. Morgan with the intention of causing further debate, according to his own statement, it may still serve for at least one day as a basis for any move the silver men desire to make in the senate. It would simply be necessary to call up this or any other resolution introduced the day before and proceed to discuss it.

Mr. Wolcott, through Mr. Teller, has given notice of an intention to speak upon the silver question tomorrow. Heretofore in the history of the senate such notice has always been regarded as equivalent in effect to an actual order of the senate, and the body has such respect for the president it would be with great reluctance any senator will interpose objection if Mr. Wolcott attempts to speak. The indications are that the senate will allow the silver senators to express their views in the form of speeches, but will immediately negative a motion to call up any of the propositions on the calendar that would lead to a vote upon the silver question on its merits.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—Mr. Morgan offered an amendment to his silver resolutions which was ordered printed. It instructs the finance committee to report a bill supplementary to the act of July 14, 1890, which shall provide for the coinage of gold and silver bullion on equal terms as to each metal and for the issue of treasury notes in denomination not to exceed $500 (upon the same terms and conditions as in the act of 1890) upon all gold and silver bullion the United States may acquire by purchase and any depositor who shall deposit in the treasury gold or silver bullion in quantities not less than $100 in value, the product of mines in the United States which had been previously coined, he shall, at his option, receive coin certificates for the same at the mint value of such bullion.

The Indian appropriation bill was then taken up, the question being on Mr. Davis' motion to strike out the provision for assignment of army officers to the duties of Indian agents, with an amendment attached to it (offered by Mr. Hawley) that whenever the president is of the opinion the good of the service specially requires it, he may appoint a civilian.

Mr. Pettigrew moved to strike out the original provision and Mr. Hawley's amendment and insert in lieu thereof the following: The president is authorized to detail officers of the United States army to act as Indian agents at all agencies where he shall deem such action for the benefit of the service.

Mr. Palmes moved against the policy of the above provision.

Mr. Pettigrew moved the house bill to become law and the Chinese into the United States to be laid before the senate and referred to the committee on foreign relations so referred.

The discussion of the question as to the assignment of army officers to perform the duties of Indian agents was resumed and Mr. Cullom argued against the proposition. Before he concluded his address the senate adjourned.

House.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—The Republicans of the house, for the first time this session, resorted to filibustering, and the enormous Democratic majority of two-thirds found it impossible to overcome the skillful tactics of Messrs. Burrows and Payne and force the free wool bill to a vote.

After preliminary business Mr. McMillin moved the house go into committee of the whole on the free wool bill, and pending that moved all debate on the first section be limited to one hour. This met with opposition from the Republicans, and as a result a regime of filibustering was inaugurated. The Republicans refrained from voting both on division and by tellers, thereby breaking a quorum and compelling the Democrats to order the yeas and nays. After a long time spent in filibustering, Mr. McMillin recognizing the fact that further resistance was useless, moved an adjournment, which carried.

The house passed the senate bill authorizing the Velasco Terminal railroad company to construct a bridge across the Brazos river, in Texas; also the senate bill making Velasco a sub-port of entry.

Reclassifying Postal Clerks.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—The bill was favorably reported by Senator McMillin from the postoffice and post roads committee, reclassifying railway postal clerks and adding two more classes at salaries not exceeding $1600 and $1800 a year, besides increasing the maximum salaries of all other classes except the first by about $100 a year.

Held in Washington.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—Whitlaw Reid, United States minister to France, called on President Harrison and presented a draft of the extradition treaty concluded in France.

Mr. Reid's resignation will not take effect until his successor shall have been nominated and confirmed.

House.

AUSTIN, April 6.—The location of the courts was the first business. A resolution introduced by Rogan of Brown, which provides for the appointment of a committee of seven to consider the locations offered by the different cities with regard to mortgages, length of time building are given, etc.

Mr. Crayford spoke in favor of resolution.

Mr. Swayne spoke in opposition, claiming it to be a slap in the face of Fort Worth.

The resolution carried, the vote standing 52 to 41.

The committee appointed by the speaker are: Rogan of Brown, Lewis, Adkins, Riddle, Brown, Agnew and Browning of Lampasas.

This is regarded as a favorable indication for Dallas.

Mr. Jester's bill putting into effect the 1 per cent. school fund amendment was called up. It was violently opposed by Gough and Dawson. Passed to third reading.

Mr. Robinson introduced a bill apportioning permanent school fund in the several counties of the state and providing for investment of same.

Senate.

AUSTIN, April 6.—The senate spent the morning in considering Kearby's local option bill. It was amended and passed to engrossment. The senate went into executive session to consider the governor's appointments.

Governor's Appointments.

AUSTIN, April 6.—The senate in executive session confirmed the appointments of all of the names submitted by the governor with the exception of Hollingsworth and Dr. Barker, the superintendent of the San Antonio asylum. Action will be taken on these names as soon as the senate can hear more about them. A hard fight was made on Sam Dixon.

Killed by Explosion of Gun Cotton.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 6.—Nine men were killed by an explosion of five tons of gun cotton in the Smokeless powder factory. After the explosion the building in which the gun cotton had been stored was nowhere to be seen. It had been blown into splinters. Nine workmen were in the building when the explosion took place, and every one of them were blown to pieces. Search was made for remnants of their bodies and some of their limbs were found 250 yards away from the building. The gun cotton was stored in a separate building and it may be attributed to that fact that the loss of life was not much greater. Adjoining factories were greatly damaged and five workmen in them were injured. Houses a mile, and a quarter away from the scene were made to shake by the shock. Windows were shattered and crockery and glassware thrown to the floor and smashed. The loss from these causes will be quite heavy. There is no possible way of ascertaining how the explosion occurred, as every man in the gun cotton building is dead. It is thought however, that it was due to carelessness.

Partnership Dissolved.

NEW YORK, April 6.—Frank P. Slavin and Charley Mitchell are no longer partners. They have split up and hereafter each pugilist will travel on his own hook. The Australian decided to quit Mitchell before they sailed from this country last month, for he realized that his association with England's boxing champion was not benefiting him to an alarming extent from a financial standpoint. The following cablegram shows the Antipodean has decided that Mitchell shall not have a hand in his training:

LONDON, April 5.—To Sporting Editor World: Send Jack to train for me for Jackson match. Have broken off with Mitchell. Reply if he is able to come. [Signed] SLAVIN.

The man mentioned in above telegram refers to Slavin's brother, who, in all probability will sail for England tomorrow. Jack Slavin is one of three fighting brothers of that name and is said to be an excellent trainer.

More Bad Weather.

BLUE SPRINGS, Neb., April 6.—In addition to general dismay caused by the windstorm a heavy rain and hail visited this section flooding the whole country. A bridge on the Union Pacific railroad at Mud creek, between here and Homestead, was washed out and trains cannot pass. Farm work is entirely suspended.

Caused by a Joke.

PHILADELPHIA, April 6.—While attempting to light his pipe at an electric light, as he was told to do in a joke, by a fellow workman, a Hungarian at Johnstown, Pa., was instantly killed. A current of 2000 volts passed through his body.

Philadelphia for Cleveland.

PHILADELPHIA, April 6.—The Democratic city committee has adopted resolutions favoring the nomination of Grover Cleveland for president and endorsing the administration of Governor Pattison.

IN THE TERRITORY.

CHOCTAW ROAD WILL BUILD BETWEEN M.A. AND OK.

John Weren to be Hanged the Middle of This Month—Accident to Dr. Woodson—Albert Smith Commits Suicide—Epidemic of Hydrophobia.

PARIS, Tex., April 6.—The "sandy land" marshals have been rounding up the boys around South Canadian for gambling.

Minco, Chickasaw nation, has organized a board of trade.

It is said that Edwin C. Chadwick of the Choctaw road has negotiated a loan of $3,000,000 on its bonds and will liquidate its indebtedness and complete the work between McAlester and Oklahoma. The cotton acreage in the Chickasaw nation this year will be reduced fully one-half.

John Weren, the Cherokee murderer who is confined in the national prison at Tahlequah under sentence of death, has made a confession admitting his guilt. He will be hanged April 15.

Major Miles, agent for the Osage tribe, reports an unusual death rate among the Indians the past few months from pneumonia and kindred causes.

A. P. McKelloff, one of the Creek delegates to Washington, is home talking to his people about "home rule." He is endeavoring to have the Creek council called together that special instructions may be given the delegates on this important question.

While passing from one car to another of a Santa Fe night train crossing the Cherokee strip, Dr. E. S. Woodson fell. His arm was broken and a knee dislocated, and he lay on the cold prairie all night unable to move. Several Indians found him the next day, and building a fire by his side, kept him warm until the train came along. They flagged the train and the injured man was taken to Mulhall and cared for.

Albert Smith, a young German, living about three miles from Wagoner, committed suicide by taking morphine. Smith stole a shotgun and some other things from a man at Wagoner and also forged an order for money, and when the officers went out to arrest him he evaded the law by the morphine route. He purchased the drug at Wagoner with the evident intention of destroying his life if detected in his crime. He took the morphine about dark and died about midnight. Smith was from Germany, where his parents still reside and had lived near Wagoner for about a year. His father followed the occupation of a farmer.

A veritable epidemic of hydrophobia is reported to be raging on the headwaters of Mud creek, seventy-five miles west of Ardmore, which is said to be spreading rapidly. One farmer lost from this cause a valuable stallion and another a fine horse, death occurring the twenty-eighth day after the first signs of rabies appeared. Another lost his entire herd of cattle, thirteen in number, and numerous other cases of cattle dying from the fatal bite are reported, besides hogs, sheep and other animals. Three children, who were bitten, were hastily taken to Texas in quest of a madstone by their terrified parents. A war to the death is being waged on every member of the canine family that the farmers can run across, and in very many families the children are not allowed to venture away from the house. The spread of the disease is said to be positively alarming.

THE ELECTIONS.

In Several States.

CHICAGO, April 6.—City elections in Michigan, Ohio, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas and North Dakota show that in the majority of places local issues took precedence over politics and that when party lines were drawn the Republicans had the best of it. Democrats generally were successful and show larger majorities than did the Republicans.

A Democratic Mayor.

HARTFORD, April 6.—After a lively contest William Waldo Hyde (Democrat) was elected mayor over Henry C. Dwight (Republican).

Women's Vote Light.

TOPEKA, Kan., April 6.—Returns from various city elections in Kansas show in most places women's vote was very light.

Result in Toledo.

TOLEDO, April 6.—Republicans elected their whole city ticket except police clerk. The count was very slow with indications that Democrats may obtain the majority in the council.

In Minnesota and Wisconsin.

MINNEAPOLIS, April 6.—City and village elections were held throughout the state and in portions of the Dakotas and Wisconsin. Party lines were not very strongly drawn, the issues being purely local, relating in some instances to improvements of various sorts while in other license or no license was the burning question of the hour. The Australian system had its first trial in many of the smaller cities, and in every instance it was pronounced a success. On the license question there is no perceptible gain, no license towns voting for license and vice versa.

Vilas' Man Beaten.

ASHLAND, Wis., April 6.—W. R. Durfee, republican, is elected mayor over John H. Knight by 450 majority. Colonel Knight is Senator Vilas' right-hand man in northern Wisconsin and is an aspirant for congressional honors. He attributes his defeat to the Hill faction, headed by Mayor O'Keefe.

Elections in Nebraska.

OMAHA, April 6.—City and village elections were held throughout Nebraska. With the exception of Omaha the questions at issue in a majority of cases were not partisan.

For Cleveland.

LEWISBURG, Pa., April 6.—The Union county Democratic convention endorsed Cleveland for president.

AS OLD AS UNCLE SAM.

A Man Who Was Born About the Time the United States Became a Nation.

NEW YORK, April 6.—At 224 West Sixty-first street lives a man, named Pierce Crotty, who is in the neighborhood of 100 years old. He is of medium height with a very lean form and hands that show he has reached a considerable age. He sits day by day with his head a little bowed and handles two old-fashioned turned canes in a restless way. Crotty was born about the year 1784 in the parish of Ardmore, Ireland. He has forgotten exactly when he came to this country, but he thinks it was a few months after the battle of Waterloo. He remembers that New York was a little town and that he had not very far to walk from where he lodged to get out into the woods. He remembered having heard of James Madison and of Monroe and of Jefferson, but he remembered best about John Jacob Astor.

"Everybody was talking about him then. But he died when I was still a young fellow," said Crotty. The first president he voted for was Andrew Jackson in the fall of 1828. He got work at the plant of the Manhattan Gas company about sixty-one years ago and he worked there steadily with the exception of a few months for forty-three years. Then eighteen years ago, at the age of 91, he fell from one of the houses in the company's yard and was so seriously injured that he was never able to work afterward. Because he had served them so long and faithfully the company gave him a pension, which is now his support. When he was asked if he had ever been married he said that when he was 27 years old he had a long attack of sickness. He had never thought of getting married up to that time, but he was so lonely and miserable that he married a widow of nearly his own age. They lived together for twenty-eight years, and then, about fifteen years ago, she died, leaving him alone again. "And you were only married once?"

"Once was enough," said the old man with a hoarse chuckle that plainly indicated his very poor opinion of the advantages of double blessedness. He is inclined to be pessimistic in his views of the moral progress of the world. He said they're worse than they used to be, but they're smarter.

Born in 1784, Crotty is just as old as the United States, which properly became a nation after the surrender at Yorktown. He does not look to be more than 80. He hears well, sees fairly well, and his sense of taste is unimpaired. He chews tobacco from the time he rises in the morning until he goes to bed, except at meal time.

BOYS IN GRAY.

Memories of Vanished Years Awakened in the Queen City.

DALLAS, April 6.—Memories of the vanished years were awakened in Dallas when the old rebs thronged the streets and visions of Mansueto Junction, Malvern Hill, Chancellorsville, Fredericksburg, Fleetwood, Harper's Ferry, Gettysburg, Spotsylvania, Appomattox and a hundred bloody fields stalked before the vision of the old heroes who a quarter of a century ago laid down their guns and resumed the avocations of peace. It was a picture to see many of the old veterans together recounting their trials and tribulations, their triumphs and defeats, when they braved the fierce storms of war for a cause they loved. Every southern state furnished a part of the crowd. From Maryland to Texas those veterans were mustered in and they fought until their guns were stacked in defeat. Those that survived, many of them, came to the broad bosom of Texas to build again their broken fortunes.

One noticeable feature of the thousands now here as guests of Dallas was the poverty that still clings to them. Many of course are wealthy, some well-to-do, but the garments of a goodly number were hardly less tattered than the garments they wore on that April day in 1865 when Lee surrendered. The poor old fellows never recovered from their misfortune, and now in the latter days of life they live from hand to mouth. One poor old fellow was seen sitting on the curbstone eating cheese and crackers. He had no money to pay for hotel accommodations, but he said he had to come.

Observation causes the belief that the majority of the old vets are farmers, many are lawyers and merchants, some are teachers, a few preachers, some saloon keepers, several newspaper men, and in fact, all the occupations are represented. With Dallas it made no difference what their occupations were, they were welcome just the same.

A reporter questioned 180 as to their casualties and of these 178 had been wounded. Thirty had lost legs, 41 had an armless sleeve, 2 had been shot through the lungs, 11 had shattered thigh bones which still caused them suffering, 81 had been shot through the arm, and the rest were flesh wounds. Judging from this number the 4000 or 5000 ex-Confederates in Dallas had been as thoroughly perforated with lead as any similar number of men that had ever come out of a war alive.

Pennsylvania Republicans.

SUNBURY, April 6.—The Northampton county Republican convention was instructed for national delegates for elector and for delegates to the state convention. Strong resolutions endorsing Senator Quay were passed.

Robbed the Postoffice.

BOISE CITY, April 6.—Two masked men entered the postoffice and at the point of a pistol compelled Postmaster Leonard to hand over $12,000 cash. The robbers escaped.

Pulling for Bayard.

WILMINGTON, Del., April 6.—There is a movement on foot to constitute Hon. Lewis F. Bayard one of the electors delegates to the Democratic convention at Chicago.

SORELY OPPRESSED.

Which She Does Not Own—First Case in the Annals of New York Where a Female Has Been Imprisoned in a Civil Action—Mrs. Bronty's Strange Story.

NEW YORK, April 6.—The history of Ludlow street jail has often proved that truth is stranger than fiction, but truth never unraveled a stranger story of oppression and injustice than that of Mrs. Barbara Bronty. It is the story of a mother who sacrificed everything she had in the world to save an erring son, and when all was lost, husband, son, father, fortune and friends, was dragged off to a prison cell to serve an endless punishment, guiltless of any offense to society, a victim of irresistible misfortune, a martyr to maternal love. The infamous debtors' prison law, which is still on the statute books of this state, is responsible for her condition.

The story is an interesting one. For many years, and until the summer of 1888, there lived in the village of Mount Vernon, in the adjoining county of Westchester, a man named Bronty. He was a florist, and was accounted among his neighbors to be wealthy. He had a wife, Barbara Bronty, and one son, Frank. The latter, a handsome and hard working young man, married in 1887. The young husband and his younger wife did not live happily. Young Bronty was arrested for abusing his bride before they had been married six months. He was sentenced to six months' imprisonment in the penitentiary. When his time expired, and he was released, his wife was the first to greet him. They lived happily to all appearance for awhile, but finally trouble arose between them again. On the 20th of June, 1888, while Frank Bronty was at work on his father's place, two constables appeared and said they had orders to arrest him. He said he would go with them quietly if they had a warrant, but not otherwise. They went away, but shortly afterwards another constable, Thomas Woods, who was an old friend of Bronty, called and told him he would have to go along with him. To Woods Bronty repeated that he would not go to jail without a warrant. Although it was afterward claimed that Woods had a warrant in his pocket, it is said he did not show it to young Bronty.

The Tragedy.

Mrs. Bronty, Frank's mother, heard the loud talking and ran out of the house. She saw that there was likely to be a struggle and went to Woods, placed her hand on his arm and begged him to go away. Frank in the meantime had obtained a double-barreled shot gun and yelled to Woods that he could not take him alive without a warrant. Woods started toward him, with Mrs. Bronty clinging to his arm. Frank partly lifted the gun and fired it without putting it to his shoulder. Woods fell dead. Mrs. Bronty received part of the charge in her legs.

Bronty was arrested at once and, strange to say, his mother was arrested also as an accessory and on the charge of interfering with an officer in the discharge of his duty. Frank Bronty was tried, found guilty of murder in the second degree and sentenced to Sing Sing prison for life. He is there now. His mother was acquitted. The father died before the trial came off of a broken heart. He left his property to the son. Just before he was sentenced Bronty in turn transferred all the property to his mother, for a man is legally dead after he has been sentenced to imprisonment for life. Mrs. Bronty gave her son's wife a mortgage on the place for $1500 in lieu of dower rights and gave another mortgage for $6000 to a nephew in New York. The nephew had furnished the money to defend Bronty, and he turned the mortgage over to Lawyer Francis E. Larkin of Sing Sing, who served as counsel in the trials of both mother and son, as security for his fees.

Mrs. Bronty was at this time penniless. She came to New York to live with her nephews. She had not been in this city two weeks before her peace was disturbed by one of the strangest suits at law ever known. The widow of the dead constable, Mrs. Sarah A. Woods, brought an action against Mrs. Bronty for damage for the loss of her husband. She demanded $5000, the legal limit, and an intelligent jury awarded to Mrs. Woods a verdict for the full amount. Thus, Mrs. Bronty, while adjudged innocent of any complicity in the killing of Constable Woods by the criminal court, was reckoned guilty by a jury in a civil action. The regular routine was followed by the victors. This consists, first, in the issuance of an execution of attachment against the vanquished's property. Mrs. Bronty had none, and when this fact was ascertained the plaintiff had a legal right to take her body and throw her into jail. They followed this course, and Mrs. Bronty has served up to the present time something over three years in Ludlow street jail for her inability to meet the verdict of the jury.

Illegally Held.

The strangest part of the whole transaction is that while Mrs. Bronty was assessed by a jury in Westchester county she is imprisoned in the county jail of New York county. So far as is known no commitment has been filed in this county, although it is said that one must be on file somewhere. The clerk of the county court has been unable to find the document, however, and it would appear that Mrs. Bronty is illegally held. Mrs. Ernestine Shaffner, the prisoner's friend, has tried on several occasions to have Mrs. Bronty released on moderate bail, but the lawyers of the wife of the dead constable have persistently refused to consent to release her on these terms. Mrs. Bronty's bail is fixed at $1000 and Mrs. Shaffner asks that it be reduced to $500, the extent of her means. Lawyer Abe Hummel, who has been engaged by a local newspaper to investigate the case, believes that Mrs. Bronty has been illegally imprisoned.

prisoned. This is the first case in the annals of the New York courts, he says, where a woman has been imprisoned in a civil action.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

John Condemner, living near Carthage, Ill., was killed by a horse's kick.

A Finnish Murderer.

ST. PAUL, April 6.—The mystery of the brutal murder of George Spaulding at Portage, Wis., was fully cleared up here. Young Spaulding's body was brought to St. Paul. He was about 19 years old and the son of Hugh Spaulding, one of St. Paul's leading citizens. He was murdered by George Whalen, whose home is also at St. Paul. The dead was the Finnish and cowardly crime of a man Spaulding considered one of his warmest friends, and indignation is at such a height that if Whalen is brought back here it will take the military to prevent his being lynched.

A few weeks ago when the "Power of the Press" company was playing at the Metropolitan opera house, Whalen and Spaulding were engaged as superns. After the engagement was over the two young men were constantly together, and early in the week planned to take a trip to Chicago together. They left here on Friday, Mr. Spaulding purchasing tickets for his son and young Whalen, giving the former $25 and a splendid gold watch on their departure. On the way to Chicago Whalen, on murder bent, coaxed Spaulding to leave the train at Portage, Wis., brained Spaulding with a coupling-pin, stole his money, his watch, and even the shoes from his feet, threw the body into the canal and escaped.

Threw Red Pepper.

ST. LOUIS, April 6.—Officer Heath of the central district was called on to arrest John Ryan, who was raising a disturbance. After taking the man in custody he conducted him to a patrol box at Sixth and Market streets. While Officer Heath was summoning a patrol wagon the prisoner drew a handful of red pepper from his pocket and threw it into his face. With a scream of anguish the blinded officer drew his revolver, but, instead of firing at the fleeing prisoner, discharged four shots in the air to draw attention. A large crowd gathered and Michael Ryan, Michael Burke and Leon Thomas, seeing the condition of Officer Heath, pursued the fleeing prisoner. At Sixth and Walnut streets he was overtaken. A desperate struggle ensued, in which Ryan again tried to use pepper. Officer Heath arriving on the scene, felled the desperate man with his club. After Ryan had had his wounds dressed at the city dispensary, he was locked up in the Four Courts. He will recover, but Officer Heath may lose his eyesight.

While being conducted to the Four Courts Ryan made another attempt to escape by springing from the patrol wagon, but it proved futile.

Entrapped by a Letter.

ST. LOUIS, April 6.—Detective Schopp arrived in the city with George Hull, alias Henry Holland, the negro arrested in Little Rock, Ark., who is wanted here on a charge of murder. He was lodged in a cell of the four courts, but will be transferred to jail on a charge of murder in the first degree.

Hull admits that he is the man wanted. His crime consists of killing William Freihan on the steamer Spread Eagle last September. He claims that he had to take the man's life in self-defense. After the killing he fled from St. Louis, going to Argentina, Ark. There he adopted the alias of Henry Holland, and secured employment on a railroad.

About a month ago Hull wrote a letter to Mrs. Annie Brown, a female friend living at 1310 Linden street, in which he disclosed his whereabouts and said that the crime did not trouble his conscience. The letter was secured by Detectives Schopp and Danaher of the Central district. An answer was written. The authorities of Little Rock were then requested to keep an eye on the letter and arrest the man that called for it. It laid in the postoffice two weeks before Hull called for it. He returned to St. Louis without requisition papers.

Married Her Father's Coachman.

HUNTINGTON, Pa., April 6.—Miss May Tremble, aged 10, daughter of Burgess J. Trimble of Birmingham, left home ostensibly to visit friends in Altoona. A day later John R. Baker, her father's teamster, left on a week's vacation. Mr. Trimble was dumfounded by the receipt of a note from his daughter containing the intelligence that Teamster Baker and she had been married in Camden, N. J., and are waiting in Philadelphia for her father's blessing. Mr. Trimble vows he will never be reconciled.

She Would Not Kiss Him.

WHEELING, April 6.—A special says William Maier, a baker aged 25, shot and killed his wife because she refused to kiss him. The couple were married six months ago. Maier arose and asked his wife to give him a kiss. Upon her refusal he drew a revolver and fired four shots into her body. The young woman never spoke. Maier escaped and has not been arrested.

WOMEN.

hand that rocks the cradle is the hand that rules the world.

The influence of a mother, the influence of a sister, the influence of a wife. The influence of a woman. It shapes the life of men. For a mother's sake, for a sister's sake, for a wife's sake, a man will do anything. He becomes successful. Happy household where the women folks are kind, contented, and happy. How the home where mother, sister, or wife is. How grand the remedy that restores to the will of womanhood and that restores nervous, sickly, aching, dependent women to health and strength.

WEAK WOMEN.

Such a remedy is Dr. John Bull's Sarsaparilla. It is eminently the best remedy for the weaknesses and distress incident to and following a condition of disordered female functions. It revives, strengthens, and regulates the feminine constitution.

Mrs. Mary F. Wilkinson, Jackson, Tenn., writes: "I was a very healthy woman before my marriage, but during from a miscarriage, my health got to be very bad. My complexion became sallow, I became nervous and nervous. I became thin and dependent. My appetite was sickly, and what I ate laid like lead upon my stomach. My habits were irregular, and I suffered much pain. I used descriptions of a very good doctor, but my ailments increased. A bearing down pain about my back and uterus seemed as if it would kill me. I was subject to frequent headaches and bilious attacks. In this condition I began a use of Dr. Bull's Sarsaparilla. It relieved precisely suited to my condition. Every symptom seemed to go to the right spot. I soon showed great improvement, and my friends rejoiced at my recovery. I used it during the months of March and April, and give it all credit for my present enjoyment of life and good health. It is a boon to weak and suffering women."

STRONG.

Nelly Davis, Helena, Ark., writes: "Dr. Bull's Sarsaparilla has improved my health. I was very weak and nervous, and my appetite was sickly. I used it during the months of March and April, and give it all credit for my present enjoyment of life and good health. It is a boon to weak and suffering women."

Many a pale and sickly looking little child has been saved by its good mother. They taste good. Price 25 cents.

Nothing makes a person feel so bad as a touch of chills and fever. Smith's Tonic Syrup is pleasant to take, and cures this ailment quickly.

IN FOREIGN LANDS.

SERIOUS QUARREL BREWING BETWEEN SPAIN AND UNCLE SAM.

All on Account of the Caroline Islands—A Man in Belfast Batters His Wife's Head into a Jelly and Then Kills His Two Children.

LONDON, April 7.—The report made by Sir Augustus Stephenson, solicitor for the treasury and public prosecutor, officially confirms the statements made some time ago that a warrant had been issued for the arrest of William Henry Hurlburt on a charge of perjury in the suit for a breach of promise of marriage brought against him by Miss Gertrude Ellis, otherwise known as Gladys Evelyn. Every precaution was taken to conceal the fact that inquiries were being made, but it appears it was impossible to prevent Hurlburt being advised he was likely to be arrested. Hurlburt fled to the United States. The warrant was cabled there, but Hurlburt was again warned and fled to Mexico and escaped arrest.

The Caroline Islands Trouble.

PARIS, April 7.—The Journal des Debats says a serious quarrel is threatened between Spain and the United States owing to the latter country appointing H. Rand as consul at Ponapi, one of the Caroline islands. Rand is the oldest brother of Missionary Rand, the leader of the Methodists who were the authors of the recent troubles between the Spanish authorities and the natives of the Caroline islands. Spain, the Journal des Debats adds, persists in the refusal to grant an exequatur to Rand and the United States refuses to withdraw the appointment, consequently the matter is at a deadlock.

The Czar's Thanks.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 7.—Charles Emory Smith, United States minister, was given an audience by the czar preparatory to his departure to the United States. His majesty spoke appreciatively and warmly of the offerings sent from America for the relief of the famine sufferers and asked Mr. Smith to convey his thanks to the American people. Mr. Smith expected to return to the United States last February, but has been detained here directing the distribution of the flour, grain and provisions sent from America. The distribution is now so well organized it can proceed on fixed plans. He will leave St. Petersburg April 10 and sail from Liverpool for New York on the White Star steamer Teatonic April 27.

Dahomeyans Marching On.

SENEGAL, April 7.—The trouble between King Behansing and the French authorities in the Bight Benin settlement grow more serious every day. Authorities here have issued orders that preparations be pushed forward with all speed possible, to dispatch troops to Porto Novo to reinforce the French soldiers there. Official dispatches received here state that 6000 Dahomeyans are in four hours march of Porto Novo and are awaiting reinforcements to make an attack upon the place.

Another Conspiracy.

NEW YORK, April 7.—A Caracas, Venezuela, dispatch to the Herald, states another plot against the life of President Palacio has been discovered. Owing to the action of the police it is believed all danger for the time being has been averted.

Triple Murder in Belfast.

BELFAST, April 7.—A most horrible triple murder was discovered in this city. A man named Alden Spiller became enraged at his wife and grasped a hammer and battered her head into a jelly. After killing his wife Spiller turned upon his two children and despite their wild appeals to be spared, deliberately struck them again and again with the hammer. Death soon ended the torture.

Elected Diaz Unanimously.

CITY OF MEXICO, April 7.—The national electoral convention, the first ever held in Mexico, assembled last evening. The place of meeting was the congressional hall, the vicinity of which was alive with people. Interest in the assembly had been general throughout the republic and had been intensified at the seat of government. The result of the deliberations of the delegates has not been officially published, but it is known that the re-election of President Diaz by a unanimous vote is assured.

Mrs. Montague Resigned.

DUBLIN, April 7.—Mrs. Annie Marguerite Montague, sentenced to one year's imprisonment at hard labor for killing her young daughter, is resigned to punishment. She adopts the dress and diet of a convict without a murmur.

Revolutionizing Flour Trade.

ST. LOUIS, April 7.—A. C. Ricker of Havana, Cuba, is in the city to inaugurate a movement in the flour trade. He says West Indies merchants have definitely come to the conclusion that they cannot deal in flour made from hard wheat, as it will not keep in that climate. That made from soft wheat, as is the case with the St. Louis mills, the product does keep well, and as a result Ricker is here as a representative of Havana houses to arrange for the opening of a flour trade between St. Louis and Cuba. The flour will go by way of New Orleans.

Wind Damage to Wheat.

SWEETWATER, Tex., April 7.—The recent heavy windstorms which have been sweeping over this part of the country have materially damaged the wheat crop. The soil has blown off and left the roots exposed, standing up, the farmers say, like it was on stilts. Some speak of plowing up their wheat.

BICHLORIDE MANIACS.

They Are Becoming Very Numerous and Violent.

NEW YORK, April 7.—Another of Dr. L. E. Keeley's bichloride of gold cure patients has become insane. The person is Mrs. Evelyn Garretson, the beautiful and talented wife of William Garretson of 30 Gardner avenue, Jersey City Heights, who was found by the Hoboken police in a demented condition at the door of the Church of Our Lady of Grace on Willow avenue, Hoboken.

Policeman Weihe found her surrounded by a crowd of children who had gathered in front of the church and were held spell-bound by her rendition of a plaintive ballad. The police officer himself was charmed by the sweet singer's voice and respectfully listened until she had finished. Then he asked her why she sang there. To his surprise she took no notice of his inquiry but resumed her singing. In her arms she had several rolls of music.

Convinced that she was not in her right mind, Weihe took his fair prisoner to the station house. A physician was called in and pronounced her insane. As the woman would speak to no one, the authorities were at a loss to know what to do till a card found in her pocket disclosed her identity. Her husband was summoned and explained to Recorder McDonough that his wife had been subject to fits of temporary insanity at frequent intervals since she had left the White Plains Keeley institute last summer. He said he would take care of her, and she was given into his custody.

Mrs. Garretson's case is a repetition of many others alleged to have resulted from the Keeley treatment, only a few of which have been made public. Walter B. Earle, one of Keeley's much talked of "cures," died a raving maniac in the Poughkeepsie insane asylum.

Luther Renson of Indianapolis is now in an insane asylum. Isaac Mailhouse, a salesman at 304 Wynne street, this city, is said by his friends to be on the verge of insanity. Both men were "cured" by Keeley patients.

C. N. Vaughn, another patient of Denver, became insane Feb. 24, last, and tried to murder his landlady. The deaths of Colonel Mines ("Felix, Old Boy") and James C. Fair, Jr., son of Nevada's senator, from heart trouble, were attributed directly to the Keeley cure by their physicians.

Ex-Congressman Stephen T. Hopkins, president of the White Plains Bichloride of Gold club, was "cured," but went to drinking again and committed suicide.

Harry H. Ansley of St. Joseph, Mo., died Feb. 21 while being treated at the Dwight institute. Lawyer Isaac Angel of this city was rendered a physical wreck by the Keeley treatment for the morphine habit and contemplates legal measures for redress.

Engine Blows Up.

LONG ISLAND CITY, April 7.—There was a fearful accident in the yard of the Long Island railroad here. Engine 49, while standing near the shops suddenly blew up with a tremendous report. Eight men were injured and several it is thought fatally. The locomotive was completely wrecked and parts of the boiler and iron work of the engine were hurled in every direction to a distance of many yards. The men injured were struck by these flying pieces while others were badly scalded. The engineer and fireman who were at their post of duty were blown a considerable distance and are among those who are supposed to have been fatally injured. None of the names of the injured have been learned. The men injured were picked up and carried into the shops of the railroad company, where they were attended by half a dozen physicians from Long Island City and Green Point. Ambulances were summoned from St. John hospital in Long Island City and from St. Catherine's hospital, Williamsburg. Cause of the accident is believed to have been lowness of water in the boiler. The railroad company refuse to give any information.

No one has been able to tell the real story of the explosion, but from the appearance of the locomotive, the firebox exploded downward, blowing out the furnace door. Hot coal, sand and steam covered five men in the cab and they were thrown in all directions. Five men were fatally injured, two of whom are expected to die momentarily.

May Be a Duel.

NEW YORK, April 7.—S. W. Skinner, a Virginia gentleman, has demanded from John S. Wise, recently of Virginia, a retraction from Mrs. Wise or satisfaction from Mr. Wise for remarks said to have been made by Mrs. Wise derogatory to the character of Miss Belle Greene of Virginia, who has been spending the winter in New York. Mr. Skinner is Miss Greene's grandfather, and the allegation is that Miss Greene has been denied invitations to a series of select social affairs, of which Mrs. Wise is at the head, because of alleged defamatory statements of Mrs. Wise. A tart letter from Mr. Skinner was carried to Mr. Wise by Miss Greene's brother demanding an apology full and complete. The alternative has already been stated and the outcome awaited with interest.

Damaging Wind Storm.

HILLSBORO, Tex., April 7.—From parties from the western part of Hill county it is learned that a wind of unusual severity visited that section. Houses were unroofed, chimneys blown down and fences laid flat. Near Woodbury Mrs. E. B. Smith had her arm broken by falling timbers and J. B. Summer, one of the best known citizens of Hill county, is reported to be seriously injured. It is reported that a large amount of damage was done by wind west of Itasca, in the northern part of Hill county.

MAMMOTH REUNION.

CONFEDERATE VETERANS ARRIVING IN NEW ORLEANS.

General John B. Gordon There Now If Not Delayed by Washouts—"Old Tiger" Has His Hands Full—Two Regiments of Choctaw Indians.

NEW ORLEANS, April 7.—The city is rapidly filling with Confederate veterans from all the southern states to attend the mammoth reunion on the 8th and 9th instant, also the celebration of the fifteenth anniversary of the Army of Tennessee. Their grey and black felt hats can be conspicuously seen everywhere on the streets. General J. B. Gordon of Georgia, and Major Gen. William H. Jackson, commanding the Tennessee division, and president of the Veteran Cavalry association of the south are enroute, and if not delayed by washouts on the roads will reach here tomorrow morning. The following Texans are already registered at the St. Charles Hotel: Miss Laura F. Gaston, Dallas; Miss Lula Williams, Paris; Miss Sallie Goodwin, Tyler; R. A. Gaston, Royal A. Ferris, Mrs. Wm. Smith and son, S. B. Marshall and wife, Dallas; O. C. Cormon, wife and daughter, G. A. Promer and wife, Paris; J. A. Hays, Marshall; A. Seeliger, Lake Charles, La.; J. S. Humphrey, Pueblo, Col.

General W. L. Cabell will not only bring from Texas the largest delegation of veterans, but will bring two regiments of Choctaw Indians. These Indians are well educated, property holders and members of the United Confederate veterans in Texas.

The banquet will be given by the Army of Tennessee veterans, when a jolly time is expected and eloquent speeches delivered.

A meeting of cavalry will be held in memorial hall tomorrow afternoon.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

The Susquehanna river is threateningly high at Wilkesbarre, Pa.

John Conderman, living near Carthage, Ill., was killed by a horse's kick.

A mad dog raised much excitement at Flemington, N. J., before he was shot.

In a drunken fight at Haughspire, Pa., Jacob McAllister fatally shot William McLaughlin.

Trouble is threatened by Indians at the Mille Lacs Lake, Minn., who are interfering with settlers.

Late dispatches from Argentina indicate that all danger of a revolt is past.

Dynamiters were foiled in a plot to blow up the chamber of deputies at Madrid, Spain.

Mrs. Montague was sentenced at Dublin to a year's imprisonment for causing the death of her child.

General Clarkson, chairman of the Republican national committee, is prostrated by inflammatory rheumatism. He is now at Hot Springs, Ark.

The Foster-McEnery arbitration committee in Louisiana has divided, the McEnery men seceding. There is now practically no hope of agreement on one ticket.

The Hiccoughing Girl.

NEVADA, Mo. April 7.—Mention was made in these dispatches some time ago of the peculiar case of Miss Ora May Cox of Henry township, this county, who began hiccoughing on the 8th of August, and had kept it up without intermission until that time. The case was then thought to be remarkable. Dr. Dodd, her physician, says that the young lady is still hiccoughing. On next Friday, the 8th inst., she will have been hiccoughing for eight months. Dr. Todd says:

"I was called to see the young lady on the 10th of last August. She was then hiccoughing at the rate of seventy-five times a minute, but the rate soon increased to 100 times a minute. I never counted over that number. This hiccoughing continued with no intermission except when she was asleep, at the rate of from 75 to 100 times a minute for two months. The rate then began to diminish in frequency, and for the last two months the rate has been about eighteen times to the minute at each inspiration. The young lady is a little past 15 years of age, and well developed for her years. She has been able to sit up in bed for the past six or eight weeks, and holds up astonishingly well under the circumstances."

Convell Line Purchased by Huntington.

NEW ORLEANS, April 7.—A dispatch from New Orleans to a Wall street firm stated that the Cromwell line passenger and freight steamers plying between New York and New Orleans have been purchased by the American Sugar Refinery company. Investigation, however, disclosed the fact that the real purchaser is Collis P. Huntington of the Southern Pacific. He is owner of what was known as the Morgan line of steamers. Mr. Searles confirmed the report at the same time asserting very emphatically that the transaction was one in which American Sugar Refinery company had no interest. It is the opinion of men interested in coastwise shipping that Morgan or Southern Pacific and Cromwell lines will be amalgamated in the near future.

Daring House Robbery.

VERNON, Tex., April 7.—While Mrs. Peter Kester was preparing supper, a man entered the house and, drawing a pistol upon Mrs. Kester, told her to remain quiet. He demanded money, then ransacked the house and left. Mrs. Kester was so frightened that it was some time before she could give the alarm. Several suspicious characters were arrested and will be carried before Mrs. Kester for identification. Considering the fact that the residence of Mr. Kester is within a block of the square and upon one of the main streets, this is the most daring robbery that ever occurred here.

SENSATIONAL EPISODE.

A Pistol, Faithless Wife, Angered Husband and Belated Boarder.

NEW YORK, April 7.—The absorbing topic of discussion in the vicinity of Flushing, L. I., is the sensational episode involving a pistol, a faithless wife, an angered husband and a belated boarder, in the pretty little village of Bayside, four miles from Flushing. The principal actors in the affair were young Justice of the Peace James L. Kane, his pretty wife, her father, Florist Scheckell and Alfred Thomas Limerick, an English mason who had lived in Kane's hotel since the middle of March.

During the past few days Kane suspected that the relations between his wife and Limerick were not just what they should be, and he instituted a watch on both of them. Kane, it is said, discovered his wife unlocking one of her bedroom doors which opened into the room occupied by Limerick. A few moments later the boarder entered the woman's bedroom.

Kane, the story runs, sent for his father-in-law, the florist, and the two men burst open the bedroom door and beheld Limerick in the room clad only in his underclothing. Kane it is alleged, drew a revolver and began firing at the boarder who successfully dodged the bullets. Limerick managed to escape from the room, but was chased down the street by several men who were in the hotel bar-room at the time. They captured him and beat him unmercifully. They then led him up to a barn, where they locked him up for the night. The terrified and bruised boarder was arraigned before Judge Connetton in Flushing, but as no one appeared against him he was allowed to go. He has since disappeared. The affair has started all the tongues wagging, and among the many rumors that are circulated is the one that Justice Kane will sue for divorce. Mrs. Kane is 23 years old, and has been married three years. The man Limerick is as homely as original sin.

TEXAS LEGISLATURE.

House.

AUSTIN, April 7.—Mr. Gresham read a memorial from Brazoria county citizens asking to be reattached to Galveston congressional district.

Mr. Browning of Donnelly introduced a bill for the protection of live stock from infectious diseases and providing sanitary commission for that purpose.

Mr. Jester introduced a bill putting into effect the 1 per cent. amendment. Passed.

The house refused to concur in the senate amendments to representative apportionment bills. Conference committee appointed.

Mr. Brown, bond bill amended in minor instances. Final action will be taken on the bill at once.

Senate.

AUSTIN, April 7.—Several bills creating and changing judicial districts were read and referred.

The representative apportionment bill passed.

Mr. Sims' bill in regard to forcible entry and detainer which allows an appeal in cases where the damages are less than $100 passed.

Committee bill defining perpetuities and regulating ownership of lands by corporations recommended to judiciary committee.

Witrock and Haight Free.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., April 7.—The two remaining parties who participated in the Frisco express robbery in 1886, Fred Witrock, alias "Jim Cummings," and W. M. Haight, were released from the penitentiary, and each purchased a ticket and left for Leavenworth, Kas. Witrock is just recovering from an attack of paralysis and is but a shadow of his former self. Both he and Haight declined to be interviewed. They said they were going to Leavenworth to visit relatives. Each received $5 before leaving the penitentiary. This is the munificent sum of money allowed convicts sentenced from St. Louis. It will carry them back there and give them a banking capital of $1.25 on which to start life. But Witrock and Haight had both received money from relatives, and consequently were enabled to purchase tickets to their desired destination.

Used to Hing Kidnapped.

CHICAGO, April 7.—Ida Paged, a 16-year old girl living with her aged grandmother, Mrs. A. S. Allen, at 178 West Jackson street, has disappeared, and is believed to have been abducted. She left her home and started for the Hammond school, which she has been attending. She has not been seen by any of her friends since that time. This is the second time Ida has disappeared. On St. Patrick's day, while on her way to school, she was met by a strange woman who lured her to a house on La Salle avenue, where she was locked in a shed a prisoner over night. She escaped the next afternoon when, in an unguarded moment, the woman left the key in the door. Her grandmother is confident she has again been kidnapped by the same woman, and has reported the matter to the police, who began work on the case. They are trying to locate the woman, who is supposed to be a procuress.

Disastrous Washouts.

NEW ORLEANS, April 7.—A disastrous flood and washout occurred on the Illinois Central between Winona and Yaden, Miss., and all traffic is suspended. Big Black river and Branton Penogue, a affluent, are swollen by the recent heavy rains and are out of their banks. There are washouts on the Illinois Central, Georgia Pacific and Mobile and Ohio railways. No trains on these roads will be able to cross and are not likely to for the next twenty-four hours. The Chicago limited vestibule train has been abandoned. About 1500 feet of the track have been washed away on the Illinois Central. This cannot be replaced in less than twenty-four hours.

The Marshall Messenger.

MARSHALL, TEXAS.

LOCAL NEWS.

From Friday's daily.

Jas. H. Carter has bought the south half of the Salmon block, and will soon build a residence fronting on Washington avenue.

We have heard that the Star office is short of quotation points. We will lend you some, brother, when you again have occasion to quote criticisms of other people about us.

T. A. Elgin and Dud Crawford returned from Caddo lake this morning. Mr. Elgin says the sport was good yesterday, but the rise in the lake will soon put a stop to successful fishing.

Editor of the MESSENGER is not "fresh" enough to publish communications without designating them as such. He learned the use of quotation marks, too, before the late controversy.

Another Trial.

If the editor of the Star will read up on the use of quotation marks, and use them when quoting the utterances of others, then, perhaps, "any ten-year-old school boy, of average sense," will be able to understand what appears in his columns.

Not the Father of His Country.

A negro boy, as black as erebus, apparently about eighteen years of age, and bearing the illustrious name of George Washington, was brought in from Hallville by Constable W. T. Scott to-day.

The boy is charged with having assaulted another negro a few weeks since, with intent to murder.

Scientific Club and Reading Rooms.

P. G. Roquemore and several other gentlemen who are interested in the advance of modern science, are endeavoring to organize a club in this city. It is their intention to rent rooms and purchase a good scientific library, which shall be open to all members.

A club of this kind would, if properly managed, be of incalculable benefit to Marshall. The good which would result from it to those of its member who have tastes in this line simply can not be measured.

The progress of our age is due more to the development of physical science than to all other causes combined, and the man who is not conversant with, at least, its elementary principles, is not in touch with the times.

"Andrew are you going to the village?" "Yes wife." "Then don't forget to bring me a bottle of that Kemp's Balsam for Coughs and Colds, the medicine that cured Aunt Mary's cough after she had foolishly let it run along until she had about given up ever getting rid of it. Remember Kemp's Balsam Andrew, and take no other. You can get it at any drug store."

Patronize Home Enterprises.

The only Way to Build Up and Sustain Our Home Institutions.

There is no law compelling people to spend their money at home, but it is a mighty good rule to spend your money with the people among whom you make it.

These remarks are called forth by the visit to our town recently of a lady representing a Louisville, Ky., firm, taking orders for dresses. We are told that she did a good business, notwithstanding there are firms in Marshall who carry an endless variety of dress goods, and who will order anything wanted, and have dresses made to order, fit and satisfaction guaranteed; and the further fact that there are a number of ladies in Marshall who earn their living by dress-making.

There is nothing compulsory about it, but we can never have a prosperous town as long as people send off for every thing they want, even though they may get it a little cheaper, and in many cases nothing is saved by sending off. Spend a dollar with your neighbor, and to-morrow or next day that neighbor will spend that dollar with you. Send your dollars to New York, St. Louis or Chicago—and its goodbye dollars.

Over the Road.

The three special cars of Capt. Grant's party came in from New Orleans last night, and went west this morning attached to No. 1. Capt. Grant is making a trip over the entire road, and is inspecting the company's property, machinery; and, in fact, everything connected with the road or its management.

When interviewed by a MESSENGER reporter this morning, he said: "I have but little to say for publication. We are on a general bum over the road. I have found the road to be in good condition. We are improving it every day, but can't say how much longer we may be able to do so, owing to our ignorance of what course the commission will take. I enjoyed the weather from New Orleans up very much, indeed, and hope it will continue fine during the remainder of our trip. We will stop over in Dallas a few days before going on."

The following gentlemen composed the party: Capt. Jno. A. Grant, general manager T. P.; Howard Gould, C. Satele, secretary of the T. & P.; R. S. Larety, general attorney T. & P.; and K. Millor, Mr. Grant's private secretary.

Strawberry Festival.

Mr. Lothrop's vacant store, corner of Bolivar and Austin streets opposite the First National Bank, is where the Ladies Aid Society of the Baptist church will have their strawberry and ice cream festival next Friday evening, the 8th inst. Doors open from 6 to 11 p. m.

District Court.

J. M. Rogers, colored, charged with arson has been absorbing the entire attention of the court to-day.

Two of our rising young attorneys, Messrs Mod P. McGee and A. M. Turney made eloquent appeals in behalf of the defendant, and really succeeded in securing an acquittal, for the facts were rather against their client.

The case of the Waters Pierce Oil Co. vs the Marshall Light and Power Co. was resumed this afternoon as soon as a verdict was returned in the arson case.

From Saturday's daily.

W. T. Arnold had the misfortune to break his arm this morning at the shops. The accident was caused by a window falling across the arm.

Mistake Corrected.

J. M. Perdu will address the voters of Harrison Co. as follows: Friday 8th inst, 11 a. m. at Hope Alliance; Friday 7:30 p. m., court house; Saturday 11 a. m.

Correction.

In taking a poll of the city on Hogg and Clark a few days since, the MESSENGER made one error. In reporting the sentiments of Dr. J. H. Pope, we gave him for Hogg. Dr. Pope informed us this morning, that he is an anti-Hogg man, and we most willingly retract what was said in this connection, and apologize for the mistake.

Party.

A party was given by Mrs. Sanders, of the East-end to Mr. Dick Welsh last evening. Quite a number of their mutual friends were out, and the evening was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Reception at The League.

The members of this oldest club in the city turned over their handsome rooms to Mr. R. Hicks last evening. Mr. Hicks is a member of this club, and one of the most enthusiastic society men in it.

He succeeded in bringing out a number of our fairest ladies and most popular gentlemen last evening, and succeeded also in making them enjoy the reception.

The card tables were all filled by 9 o'clock and the interesting game of euchre was soon after in full progress. Those who did not enjoy the game, or who were more interested in each other, than in all things besides, spent the hours pleasantly. A number of these repaired to the Capitol Hotel during the evening, and enjoyed a social dance in one of the parlors.

Woman's Health and Life depend more on regularity than on any or all causes combined. An actual or living death is the result of derangement of functions which make woman what she is; immediate relief is the only safeguard against wreck and ruin. In all cases of stoppage, delayed, painful or irregularities Bradfield's Female Regulator is the only sure remedy. Sold by all druggists.

Refreshments were served at 11 p. m.

The rooms were beautifully decorated with fern, potted plants and evergreens.

The following is a list of the callers:

Miss Woodhouse, of Willis Point and G. M. Allen, Miss Graham of El Paso and L. Aubrey, Miss Edwards of San Antonio, and Clarence Poland, Miss Sherrod, of Indianapolis, Ind., and H. A. Brown, Miss Twyman and Aubrey Hargrove, Miss McGee and W. T. S. Powell, Miss Pierce and Webster Blocker, Miss Blocker and Jno. T. Mills, Miss Starr and Wm. Forlund, Miss Balle Starr and R. East Texas Immigration.

THE MOST VITAL QUESTION NOW BEFORE THE PEOPLE.

TO THE CITIZENS OF EAST TEXAS: GENTLEMEN:—In order of the executive committee of the East Texas Immigration and Development Association, I, as chairman of said committee, address to you the following circular letter:

ORGANIZATION.

The East Texas Immigration and Development Association was organized at Larkins, Texas, on Feb. 21, 1892. It is composed of men who realize that East Texas has been neglected; that something should be done, and that much can be done, if the people will show a disposition to assist in the work. At the first meeting seven counties participated. It is hoped that every county of East Texas will come in soon.

ITS OBJECTS.

The objects of the association are to advertise East Texas, and to use all fair means to induce capital and immigration to come here. The plan of operation is to be agreed upon later, and each county represented will have a voice in the matter.

The executive committee requests each county in East Texas to organize an auxiliary association, and to send one or more delegates to meet with them at Nacogdoches on Saturday, Apr. 18th, at which time some definite action will be taken as to the plan of operation. Every county in East Texas should be represented. Do not postpone this matter, but act now.

It has been proposed to get up an East Texas exhibit car, and send it over the United States. The value to this section of such a move can not be calculated, so great would it be, and the cost of putting such a car on the road and keeping it going would be almost nothing, divided between several counties. The railroads are wide-awake to everything that tends to develop the country, and a Texas road will furnish and fit up the car, and all we have to do is to furnish the exhibit, consisting of everything grown and produced in East Texas; a full stock of advertising matter, and a good talker and a porter to go with the car—the railroads everywhere will pull the car over their lines free of charge. The salary of one man and a porter and their grocery bill would be the only expense, after the car was filled. Everyone must see the advantage of such an advertisement for East Texas, and especially for the counties represented.

It is also proposed to send an intelligent, reliable man through the old southern states to advertise the advantages of East Texas, and to talk up and organize immigration parties and bring them here. The railroads will co-operate in this also, and the expense will not be very heavy.

There is no question about East Texas being the best part of the state, and if even a few live men in each county will get together and decide that they will bring its advantages to the notice of the world, it can be done. We have too long depended upon our natural advantages while other sections of the state were making advantages.

As this letter is for circulation in East Texas, there is no need to dwell upon our advantages—suffice to say that we have them, in abundance, and what we want to do is to present them to the public in the most practical way. Every man who calls East Texas his home is interested. Every man who owns an acre of land in East Texas will be benefitted. Every man who is a man feels a pride in the prosperity of his home and should take an active part in the work begun by the East Texas Immigration and Development association.

Respectfully,

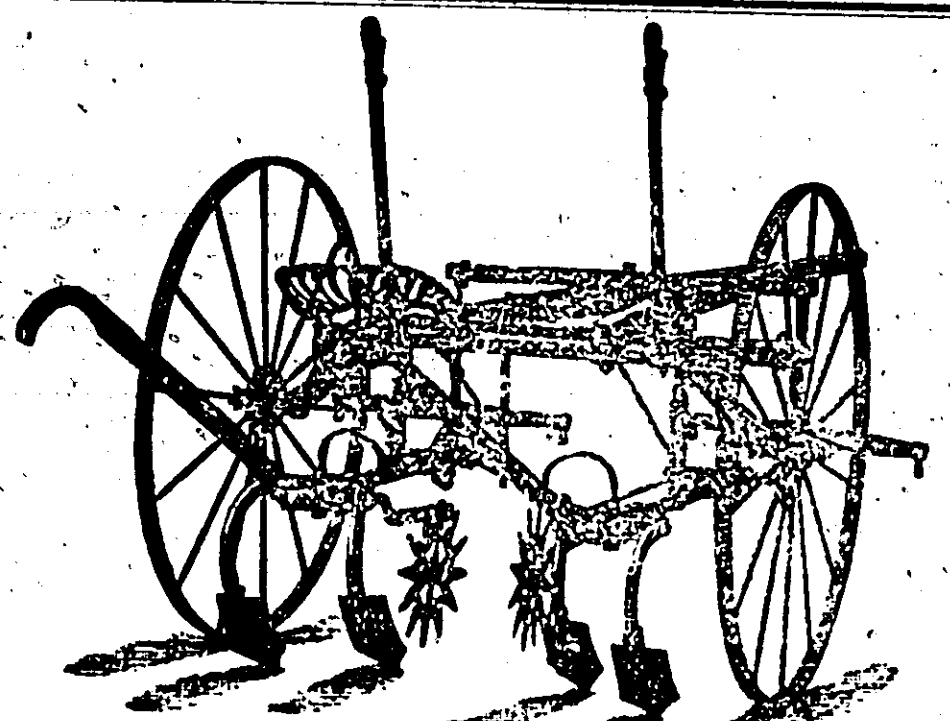

W. A. ADAIR, Chairman Executive Committee.

The BUCKEYE SUNBEAM CULTIVATOR

What These Cultivators Will Do.

They will bed up cotton land. They will bar off cotton. They will scrape and bunch cotton. They will cultivate corn and cotton until laid by. — They will Cultivate New Land Perfectly. —

POINTS.

We claim our Spring Trip to be the only one made which has never failed to do good work and give perfect satisfaction. They are perfection, and cannot be broken in roofs or grubs.

The inside Standards are adjustable up and down for working Sweeps, Scrapers or Shovels on top of cotton bed. The parallel movement keeps the sweeps, scrapers or shovels squared up to the work.

The Axles are adjustable for different widths or rows. No Break Pins are used. The Wheels, Beams and Standards are made of Steel. These cultivators are the only ones ever made which perfectly fill all the requirements of the southern trade. Many others have failed utterly, and a few have done fairly well, but the Buckeye Sunbeam is the only one which has met all requirements. For prices and terms, address
